Vietnamese Elect Varied Lower House

Sunday Voting Marred Only by Scattered Violence

SAIGON (AP) — Weary tabulators continued to sort winners today from among 1,200 candidates for South Vietnam's House of Representatives and the only assurance with two thirds of the 137 seats decided was that the body would be widely varied.

More than 24 hours after the polls closed on the quietest election the nation has experienced in the past 13 months, about 45 seats were still in doubt.

The candidates assured of victory in Sunday's voting ranged from government supporters to some thinly disguised neutralists. It remained impossible to assess the political complexion of the assembly.

Officials said that the final unofficial tallies should be available by tonight, except for some from remote provinces.

Both Houses Varied
The known returns insured that the government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu, who will be inaugurated Oct. 31, will have to deal with both a House and a Senate of varied political hues.

The 60-man Senate elected last month divided more or less along opposition, pro-government and independent lines. The House promises to split into even more groups.

Outwardly this would make Thieu's prospects a bit gloomy. However, much horse trading remains to be done before the new constitutional institutions shake down.

South Vietnamese officials and the U.S. Embassy were generally content with the turnout — 72.9 per cent of the nation's 5.8 million registered voters.

While this fell well below the 83 per cent in September's presidential election it was considered a respectable figure in a war-torn nation with the Communist guerrillas threatening terror at the polling places.

The threatened terror largely failed to materialize. Official government figures said six South Vietnamese soldiers and six civilians died in the terrorist incidents on election day.

Weekend Accidents Fatal to 13

Crash Kills Young Chilton Mother

A young mother of two died in a mutilated wreckage on Chilton's Main Street Saturday night, one of 13 persons killed on Wisconsin's streets and highways over the weekend.

Mrs. Dennis Demes, 22, 507 Maple Street, Chilton, was riding with her 23-year-old husband shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday when the vehicle apparently went out of control and struck a utility pole. Her husband was listed in serious condition today at Calumet Memorial Hospital.

Authorities said they didn't know which person was driving the car, as both were thrown from the wreckage. The vehicle was headed west on E. Main Street when it veered across the road and struck a light pole, coming to rest a short distance from the standard.

The vehicle's engine was found in a lot about 100 feet from the crash, while the transmission was thrown 40 feet to the opposite side of the road, ending up on top of a building.

Mrs. Demes died of multiple fractures and probable internal injuries. Her husband sustained a skull fracture, dislocated right hip and head lacerations.

The Demeses have two children, 2-year-old Tommy and 8-month-old Lisa.

Elmer F. Ewig, 65, of Sheboygan was fatally injured Sunday night when his car hit a utility pole after swerving off U.S. 141 six miles south of Sheboygan.

Milford Thomas, 54, of rural Dodgeville was fatally injured Sunday in a two-car accident on an Iowa County road eight miles northwest of Dodgeville.

Joseph Magno, 83, of Kenosha was killed Sunday when hit by a car while walking to church.

Beverly Pearson, 16, of rural La Crosse, was injured fatally when her car struck a utility pole after skidding out of control on U.S. 16 west of Sparta. State Highway Patrolman Gerald Johnson said he had been chasing the car.

In an accident outside Wisconsin, Miss Sharon Eymann, 20, was killed and three other Milwaukee residents were injured when a car overturned on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Sunday. Pennsylvania State police said the party was returning from a demonstration in Washington.

Inez Marie Tooker, 54, of St. Paul, Minn., died Sunday night in a two-car crash on U.S. 12 near Fairchild in Eau Claire County. Four other persons were taken to a Rice Lake hospital.

Douglas Slaght, 17, of rural Cassville was killed late Sunday when his car struck a guard rail beside State 81 near that Grant County community and veered into a guard rail on the opposite side of the pavement.

Sinking of Destroyer Is Blamed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel's angry mood hardened in bitter official statements today and Egyptian officials said they expect an attack "anytime" to avenge Egypt's sinking of an Israeli destroyer in what may have been one of warfare's first sea-to-sea missile raids.

Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol called the sinking of the destroyer Elath Saturday "an act of war in open sea" and said "this despicable attack was launched without any cause." Egypt's Cabinet asserted the warship was in its territorial waters when missiles shattered it. The exchange came as Soviet Deputy Defense Minister Marshal Matvei Zakharov arrived in Cairo unannounced and President Gamal Abdel Nasser called his ministers together to discuss what the semi-official newspaper Al Ahran reported were "the eventualities of the situation."

"The purpose of Zakharov's mission was not disclosed, but the commander of Israel's navy said he believed "Soviet missiles fired from Soviet ships supplied to the Egyptian navy" sank the Elath, killing 17 of her crew of 202, wounding 46 more and leaving 36 unaccounted for.

Former Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, speaking at his 81st birthday party, said the missiles were not fired by Egyptians. He would not name, however, those persons he said launched them.

"Constant Alert"
In Cairo, an Egyptian official told The Associated Press: "We expect renewed Israeli aggression anytime. Our armed forces are constantly on alert."

Eshkol reflected the angry mood of his countrymen in a broadcast to the nation. "It was a deliberate and unprovoked attack," he said. "The blood of our sailors, like the blood of our civilians and soldiers, will not be shed wantonly."

It was disclosed meanwhile Turn to Page 6, Col. 3

Last of Pentagon Protesters Hauled in by Federal Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. protesters to Army vans. The Defense Department said 208 were hauled to a federal detention center at Occoquan, Va., where they will be held until they can be released. The protesters, who had been on the Pentagon grounds since Saturday, were hauled away in a series of trucks. The protesters, who had been on the Pentagon grounds since Saturday, were hauled away in a series of trucks.

Thousands participated in the demonstration as the last of a new peace movement. Hundreds were arrested. Dozens were injured. A few got inside the huge five-sided building.

Dave Dellinger, chief organizer of the march, declared those who oppose the war now have shifted "from simple dissent to resistance."

On a plaza-like area just outside the Pentagon's main entrance a hard-core band of dissenters — some bearded, some snaggly haired, some wearing trunks of the hippie cult, some rather normal college types — resisted to the last.

At midnight Sunday, when their permit to stage a "nonviolent" demonstration expired, other children from the house marshals armed with night sticks and pistols and aided by military police carried the protesters to Army vans.

The U.S. mainland would not be endangered if Heidi maintained her course. Highest winds were 85 m.p.h. near the center with gales extending out 200 miles to the northeast and 100 miles to the southwest of the center.

Heidi moved out of range of land-based radar on Bermuda shortly after midnight, hitting the resort island with winds of only about 15 m.p.h.

The storm, moving east-northeast at 25 miles an hour, was expected to decrease in intensity Tuesday.

Ships which radioed reports on Heidi were reported changing course to avoid the storm. Forecasters said Bermuda and

Worker Goes Berserk, Shooting Spree Kills 6

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — A Held, a 39-year-old lab technician paper mill employee, near the Hammill Paper Co., had amassed an arsenal of guns before he was seized by his boss and a neighbor, killed police in his nearby Loganton home.

Seven others were wounded, three critically. Officers said the shootings occurred, without warning, shortly before 8 a.m. after Held entered the Hammill plant located on the edge of this semi-industrial farm community in central Pennsylvania.

Violent Quarrel
Held had been driven to his job by Mrs. Margaret Ramm, a Loganton neighbor, who worked at the Paper Aircraft Co., a mile back to Loganton, went to the home of a neighbor, Donald Quiggle, and shot him dead. He also wounded Quiggle's wife and another person and reportedly took several guns before heading for his own home. He was captured about 95 minutes after the first shots were fired.

Police were in Held's home — 17 miles southeast of Log Haven — waiting for him. He was shot in the hands and legs while on the sidewalk. He was reported in serious condition in Log Haven Hospital, where all the dead and wounded also were taken.

State Police flew in 17 pints of blood from Wilkes-Barre for the wounded.

Humphrey to Stop In Kuala Lumpur
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will visit Malaysia and Indonesia after attending the inauguration in Saigon of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu Oct. 31, among apparently only at those a U.S. Embassy spokesman said who were in his car pool and today Humphrey will visit those who were his immediate Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian bosses. He killed five and wounded four. After that he ran out to the company parking lot.

The Malaysian government took a station wagon and drove officially announced plans for the Piper plant. There he fired at Mrs. Ramm. Gray said Held then drove

LBJ, RFK, Both Trail in Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Following his Sept. 5 statement about having been "brainwashed" by the Johnson administration on Vietnam

Nixon's percentage was 42 per cent, compared with 40 in late September and 35 in early September. Rockefeller's figures were 18, 17, and 14 per cent. Romney's dropped from 24 per cent in early September to 14 per cent late in the month and 13 per cent at present.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who went from 11 per cent in early September to 16 per cent later in the month, now shows 14 per cent.

Pollsters asked the following question of 1,585 persons in 320 localities across the nation: "Suppose the presidential election were held today. If (candidate's name) were the Democratic candidate and (candidate's name) were the Republican candidate, which would you like to see win?"

Ahead First Time
A Nixon-Johnson race showed 49 per cent for Nixon, 45 per cent for the President and 6 per cent undecided. It was the first time that Nixon has shown greater strength than Johnson in the Gallup Poll.

Despite his insistence that he is not a candidate, Rockefeller holds an even wider lead over the President — 54 per cent to 40 per cent with 6 per cent undecided.

The latest poll also showed Gov. George Romney of Michigan defeating Johnson, 48 per cent to 45 per cent with 7 per cent undecided.

In races against Sen. Kennedy, Nixon holds a lead of 48 per cent to 47 per cent with 5 per cent undecided and Rockefeller's edge is 47 per cent to 46 per cent with 7 per cent undecided.

A survey to determine whom voters favor as the GOP candidate showed that Nixon and Rockefeller were gaining support while Romney failed to recover the support he lost

Warm Showers To Fall Tuesday

Fox Cities — Increasing cloudiness and mild tonight, with low near 54 degrees. Tuesday, mostly cloudy and cooler with occasional showers probable, and high near 64 degrees. Southwesterly winds 10-16 miles per hour tonight, becoming westerly Tuesday. Chance of precipitation, 20 per cent tonight and 60 per cent Tuesday.

Appleton — Observations for the past 24 hours show high 67; low 52 degrees; no precipitation. At 10 a.m. barometer was 30.02 and steady; winds from south at 10 m.p.h.; humidity 61, dew point 45; skies partly cloudy.

Five-Day Forecast — Temperatures are expected to average about 4 degrees below the normal highs of 47 to 57 and normal lows of 40 to 36 Tuesday through next Saturday. Cooler about Tuesday or Wednesday.

A Lovelier You

Good Grooming

At a round table discussion on the values of good grooming, the teen opinion shaped up this way: "It's not good grooming that makes a girl attractive. It's personality."

Of course the idea is true, at least in part. But look around and you will observe that the most attractive personalities always do seem to belong to girls and women who are clean and neat — well-groomed.

It could hardly be otherwise. For grooming reflects so many appealing traits. An orderly mind, fastidious habits, self-respect and consideration for others are but a few of the fine qualities suggested by a tidy turn-out. Lacking those qualities, PERSONALITY COUNTS MOST.

And, as unfair or uncharitable as snap judgments are, people rarely take the time or trouble to single out a damsel's sterling traits when she looks a minus quantity. Shoddy grooming is thus a handicap from start to finish. It makes a poor first impression, one that lingers on and on.

So viewed, good grooming is not just an esthetic concept or a special occasion affair. It's part of the business of daily living. Could be, more lovelies should make it their business. There's no excusing cop-outs, except in cases of extreme want.

Mrs. Wright Fights to Save Tokyo Hotel

TOKYO (AP) — Mrs. Oigi Vanna Wright, widow of American architect Frank Lloyd Wright, arrived Sunday to back a movement to preserve the Imperial Hotel, designed by her husband.

The Imperial withstood Tokyo's destructive earthquake of Sept. 1, 1923—a day after it was completed. Business interests back a movement to replace the structure with a 26-story building. Mrs. Wright, 64, who is staying at the Imperial, said it was her first visit to Japan. She said she felt at home in the hotel because she had seen designs and photos of it many times.

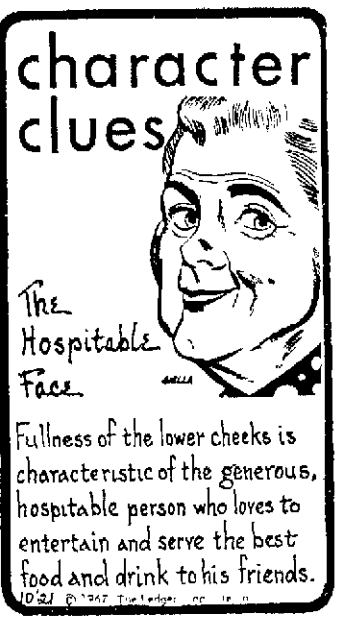

The preservation movement is being led by Japanese architects and lovers of the Imperial. Tokyo's most prestigious hostelry.

Altar Society Sets Pancakes, 'Porky' Supper

DARBOY — The St. Anne Altar Society of Holy Angels Catholic Church will sponsor a pancake and porky supper from 4 to 8 p.m. Nov. 5 in the school hall. Plans were made at the group's Wednesday meeting.

An invitation was extended to members to attend the Outagamie fall deanery meeting Tuesday at St. John Catholic Church, Little Chute.

The program was presented by Sister Emmanuel, head of the social service department at Our Lady of Charity Home, Green Bay, and two residents of the home.

Xavier Parents Dance Benefits New Track, Athletic Field Fund

In the hope of bringing their proposed athletic field and track a bit closer to reality, Xavier Parents held a party Saturday evening with proceeds slated for that cause. The "Track and Field Frolic," was held at the high school gym, with dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The new track and field are slated for building in the spring of next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hardy were general chairmen of the party, with assistance from Mr. and Mrs. John Engel, decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vandenberg, donations; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weiland, refreshments, and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Jack, publicity.

The club set up a number of booths and a mock field in conjunction with the party. Xavier Key Club assisted by distributing posters.

A Miniature Athletic Field set up at Xavier High School's gym attracted the attention of party-goers Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spitz and Mr. and Mrs. John Barta. The event was held to raise funds for the proposed new field.

With the Holiday Season in the not too distant future, Xavier Parents Club members offered a variety of Christmas decorations. Mrs. Robert Ferron, above, right, shows a candy cane to Mr. and Mrs. James Mendleski. Below, dancing later in the evening, are Mr. and Mrs. William Van Stralen and Mr. and Mrs. Al Novotny. ## Say Vows in Double Ring Ceremony FOND DU LAC — St. Peter Lutheran Church was the setting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Ruth Erna Bierwagen and M. Ronald Ahrens. The Rev. Karl Gurgel officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bierwagen, 481 Kaye St., are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Ahrens, 1843 Palisades Drive, Appleton, and Edwin Ahrens, 919 E. Pacific St., Appleton.

Miss Bertha Bierwagen, Neenah, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. Miss Bonnie Ahrens was bridesmaid.

Alvin Thies, Milwaukee, performed the duties of best man. Lloyd Pinkerton was groomsman. Charles Schreiter and Howard Steffen were ushers.

A reception was held at Petrie's Restaurant.

The new Mrs. Ahrens has been employed by O'Brien Dry Goods. Her husband is with AT&T, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Stoegebauer Double Ring Nuptial Rite Performed

Miss Lori Byrne and Richard J. Stoegebauer were married in a double ring ceremony at 5:45 p.m. Saturday at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Menasha. The Rev. Lambert D. Scanlan officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Byrne, 702 N. State St., and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stoegebauer, 2441 Hickory Lane. Mrs. Dennis Witt, Neenah, attended as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Stoegebauer, Mrs. William Stoegebauer and Mrs. Richard Eisner. Miss Karen Stoegebauer was a junior attendant.

Serving as best man was William Stoegebauer. James Knauer, Ewald Rehfeldt and Harry Gebheim were groomsmen. Guests were seated by William Schreiter and Thomas Schanke. Thomas Knauer was a junior attendant.

A reception was held at the Elks Club.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas and California, the couple will reside in Appleton.

Mrs. Stoegebauer attended Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and is employed at Appleton Mills. Her husband is owner of the Last Straw Bar, Kimberly.

Mrs. Gehrman Delegate to Abortion Talks

Mrs. Gordon Gehrman, Kimberly, president of the Outagamie Deanery, will attend a Family Life Bureau conference on abortion Oct. 26 and 27 at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington D.C. She is attending as a delegate of the Green Bay Diocesan Council of Catholic Church Women.

The conference will concentrate on an interchange of information about the practical experience of facing legislative proposals, especially in those states where bills may be introduced in 1968.

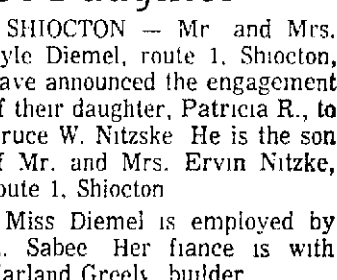

It is the hope of the conference to provide some public relations information to the people who attend the conference. They, in turn, will formulate their own policy for their own state.

She's 'Not Very Domestic' Lynda Is 'Scared to Death' By Housekeeping Chores

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House sounds like a great place for a wedding, but Lynda Johnson says her 500 guests will have to stand during the East Room ceremony because of lack of space.

The President and Mrs. Johnson's daughter thinks there may not even be enough room for her and the bridegroom, Marnel when her husband "gets R and R"—a rest and recuperation under the traditional arch of crossed swords held by fellow officers.

Lynda, looking ahead to her Dec. 9 wedding with excitement, says she's "scared to death" about housekeeping.

Not 'Domestic'

"I'm not very domestic," and except for things like brownies, "I don't know how to cook anything," she told reporters in recent interviews. She intends to learn, though. "My mother says if you can read a cook book, you can learn to cook," she says. Lynda, 23, may not have to face the housekeeping problem too seriously right away because Robb is scheduled to leave about the end of February for a year's tour of duty in Vietnam.

Until he goes, Lynda says, they'll probably rent a furnished apartment or house—"we don't have any furniture"—in Washington or vicinity.

Other Interests

Robb, also interviewed by the magazine, said he enjoyed Lynda's company, "but at that time she seemed to have other interests and I didn't think she wanted to make friendships of more than just a platonic variety."

Also, Robb said, "on important things I sometimes procrastinate a bit."

The couple announced their engagement Sept. 10. A White House wedding is set for Dec. 9.

Miss Johnson disclosed that she was "afraid" to talk seriously about their relationship because "if I declared myself open from 7:30 to 8 p.m. and discovered that to Chuck it didn't mean much more than visit. Coffee will be served and a having a good time and being social is planned before the start of the program."

Your Problems

Ann Says Hosts May Share Guilt if Drinking Guests Drive

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is the responsibility of a host and hostess to guests who drink too much and then drive home? It is not possible to monitor the alcoholic intake of guests to make sure they don't get plowed. Furthermore, it is next to impossible to get a drunk to admit he is in no shape to drive. I have seen drunks become belligerent and nasty when someone questions their ability to handle the wheel. My husband and I had a party at our home recently and the last four couples to leave were so stoned they couldn't see straight. When they left (in two cars) I told my husband I was scared to death that they would end up in the morgue. He said, "They'll be O.K. Don't worry." It so happened they made it all right, but if they had not made it, how much of the guilt would have been on our heads? Please tell us, Ann Landers, what is the solution to this ever-growing social problem? — A Party to the Murder?

Dear Party: If those drunks had NOT made it home, or, worse yet, if they had rammed into some innocent people, you would, in my opinion, be guilty of plenty. One thing a host and hostess can do to prevent such tragedy is to cut the liquor off and send people home before they get so cockeyed they are a menace to society. Don't tell me it can't be done because I have done it in my home and I will continue to do it — and anyone who doesn't like my brand of hospitality doesn't have to come back.

Guests who become suddenly drunk should be driven home by a sober guest, or sent home in a taxi. Anyone who knowingly allows a drunk to drive himself anywhere must share in the blame for whatever happens.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to hate it when you handed out advice against going steady. I thought you were a square old bag and I even wrote once to blast you. Well, I am writing again — this time to apologize. I am a 15-year-old girl who just broke up with a boy 17. We started to go steady last January. I was in heaven for about five weeks, and then I began to worry because we seemed to go a little further every time we got together. One day I asked what he would do if I got pregnant. He said, "Any girl who is dumb enough to get pregnant in this day and age deserves to figure a way out by herself."

That statement really shook me up. I told him he was absolutely right and I wasn't going to wait until I got into that fix because we were parting company then and there.

That was three months ago and I've never been so happy in my life. What a rockhead I was to think I needed a steady for social security. I have plenty of dates and I'm having a ball. My mother and I get along better, too. We used to argue a lot because she didn't approve of my going steady either. I'd like to tell all teen-agers who think going steady is boss that they are kidding themselves — Been There.

Dear Ann: Thanks for another testimonial. Your lesson was relatively inexpensive. Most of the teen-agers who write as you did had to pay a high price for their education. Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request.

Double Ring Ceremony Performed

SEYMOUR — St. John Catholic Church was the setting at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Louise DeBruin and Thomas Edward Birling. The Rev. Richard Shaefer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Orville A. DeBruin, route 3, Seymour. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Birling, route 1, Black Creek, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Miss Janis Mory, cousin of the bride, attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Birling and Miss Nancy Wagner. Miss Debra DeBruin and Miss Anne DeBruin were junior bridesmaids. Miss Susan Dorn was flower girl.

William Birling performed the duties of best man for his brother. Steven and David DeBruin also attended the bridegroom. Michael Birling and Ronald Dorn seated the guests.

A reception was held at the Pine Castle Ballroom.

The new Mrs. Birling attended the University of Wisconsin Green Bay Center. Her husband, a member of the Army Reserves, is employed by Appleton Coated Paper Co., Appleton.

The newlyweds will reside at route 2, Seymour.

James Nolan will represent the Appleton club and will give the response to the welcome Mrs. Eugene Appleton will be lexicologist for the meeting. Mrs. Donna Londre was winner of the Toastmistress trophy.

Dance Council Plans Saturday Workshop

The Wisconsin Dance Council will hold a workshop from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in the physical education building of Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point.

The workshop is open to anyone interested in dance education. Participants will be able to discuss and perform dance as well as learn new teaching methods.

The morning session will have three programs running concurrently: "Dance and a Related Arts Program," for the elementary school group; "Movement Ideas for Composition and Improvisation," for the high school group; and "Training the Dancer as an Individual," for the college group.

During the afternoon session, "The Great Pumpkin Reveals Himself," a group of avant garde dances will be performed.

The workshop will be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Banaszak, teachers at Hortonville Junior High School, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hatch, WSU instructors.

Add Lemon Juice

By adding lemon juice to your meringue recipe you can give it more flavor and a nicer cutting quality. Mix the lemon juice with the egg whites just before beating.

By JAMES F. DONAHUE
HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — The Feyre quadruplets have been in school a month and so far Mrs. Raymond Feyre has cleaned out the closets, sorted the family's clothes, cleaned out the basement room, rebuilt her kitchen benches and learned to enjoy peace.

Mrs. Feyre, 42, is the mother of 11 children. The 6-year-old quadruplets — Margaret, Maureen, Robert and Jaimie—are out of the house for school for the first time this year.

"It's beautiful," said Mrs. Feyre. "I don't think there's any doubt about it," she said, "this is for their good as well as mine."

When the quadruplets come home about 3 p.m., Mrs. Feyre said they "have a lot to talk about. And then they have their little home work to do."

"I think the main thing about the quads being away," Mrs. Feyre said, "is that I have time now to enjoy them when they're home. Before there was so much to do that it was all just routine."

"I'm able to plan my day now so that when they get home I am ready for them and can enjoy them."

"It's a terrible thing to say," she said, "but there were times in the past when I felt like a prisoner. You know, I'd be sitting at home and want to get out. But I couldn't do that unless I took everybody along and that was just too much trouble."

"Now," she said, "in the morning I can take Michael and just go. Just get in the car and go and not have to holler at a lot of children. And I can come back when I want to."

When the quadruplets come home about 3 p.m., Mrs. Feyre said they "have a lot to talk about. And then they have their little home work to do."

"I don't think there's any doubt about it," she said, "this is for their good as well as mine."

East puts up the jack, and South wins with the king. South leads the ten of clubs for a finesse, losing to the king. Back comes the queen of hearts, and South is a very uncomfortable bridge player.

South plays low, and West follows with the four of hearts. East promptly continues with the jack of hearts, and South's moment of truth has arrived.

If West has the ace of hearts, South's only chance is to play low again. If East has the ace of hearts, South must take the king, now or lose it. Remember that South cannot see all of the cards, as we can. What should he play, and why?

Revealing Pass

The answer is given by Terence Reese and Albert Dormer in a book to be published next year. South should assume that West has the ace of hearts.

After making a successful heart play South must eventually find the king of diamonds in the East hand to make the contract. East has already played the jack of spades, the king of clubs and the queen-jack of hearts. If East has the king of

Farmers Say Prices Too Low Livestockmen Match Housewives In Grumbling About Meat Prices

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife's complaints about meat prices are matched by grumblings over the same thing from down on the farm.

The family shopper insists meats cost too much, so as a consequence she often turns to chicken, fish and the like.

But the livestockman says prices are too low for meat animals and he is having trouble keeping his head above economic waters.

There is room for debate, but many of the dollars-and-cents facts are on the side of the livestock farmer.

Furthermore, it appears certain for the long pull that meat prices will tend to be a little higher. Otherwise, there is apt to be an inadequate supply.

How High

How high are meat prices? The Agriculture Department reports choice grade beef sold nationally at an average retail price of 83 cents a pound during the early summer. This compared with 85.5 cents a year earlier and with 78.1 cents for the 1957-59 average.

Pork sold at an average retail price of 66.1 cents a pound last summer compared with 72.4 cents a year earlier and a 1957-59 average of 60.5 cents, said the department.

This year's prices are discouraging production of hogs and beef cattle. The number of beef cattle on farms is declining for the third consecutive year. This year's calf crop was down one per cent from last year and farmers cut down on the number of pigs raised.

Would Not Curtail

If the livestockmen were making big money producing beef cattle and hogs, they would not be likely to curtail their operations. Government reports show, however, that many cat-$13.85 the following year, but in the 1964-65 season there was an average profit of $55.45. This profit declined to $25.52 in 1965-66 before tumbling to a 42-cent loss during 1966-67.

Industry Unrest

The agricultural press has been filled this year with reports and discussions of what is termed unrest in the livestock industry. Where the cattle industry used to experience one economically bad feeding year in seven, it now has one in about every three years.

Dr. Harold F. Breimyer, University of Missouri agricultural economist, says that years ago bad times in the cattle business were caused mainly by bad weather or a business recession. "Now loss margins in feeding are self-induced by the feeding industry," he says. "They are caused by recurring periods of over-confidence and over-investment."

Expand Operations

He meant that when meat animal prices improve, many farmers expand their operations sharply. The resulting increase in meat supplies causes prices to tumble, bringing losses and curtailed production.

Strong moves are being made in the cattle industry to obtain a greater stability of meat animal production—a stability that would be reflected in more uniform returns for a 1,050-pound choice steer fell $13.36 short of costs. The deficit averaged good return.

Six Injured In Weekend Auto Mishaps

Motorcyclist Breaks Legs in Accident On Oneida Street

Six persons were injured in five accidents on Appleton streets over the weekend.

James W. Rae, 26, 908 Harding St., Menasha, suffered a right leg fracture when his motorcycle was struck by a car about 3:40 p.m. Sunday at S. Oneida and E. Fremont streets.

Police said that Rae, who was taken to Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, by ambulance, was northbound on Oneida when his cycle was struck by a car driven by Milton L. Schulze, 52, 1205 E. Pacific St., who was westbound on Fremont.

Neck Injury

Eleanor A. Jaeger, 2320 N. McDonald St., suffered a neck injury in a two-car accident at Lindbergh and Union streets about 10:20 a.m. Sunday.

Police said she was westbound on Lindbergh and a car driven by Dennis G. Lautenschlager, 16, 2514 N. Owassa St., was northbound on Union.

Alice S. Brown, 4630 N. Meade St., suffered bumps to her leg and head when her car was involved in an accident Saturday evening at Marquette and Appleton streets. Driver of the other car was Michael J. Hein, 18, 612 W. Commercial St.

Police said Mrs. Brown was eastbound on Marquette and the Hein car was traveling south on Appleton.

2 Injured

Two persons were injured about 1:45 a.m. Sunday in an accident at E. Newberry and S. Buchanan streets.

Police said that Richard W. Derks, 31, 1020 E. Vine St., driver of one car, suffered a cut lip, and his passenger, Steven D. Hoppe, 208 S. Weiner St.,

Vandals Do Damage at Freedom HS

For the fourth time in recent weeks, vandals have caused considerable damage at Freedom High School.

Outagamie County police said is the latest vandalism incident occurred over the weekend. It Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wiscon- was reported today by Principal in John Schwallier.

Entry into the building was under the stage and near the library, police said. Once in the library, vandals ransacked cabinets and desks and ripped apart a dictionary.

Glass Smashed

They also broke into the principal's office by smashing a door glass. Blood was splattered around the hallway. Police said the office was ransacked and about $30 was taken from a cash box. Considerable damage was done to the office, including to a public address system, electric typewriter, adding machine, and telephone.

As in past burglaries at the school, vandals, after they broke glass to enter the stage area, piled the pieces of glass neatly into piles.

Police said students would be checked today to determine if any of them had recent hand cuts. Police believe the blood in the hallway may have been from a hand cut suffered by one of the burglars.

Median Age of 4 Counties Is Coming Sooner Than in Past

Special to The Post-Crescent
NEW YORK — A significant population trend reflected in Outagamie, Calumet, Waupaca and Winnebago counties shows that the population as a whole is reaching the median age sooner than in the past.

The median age, a significant factor for retail merchants, city planners, politicians and others concerned with special attitudes and desires of youth, reads 23.3 in Outagamie County; Winnebago, 27.8; Waupaca, 32.9; and Calumet, 24.1.

All four figures are a substantial decrease over the 1960 median age, which was 24.8 in Outagamie County; 25.6 in Calumet; 35 in Waupaca; and 29.5 in Winnebago. This same trend exists throughout the country.

Median is the point which divides the population in half according to age.

27.6 in Wisconsin

In the rest of the United States, the latest Census Bureau findings point to a median age of 27.7. It is 27.6 in Wisconsin.

The change that has been taking place in the makeup of the population had its beginning in the years following World War II, the figures show.

Winnebago State Hospital

Mrs. Schmidt Committed

Mrs. George Schmidt, 80, whose husband's butchered body was found near downtown Appleton three weeks ago, late this morning was committed to Winnebago State Hospital.

Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren ordered the commitment after a hearing in Mrs. Schmidt's room at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she has been since early the morning of Sept. 28, after police said she apparently tried to commit suicide in the basement of her home at 319 N. Division St.

Van Susteren said the hearing was ordered after a petition with three signatures was presented to the court. Van Susteren said that an Appleton detective was one of the signers of the petition seeking a mental hearing.

Conduct Hearing

The judge said he named two doctors, including a psychiatrist, to help conduct the hearing.

Van Susteren said he found the woman to be mentally ill and ordered her committed to the

Unconscious Woman Taken to Hospital

Patricia Ann Laske, 21, 320 Grandview Ave., Menasha, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by the fire department rescue squad about 11:40 p.m. Sunday after she was found lying along the 1900 block of N. any of them had recent hand cuts. Police believe the blood in the hallway may have been from a hand cut suffered by one of the burglars.

The woman, who reportedly had been unconscious, appeared to have suffered from a seizure. Police also investigated.

Alden M. Johnston Was Great-Nephew Of Appleton Founder

Alden M. Johnston, 224 N. Drew St., third generation member of Appleton's first family, died unexpectedly at midnight Saturday.

He was the great-nephew of John Faville Johnston, who brought his wife and young son as the first family to settle in the wooded area that was to become the Village of Appleton.

Johnston

The Johnston cabin, located on what is now Johnston Street between Morrison and Durkee Streets, was the first village church, Sunday School, hotel, hospital and post office in 1848.

Alden Johnston was the only member of the pioneer family still living in Appleton. He was the son of Fremont M. Johnston. In 1933 he presented an oil portrait of his great-uncle to Johnston Elementary School named in honor of the village's first president, postmaster, pioneer, benefactor and for many years its leading hotelkeeper. The oil painting by artist Carla Heller Bell, former Appleton resident, was a gift of the Johnston family.

court and another hearing would be held to determine if she would be able to stand trial, according to Van Susteren.

In a separate court action later this morning, property obtained by police during investigation at the Schmidt home was released to C. F. McCoy, 727 W. Summer St., Appleton, court-appointed guardian for Mrs. Schmidt.

Release Property

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said that it consisted of "certain property not evidentiary in nature." He said that the property released this morning would not be produced as evidence should there be a trial and added that there would be no need to keep it.

Included among the property returned today was $6,131.37 most of it in change and small bills.

Attorney Don Juty, legal counsel for Mrs. Schmidt's guardian, told the court that Mrs. Schmidt told him during a conference Friday that the money was hers. County Judge Gustave J. Keller said he would not rule on who owns the money.

The property obtained from the Schmidt home was contained in a five-page report.

The report indicated other items found by authorities included a gold wedding band, 1957 credit card, a George Schmidt contractor calling card and several other items. These articles were contained in a purse found in a secretary-type desk in the Schmidt living room.

The coins and currency were found in the purse and a security box.

Also found in the security box were papers indicating the mar-

Woman Injured In Auto Crash Near Appleton

Mrs. Mary Ann Niemuth, 20, route 2, Hortonville, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital with mouth injuries and abdominal pains after her car struck a utility pole along U.S. 10, five miles west of Appleton Saturday.

Outagamie County police said Mrs. Niemuth had pulled out along with another auto to pass a car while westbound on Route 10. She got too far to the left, piece of angle iron while loading went into a ditch and struck the pole, police said. They estimated that the 1965 model Niemuth auto sustained about $500 damage.

VTE-12 Budget May Be Probed

Buckley Asks Special Conference

Shocked by the sharp increase in levies being assessed cities and other municipalities for vocational education in 1968, Mayor George Buckley said today he will seek a special meeting of regional officials.

Buckley announced he will introduce a resolution at tonight's city council meeting calling for a special summit meeting of mayors and city attorneys in Vocational District 12 in order to discuss possible legal steps to be taken against its assessment."

In its last session, the state Legislature created new vocational, technical and adult education districts throughout the state — resulting in more of the financial burden falling on local municipalities.

Automatic Increases

In this district there has been a sharp impact on vocational budgets for the coming year, making for automatic tax rate increases.

Last week at the annual conference of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, elected officials from throughout the state expressed surprise at the heavy impact the new districts are having on the budgets of cities, towns and villages.

Buckley, members of the council's finance committee and other local officials expressed concern recently when the director for Vocational District 12 sent notice of the assessments.

Police Chief Of Shiocton Seriously Hurt

Shiocton Police Chief Raymond Muskavitch remains unconscious in New London Community Hospital today after he suffered a "massive cerebral hemorrhage" before smashing his squad car into a house Sunday night.

Outagamie County Police said that Muskavitch 39, was traveling west on Pine Street in Shiocton about 8:45 p.m. when his car suddenly swerved into the front door of living quarters at Yahle's Tavern.

Police said that Alice Yahle was in the living room, watching television, when the car rammed through the front door.

Mrs. Muskavitch said this morning that her husband apparently was not injured in the accident. She said her husband's condition as of this morning was "not good."

Scholarship Program Set

STEVENS POINT — A scholarship program for Seventh Congressional District high school seniors will be formed, Atty. John Potter, president of the Laird Youth Leadership Foundation, said here Saturday.

Potter announced the formation of the scholarship fund at the second "Education Day" co-sponsored by Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point and the Laird Foundation. The foundation had been established in the name of Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Marshfield, who has served as congressman since 1952.

All 63 high schools in the congressional district will compete in the program. "We want to give a number of these young people each year the opportunity to realize their full potential through education and community leadership," Potter said.

Leadership Workshop

He cited today's youth leadership workshop as one of the additional ways the foundation could provide the students with leadership training opportunities. Over 250 students, four

Board to Vote On Pay Raises For Supervisors

Winnebago Hike Would be Effective After Spring Vote

OSHKOSH — Whether to raise supervisor's salaries will be one of the main concerns of the Winnebago County board members during their annual meeting session beginning Tuesday.

The board will receive for approval or rejection a recommendation that the wages be raised from $14 to $22 for a full day of work and from $7 to $12 for a half day.

Also considered will be a boost in the annual pay of the county board chairman from $600 to $1200.

If approved, the salary increase will go into effect in April, following the election of all 47 county supervisors.

Following a study of comparative figures in other counties, the wage increase was recommended by the county's finance committee and seconded by the personnel committee.

Supervisors backing the per diem increase have pointed to supervisors who lose money from their regular jobs while attending meetings, and state that because of this, other qualified people do not seek the position.

Moscow Bars New Industry

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet planners have decided to ban new industry from the city of Moscow, which is a main industrial center as well as the nation's political and cultural capital.

Moscow's highly diversified industry produces a wide variety of consumer goods as well as ball bearings, machine tools and chemical products.

The clampdown on new industry apparently came as part of a program to control Moscow's growth and prevent its strangulation by two much industry. The city has more than 6.5 million population and its growth is being restricted.

activities will be sponsored, Potter said.

Scholarships will be awarded to the students and may be used at any school in the nation, he said.

Marshall Taylor, superintendent of schools in Wausau, a foundation director, was named to head the scholarship planning committee.

Taylor said scholarships will be based on the student's leadership, scholarship and need. In some instances the scholarship will pay the entire cost of one year's college education — including tuition, fees and living expenses.

Only high school students in the Seventh Congressional District will be eligible, Taylor added. He said high school administrators would be contacted shortly concerning eligibility requirements for scholarships and the procedure for applying.

Other officers and directors of the foundation are Pat Felker, Marshfield, vice president; Robert Fisher, Stevens Point, secretary; Robert Froehke, Stevens Point, treasurer; Stanley Staples, Wausau; Mrs. David Smith, Merrill; Dr. Russell Lewis, Marshfield, and Laird.

A 77-Year Old Structure, the Thompson Memorial Building, disappeared from Kaukauna last week as workmen tore down the structure to make room for an industrial parking lot. For many years the structure, located near the southside railroad yards, served railway men as a rooming house and eating place while many city residents made use of the showers in the basement, the first city building to be so equipped. ## Winnebago Divorce: Tangle Of Youth, Money, Alcohol OSHKOSH — If you are of the increasing number of typical Winnebago County divorcees, your marriage problems are all tangled up with lack of money, too much alcohol, boredom and infidelity.

If you are typical, you are young and you were not ready for marriage.

You should have been trained for it, if you are typical.

These are the opinions and conclusions of three Winnebago County judges. Two of them handle divorces. The third handles delinquent children many of whose parents have been divorced.

Winnebago County courts will report a total 207 divorces granted this year. The total is 25 divorces more than last year and an increase of about 32 per cent since the 156 in 1953.

That's about an eight per cent increase a year, higher than the annual increase in population.

Judge Herbert J. Mueller outlines a pattern all too frequently repeated in his court:

A young couple, both employed, marry, furnish a home on easy payments geared to both incomes.

Before they own the household furnishings, the wife becomes pregnant, her earning ends, and responsibilities and expenses mount.

Each may react in ways unexpected and unacceptable to the other. The rosy dream of married bliss turns into a nightmare.

At least half of his divorce cases involve working wives. Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane observes. Often their jobs are unskilled.

Again, there is a familiar pattern. The low-income family needs money. Without it, things are dull at home, the wife and children want things. A rift between the parents, and the wife goes to work. Here, her opportunities to see and meet people are broadened. She meets "nice guys" who seem to have money to spend.

At home, her husband is tired and irritable after a day at work. She tends to be that way, too. Thoughts of freedom and the greener pastures begin. She sees divorce as the door to a new life with a new husband.

Judge Cane views the most frequently evident basic causes for divorce as infidelity on the part of one or both partners, excessive drinking and desertion by one partner.

Judge Mueller says lack of money is the basic cause of over half of county divorces.

Too often, Judge Mueller maintains, lack of financial security or just plain arithmetic and ignorance of costs occasion the first rift in a marriage.

Judge Cane estimates that the "vast majority" of couples seeking divorce here are in below average income brackets. County Social Services Director Norman Whitford said he would estimate more than half of the 288 cases aid to dependent children involve a divorced mother.

Of the children in broken homes, Judge Cane says, "I have yet to see the situation where the children aren't affected adversely. There are those who argue the other way, that strife and discord are worse for the child than the quiet of a divorced home, but I don't know."

Judge Mueller said there is no question that divorce does have an effect on the children. "I'm not so sure it always has an adverse effect."

He said he sees too many cases of children upset and unhappy because of constant strife and turmoil in the home. With peace restored, school grades go up, anti-social behavior lessens, he said.

Judge James V. Sarres, who presides in the county's Branch II court where juvenile matters are heard, is sharply aware of the frequent appearances of children from broken homes, many of them due to divorce, in his court.

Of 70 cases of juvenile delinquency in September, 20 of the youngsters involved were from broken homes. His 74 cases so far this month involved 14 from broken homes.

Judge Mueller sees the need of training to prepare people for marriage, in order to stem the rising tide of divorce.

Society trains youngsters to drive a car before they can obtain a driver's license. Judge Herbert J. Mueller of County Court, Branch I, observed. Yet, we don't require marriage counseling until the couple is heading for the crackup of divorce.

"There is student driver training before application for a driver's license, how about pre-marital counseling with emphasis on the financial aspects when the couple applies for a marriage license?"

Similar courses in high school "wouldn't hurt," he said, "but I think the attitude then would be 'why worry about it until the time comes'."

Judge Cane views the family as the place for educating for marriage. He said, however, that high school courses in family living, family obligations and the economics of the family would strengthen the program.

Judge Cane advocates a further revision of the Family Code that would raise the marriage age for women from 16 to 18 years and require parental permission for both men and women until they are age 21. Also an improvement, he said, would be extension of the waiting period for a marriage license to thirty days unless waived by a judge.

Community Shares Project State Hospital Campsite On Picnic Point Ready For Use by Mentally Ill

BY FERN SMITH Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WINNEBAGO — Picnic Point, the therapeutic campsite which occupies one of the most beautiful portions of Lake Winnebago Shoreline, is ready for business.

It is unique in several ways.

The therapeutic camping program is a prime factor in the treatment of the emotionally disturbed, the mentally handicapped and the mentally ill.

A project shared by the Winnebago State Hospital and the community, it is the only one of its kind in the State of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Gilbert Pitz, Oshkosh, is chairman of the campsite development committee and will preside at a short informal program on that day. Speakers will include Dr. Leonard Ganser, administrator of the Division of Mental Hygiene, Madison; Miss Mary Bartosic, vice president of the Winnebago County Association for Mental Health; Architect Theodore Irion; Donald Zboray, superintendent of the Winnebago County Institutions and a spokesman for the Association of Wisconsin County Hospitals; Dr. Treffert; and Mrs. John Logue, secretary of the Neenah-Menasha Jaycettes.

The shelter, which was two years in planning and construction, contains a centrally located ring-side fireplace, a fully equipped kitchen, and toilet rooms. It will be used the year around.

Groups are now planning to construct the first of four bunk houses large enough to accommodate eight persons. The Jaycettes have presented a substantial check to start this building fund.

Donate Funds

The $14,000 wigwam shelter was built from funds donated by individuals, groups and mental health associations in the 27 counties which the state hospital serves. It is built on 50 acres of state-owned land and the management of the picnic program is shared by the hospital and the community.

Buckley Wants Meeting On Vocational Budget

against the City of Appleton for 1968.
The levy, which is automatic under the new law, amounts to $376,478.59.
Currently $28,000
For the current year the Vocational School levy — prior to creation of the district setup — amounted to about $28,000.
Other communities in the Fox Cities region have since received assessment notices from District 12 and expressed the same reaction to the sharp levy hike.

Buckley's resolution says the proposed meeting should be held expressly for "discussing the drastic increase in levies apportioned against various municipalities."
The total proposed operating budget of District 12 for 1968 is $1,989,876.96.
Buckley noted that this year vocational education amounted to 21 cents on the Appleton tax rate, and the 1968 request will boost the total to $2.25 per $1,000 assessed valuation.
Recently Darwin E. Smith, district vocational board secretary, and Director William N. Sirek, explained the reorganization and terms of the state law which gives the district board taxing authority.

2 Fined for Topsy Driving Appleton, Two Rivers Motorists Charged $175 or 90 Days

Two motorists were fined $175 each, or 90 days in jail, and their drivers licenses were revoked for one year, after they pleaded guilty this morning to charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.
Bruce P. Hoffman, 20, Two Rivers, and Eugene L. Berghuis, 30, 527 W McKinley St., Appleton, appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.
Hoffman was arrested by Appleton police in the 400 block of E. Wisconsin Avenue Sunday night. Berghuis was arrested by state police about 1:30 a.m. Sunday at State 55 and 14th Street, in Kaukauna.

$2,550 Damage Claim Filed Against Appleton

A damage claim of $2,550 for alleged negligence of the City of Appleton has been filed with the city by attorneys for a Menasha minor.
Paul Becher, son of Alfred J. Becher, 118 First St., Menasha, was injured in a motorcycle accident at the intersection of Douglas and Packard Streets in Appleton on Sept. 21. The claim alleges negligence in "construction and maintenance of streets" at the intersection.
The claim asks $2,500 for physical and mental injuries and $25 damage to the motorcycle.
The claim alleges that Becher received abrasions and contusions, facial lacerations and cerebral concussion and unconsciousness in the accident.

Appleton Man Names City of Appleton in Injury Suit for Son

Claims totaling $3,500 were filed against the City of Appleton today, the offshoot of an incident in which a young bicyclist caught his wheel in a sewer grate and suffered injuries.
Lu Ray Hawkinson, 1820 E. Marquette St., started the legal action to seek $7,500 for his son, Ronald, and $1,000 in costs.
The complaint, answerable by the city and its insurance carrier in 20 days, claims that on May 3 Ronald, 11, was riding his

Appleton Man Tells Police of Robbery, Beating

A 59-year-old Appleton man told police Sunday night that he was beaten and robbed by three or four youths in the 400 block of N. Appleton Street.
James T. Reiss, 1812 N. Owassa St., told police that about $150 was in his wallet which was taken after he was struck in the back of the head while walking on Appleton Street, after leaving the 400 Bar. He said he did not get a look at his assailants.
Reiss, who told police he had been drinking most of the day, said he had left the tavern to call a cab. Police said the man's face was bloody, apparently from nose and face injuries suffered when he hit the sidewalk.
Police said the bartender at the 400 Bar could not recall having seen Reiss in the tavern before the alleged assault.

At Little Chute Green Bay Area Nuns View Community Study

LITTLE CHUTE — More than 50 Green Bay area nuns of the Little Chute Dominican Educational Association (RDEA) met over the weekend at St. John High School to evaluate the community's self-study of the past year, including its more intense activity last summer.
Three committees — religious, apostolic life and community — had been set up to study ways to revive service of the apostolate, in light of Vatican II. These groups were to consider the effect of the changing world on the community.
RDEA Objectives
This agrees with RDEA objectives which are unifying community work in the light of Dominican philosophy, developing an integrated formation, intellectual, professional and spiritual in all sisters, both pre-service and in-service and helping the Sisters implement effectively the Dominican Apostolate.

Use a Cardboard Base to Decorate Your Alarm Clock

BY CAPPY DICK

A boy or girl who has his own exceptional pieces of rock, a couple of beat-up golf balls, a make a fun-project out of decorating it to look different from any other clock on earth.

Next, prepare a cardboard base for the clock. This should be a heavy oblong of cardboard on which to stand it.

Then, at the sides of the clock glue to novelties that are to serve as the unusual decorations. Don't glue the clock because you later may wish to change the whole setup. This will be easier to do if the clock is not attached. The less-important side pieces may be glued in place, however, to keep them from falling.

Fighting a War by Consensus

One of the factors that makes our present war in Vietnam different from any other major American war is that the burden of it falls on a comparatively small percentage of Americans. It seems obvious then that the burden on the few is especially heavy because of the efforts of the administration to minimize it to the vast majority.

For the last few months the men in the area of besieged Con Thien and Gio Linh have been under almost constant bombardment from increasingly heavy artillery possessed by the North Vietnamese. The United States Marines, now being reinforced by units of the 1st Division, beat off a long drawn and extensive effort of the enemy to take Con Thien. There was a major buildup of Northern forces on their side of the demilitarized zone during September and the casualties on both sides were extremely high. When it became apparent that the Northern move had failed, it was proclaimed understandably as a great victory for the United States.

But Denis Warner, writing in The Reporter, deplores the military thinking that placed the Marines within reach of artillery, that puts reliance on the McNamara Line, and that left no room for forward maneuver. He warns that in the rear of I Corps, with one exception, "the situation has never been worse. Areas under government control have shrunk. Pacification has become meaningless, and even regions hitherto considered proof against penetration have begun to slip." American troops used in pacification programs had to be transferred to combat.

Handson Baldwin, New York Times military expert and a strong "hawk," puts it another way. "The policy of gradually increasing United States pressure against the enemy had, the President thought, the advantage of a kind of 'consensus' war policy. But it also imposed great military handicaps. . . The effects of rotation and the attempts at home to minimize the domestic effects of the war by living off military inventories and holding down military production have been felt all down the line in Vietnam. Though no one will officially admit it, the result undoubtedly has been an increase in U.S. casualties." Baldwin points out further that whatever was believed or said in Washington, "the size and the duration of the war have not assumed unexpected proportions. Military leaders forecast privately before U.S. ground forces were committed to Vietnam that as many as 500,000 to 750,000 troops might be needed and that even then the war would be a long one." Military chiefs recommended in the summer of 1965 at least a limited mobilization and the calling up of reserves and national guard units. But this of course would have alarmed a lot of Americans. And so, Baldwin concludes that because of a number of factors, "the administration's war policies have made a long and costly war longer and more costly."

Baldwin says we are winning the war. Warner does not sound so sure. Baldwin writes that "the President is faced with a vicious circle — the consequence of a consensus war policy. He must win the battle of the ballots to win in Vietnam, yet he must probably 'win' in Vietnam — in the sense of demonstrating before next November his capability of bringing the war to a satisfactory conclusion — if he is to win at home."

We should sympathize with the President. But somehow the real sufferers of his "consensus policy" — the men who are fighting the war while those at home are soothed and kept from feeling the slightest sacrifice — seem to deserve our sympathy far more.

The School Lunch Program

Back in October, 1946, Congress enacted the school lunch program for a two-fold purpose. It was aimed at reducing the agriculture food surpluses that began to pile up after the war. And its advocates felt it would offer especially to poor children at least one nutritionally sound meal on every school day.

Over the years both aims have been carried out. And this is one program it is quite unlikely that Congress will ever start to cut back.

This year some 20 million children are being fed at 72,000 schools, both public and private. About 10 per cent of the total are those from poor homes and they pay nothing for the meals. The rest pay between 20 cents and 50 cents, depending upon the areas. Last winter the program was expanded on an experimental basis to provide breakfasts to about 80,000 children. Again those who can afford the cost are paying it, although the pilot programs have generally been inaugurated in deprived areas. It is likely that Congress will appropriate another $2 million for it but the Agriculture Department would like $6 million.

Studies in poor rural areas such as parts of Mississippi have shown that some children receive their only good meal of the day through the school lunch programs. It may well be that many children from more affluent homes as well are encouraged to eat the nourishing foods at school that they might be permitted to scorn at home in favor of a soft drink and a sweet roll.

Certainly the school lunch program is one federal subsidy that has been well worthwhile.

Shoddy Business?

Some weeks ago The Post-Crescent suggested that one way to save some money for the United States government was to disband the Subversive Activities Control Board which hadn't had a case in years. The board came into public view when the husband of one of President Johnson's favorite secretaries was appointed to a $26,000 a year seat on the board.

But instead of so ordering, Congress, led by Senator Everett Dirksen, is trying to revive the board by broadening its powers. It doesn't seem to matter that such widened powers are almost certain to be cited as unconstitutional, according to a considerable number of law professors.

Senator William Proxmire has led the opposition to the bill. He has now been joined by Senator Robert Kennedy, once chief counsel to Senator Joseph McCarthy's investigative committee. As Attorney General, Kennedy explained, he had sought to compel Communist registration in compliance with the McCarran internal security statute but every time federal courts ruled that such registration violated freedom of assembly and self-incrimination.

So far President Johnson has kept out of the fight. But Senator Dirksen says that the President is on his side. And there may be more to all of this than any real indication of extensive Communist activity in the United States or even a safe, cushy job for a friend.

Secretary Rusk said in a recent news conference that there was a lot of Communist activity in the various peace groups which are demonstrating against the war. Reviving the Subversive Activities Control Board could give the impression that the government is really worried about communism and would tend to back up its claim of a monolithic conspiracy which only our war in Vietnam can halt.

It could be a pretty shoddy business.

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 26, 1867.

A literary paper, with the title of Lawrence Collegian, will be published monthly on and after Nov. 20th, by the students of Lawrence University.

The conductors expect and solicit the countenance and assistance of former students, alumni and all friends of the University, by contributing to its columns and extending its circulation.

In this project the faculty and trustees of the University will second all efforts to the extent of their power and ability.

It will be the aim of its conductors to make the paper second to none in literary merit, and from the ability of its contributors there can be no doubt of its success.

It will contain essays on popular subjects of the day, literary correspondence from some of the principal cities, literary intelligence, poetry and College items of interest.

The paper will be devoted to the cause of popular education, scientific research, freedom and truth, actuated by charity for all parties and denominations, but pledged to the support of none. Terms of subscription — $1 per annum.

Kraft Writes

Johnson Philosophy on Vietnam Violates All Previous Principles

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The fine art of fighting a charge that was never made finds ludicrous expression in the fuss now being made by the administration over use of the term "yellow peril." As it happens, before putting that term in a column, I used it as a description of Sec. Dean Rusk's press conference last week in discussion ranging over three days with a wide variety of State Department officials at many different levels.

At no time did any department official assert the term had racist overtones. At all times they understood that the term was being used to denote an exaggeration by the secretary of the Chinese menace. To say now that Dean Rusk is no racist is a deliberate misinterpretation made for the purpose of confusing the issue.

In fact, there is a genuine issue at stake — the subtle issue of American relations with Communist China. For defenses against Chinese expansion probably should be built, and this country has a role to play in that venture.

NOT DIRECT THREAT

But the correct American role is not the role implicit in what administration figures have been saying about a billion Chinese armed with nuclear weapons. Still less is the correct American role the role now being played by this country in the Vietnamese war.

The starting point in this matter is to recognize, as the administration spokesmen do not, that China is not a direct threat to the United States. The vast distances of the Pacific Ocean and the absence of any direct conflict of interest, not to mention this country's overwhelming military strength, are surely aplenty.

The only way this country can lose a fight with China is to get into one on the mainland of Asia. That is why every important secretary of state in this century — from John Hay through Elihu Root, Robert Lansing and Henry Stimson to Dean Acheson and John Foster Dulles — has drawn back from major conflict on the Asian mainland.

There are other countries, however, which China could threaten. India, Japan, Indonesia and Australia as well as several smaller states are potentially vulnerable.

They are valued friends and allies, and insofar as they are prepared to take effective measures for their own defense, it makes sense for this country to help them. As Dean Acheson, whose views on Asia would be most interesting at this moment, once remarked: "The Asian peoples are on their own. . . We can only help where we are wanted and only where the conditions of help are really sensible and possible."

Besides being auxiliary, the correct American role in Asia must be shaped by another constraint. India, Australia, Indonesia and Japan may eventually knit up their bonds to the point where they can act jointly as a counterweight to China. But decades, maybe generations, will have to pass before that point is reached.

Thus as part of a program to contain China, the American role must be designed for slaying power. This country must be prepared to go the distance — a long distance — in everything it does in Asia. CAUTION TO WINDS

The Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations scrupulously observed both these constraints in their policy in Vietnam. They kept the American presence and the American commitment in the background. At all times it was open to them, if matters turned sour, to retrench and fight on some other line — an essential requisite for an effective holding action.

The Johnson administration has broken with this cautious line of conduct in the most blatant way — which is one reason its claims to be merely following past policies ring so hollow. It has made the American presence the dominant feature in Vietnam. It has made this country's emotional, military and economic commitment to Vietnam the most prominent feature of American life.

With such an enormous burden, American opinion inevitably yearns for early success or getting out. It is not prepared, it is rightly not prepared, to support such a large effort on an indefinite basis.

The right course, in these circumstances, is not to heighten commitments and widen objectives still further. The right course is to cut costs, curtail casualties and modulate the effort so that it can go what is likely to be a long, long way.

Wisconsin Report

State Revolt Against LBJ Must be Viewed In Proper Perspective

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The evidently increasing sentiment among Wisconsin Democrats and liberals to resist the renomination of President Johnson because of his conduct of the Vietnam war is obviously one of the meaningful events of the current Wisconsin political scene.

Wyngaard

The revolt is taking on the shape of organization, as indicated by the conference successfully staged by some of its leaders here the other day. Taken in combination with the rapid descent of the President's standing in the reputable public opinion polls, these developments must be of intense concern to the man in the White House who is famous for the care with which he watches such details in even the most remote parts of his constituency.

Yet, they can easily be exaggerated as to their import. It is necessary to note, to understand the possible effect of the grass roots rebellion, that the professional Democratic politicians here and elsewhere are keeping their distance from the dissidents in their ranks.

There is no contemporary leader of the President's party in Wisconsin who is more attentive to current winds of opinion, or more anxious to identify himself as a contender for the command of the state party organization, than young Bronson LaPollette, the attorney general and ranking spokesman for his party in the state government.

LaPollette without hesitation has offered his own conviction that for the Democrats to condemn the President is a mistake and has volunteered his support for the President for renomination.

DIRECT ATTACK AVOIDED

That sentiment has been echoed by David Carley, the Democratic national committeeman and, thus, the ranking Wisconsin spokesman in the national party machine. Such men as Sen. Gaylord Nelson and Rep. Robert Kastenmaier, critical of the war policy also, have declined a direct attack on the administration of which they are a part and upon the man who is its leader.

It is perfectly evident that these local leaders of the party and many others are deeply concerned about the progress of the war, or the lack thereof, and what it may mean for the fortunes of their ticket, national and local, a year hence. They devoutly hope that there can be a settlement before popular revulsion becomes more severe. But they are not likely to take the extreme step of repudiating their own President, because they must assume that he will again head the ticket and that they will be running with him next year.

Refusal to renominate an incumbent president who wants another term is virtually without precedent.

To attempt to do so would damage the party organization to such an extent that it would put in peril all of the local and state-wide nominees of the party, as they know expertly as professionals in the cultivation of votes. Moreover, there is always the chance that the fortunes of war will improve. If the President should manage a successful and honorable peace treaty or a victory in Vietnam, his stock would immediately rise.

LONG MEMORY

Mr. Johnson is known for his prodigiously long memory and detailed understanding of political affairs hundreds of miles removed from his desk in the White House. If he is renominated and re-elected, it is fairly sure that those of his party who doubted and condemned him in his travail would not be quickly forgotten or forgiven.

Caution and circumspection among the Democratic professionals here and in other states, meanwhile, is dictated by the fact that a clear-cut Republican alternative to the Johnson war policy has not yet appeared. Indeed, the Wisconsin Republican Party is perhaps more hawkish than even the Johnson Loyalists, as shown by its most recent corporate declaration at the last Republican state convention.

The leading Republican candidates for the presidential nomination, actual and prospective, cannot be described as peace candidates, with the possible exception of Gov. George Romney whose pursuit of his party's leadership role has thus far been indifferently successful, according to most barometers.

Strictly Personal

What Does 'Peace' Really Mean to You?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"All men," wrote Thomas a Kempis in the 15th Century, "desire peace, but few desire the conditions that are requisite for peace."

Nothing has changed in the five centuries since he uttered that melancholy truth. Hardly anyone is willing to recognize the fact that "peace" is a word much like "health."

Harris

Everybody desires health, but we are more realistic about its preconditions. We know that we cannot engage in bad habits, ignore the needs of the body, neglect our diet or sleep or exercise, and then expect to remain healthy.

But this is exactly what we expect in the realm of social health — which is peace. We permit injustice to fester (so long as we are not its immediate victims); we ignore the needs of the underprivileged; we neglect the machinery of law and justice and amity — and then are shocked when civil or military war break out.

Peace, for most of us, is a sentiment, a pious expectation, a vague spiritual condition. We do not regard it as something we have to work for — like a job — or make sacrifices for — like a family. Yet we daily jeopardize both our jobs and our families, as well as our whole society, by our apathy toward "the conditions that are requisite for peace."

Our biggest intellectual and emotional mistake lies in regarding peace as the mere absence of war, as a negative thing. But health is not the mere absence of disease — it is a positive thing, a regimen, a way of life, a discipline that prevents illness as far as possible.

What we loosely call "times of peace" are really uneasy truces, lulls between wars. This is all the world has known for most of mankind's history. The patients recuperate from the damage of one war — and this convalescence is called "peace" — and when they are strong enough they engage in another.

But the end of one war always breeds the germs of the next; and between these two periods, no preventive "medicine" is at work to make sure that the disease will not recur. If we took the same attitude toward public health that we do toward war, we would still be having world-wide plagues every 30 years or so.

War must come to be looked upon as an infantile social sickness of mankind, or we cannot survive in the atomic age. The conditions of peace must be wisely understood and broadly practiced, as we practice preventive medicine in other areas. For the first time in history, man has the productive, industrial, technical and economic power to relieve the conditions that make for war — but most of this power is still going into the war-machine.

Packers Tally 38 Points in Second Half, Crush Giants

Starr Displays Old Form As Bays Overcome 14-10 Deficit for 48-21 Win

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service
NEW YORK — Bryan Bartlett Starr, a man of becoming modesty and invariably decorous deportment, was the picture of quiet contentment in a corner of the Packers' Yankee Stadium dressing room late Sunday afternoon.

But the veteran field general's still boyish features crinkled in a smile when he confessed, with characteristic conservatism, "It's nice to be able to play again."

Although the ill-fated New York Giants might be able to fully concur in this sentiment, it had to be a deeply satisfying moment for Starr, a starter — and winner — for the first time since Oct. 1, when a third successive injury had shelved him.

Shrugs Off Memory

Now besieged by a horde of Gotham newsmen seeking "the inside story," the 33-year-old Alabamian had shrugged off the haunting memory of nine interceptions in his first two outings to victimize the resurgent Giants with a brilliantly artistic second-half performance as the world champions rebounded from a 14-10 disadvantage to decimate the National Football League's Century Division co-leaders, 48-21.

"I was frustrated, both mentally and physically," Bart admitted. "I'd been hurt so often and for so long (his first injury, a sprained thumb, stemmed from early in the training season). You try not to get dejected but I guess it just can't help but affect you."

"I guess I was a little down there for a while," Starr, the NFL's most valuable player a year ago, said, then added with a smile, "but I began to shake it off when I thought it over and decided that I'd been pretty lucky overall and that there are a lot of people a lot worse off than I am."

Like, for current example, the crestfallen Giants. Off to a 14-7 lead midway through the second quarter, hope of ending eight years of frustration obviously burgeoned in their breasts as they cantered off the field at intermission.

Dreams Evaporate

Those dreams evaporated in the face of massive Packers' retaliation. Off target in the first quarter, Starr was the architect of an explosive 38-point resurgence in the last two periods — 28 of them coming in the final 15 minutes — as Vince Lombardi's athletes charged to a 12th, straight victory over the New Yorkers.

This resounding decision, which served to assuage the pain of a 10-7 upset at the hands of Minnesota's Vikings a week earlier, was spawned by the Pack's biggest rushing output in nearly five years — a bulging 249 yards, a total which included a 123-yard production from sophomore fullback Jim Grabowski and three touchdowns by his explosive colleague, Elijah Pitts.

A pair of interceptions, one by Willie Wood which triggered the Pack's first TD in the opening quarter, and the other by Dave

'It Was Our Best Offense,' Beams Vince

Says Everything Goes Well When Packers Can Run

Post-Crescent News Service
NEW YORK — It was the league's best offense (New York) against the league's best defense (Green Bay) in Yankee stadium here Sunday.

The offense won... but it was the wrong offense. Wrong, that is, from a statistical standpoint but right from the Packers' standpoint.

The Packers, who had scored only 87 points in five previous games, were suffering from the taunts of those who saw in that total a rusting of the precise, powerful machine that had claimed two straight NFL titles. But a 48-point explosion, which began like a firecracker with 10 points in the first half and wound up like an atomic bomb with 38 points in the second half, blew apart that theory and, at the same time, brought a beaming smile to the sometimes-not-so-beaming Vince Lombardi.

'Best Offense'

"It was our best offense this year," he quickly acknowledged. "We ran hard and we blocked hard," he almost jubilantly declared moments after the 48-21 blitzing had been completed.

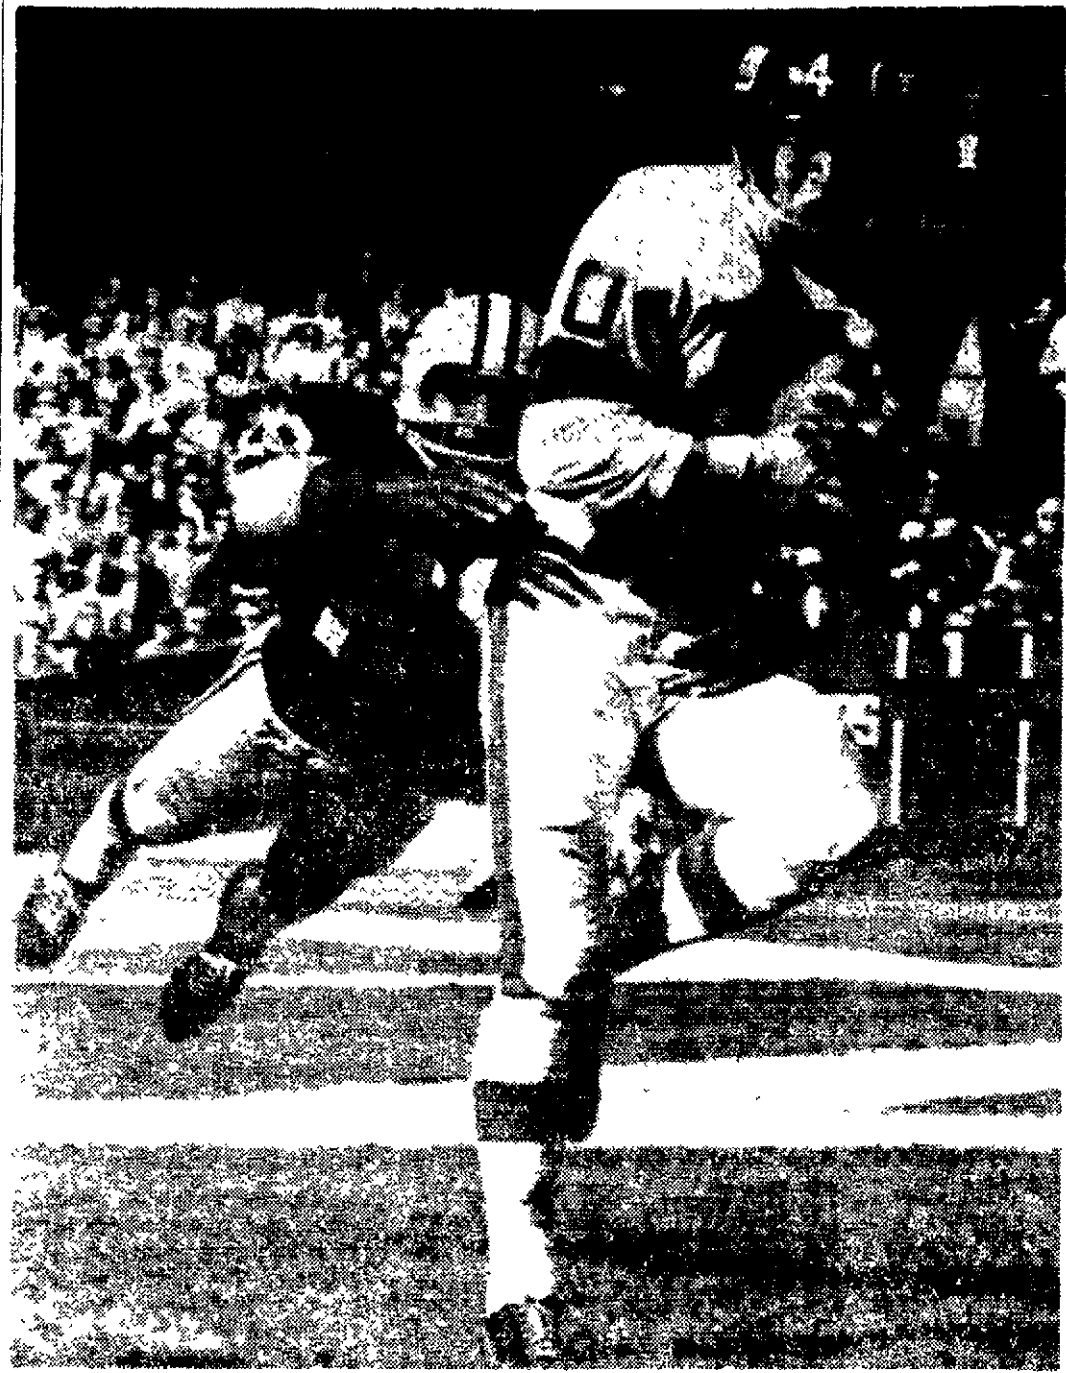

Getting more specific, he told the assemblage of primarily New York sportswriters, "We feel we must run. When we run, everything goes well for us. If not, it's tough."

The Packers ran Sunday. Elijah Pitts and Jim Grabowski slashed their way to gain after gain. Much of the yardage was claimed over the right side of the Packer line, though Lombardi said it was not necessarily in the Packer plan to go that way.

But Forrest Gregg, the right tackle who obviously was instrumental in this success, explained, "We ran the sweep that way early and it worked real well. There was no particular reason we ran plays that way but when they worked we stayed with them. Elijah and Grabowski ran beautifully and Marv Fleming was getting out there on the linebacker. That option pass (by Pitts) came off the same play we ran all day and that's why it worked so well."

Lombardi, naturally, credited

Cards Crush Eagles, 48-14; Hart Sparkles

Young Quarterback Fires 4 Touchdown Passes for St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Hart passed for four touchdowns and a tenacious defense led the St. Louis Cardinals to a crushing 48-14 victory over Philadelphia in a National Football League game Sunday.

The Cardinals, after spotting Philadelphia an 11-point lead in the first period, took the lead for good with 15 seconds to play in the first half when Hart hit rookie Dave Williams on a 14-yard scoring pass.

The victory raised the Cardinals' record in the Eastern Conference's Century Division to 4-2. Philadelphia dropped to 3-3 in the Eastern's Capitol Division.

Hart hit 16 of 29 passes for 267 yards. Charlie Johnson, ticketed to be St. Louis' No. 1 quarterback until he was drafted into the Army in August, played the final three minutes. Johnson had a weekend pass.

Hart also hit Jackie Smith for touchdowns of 74 and eight yards and found Bobby Joe Conrad for a 31-yard scoring pass.

John Roland bulled over from the three for still another touchdown and defensive back Pat Fischer picked off a Norm Snead pass and ran 69 yards for a third period touchdown.

The Eagles jumped into the scoring column quickly, Snead passing to end Jim Kelly for a 14-yard touchdown. Snead then hit on an 87-yard pass play to speedy Ben Hawkins, who took the ball at the St. Louis 45 and raced over.

Jim Bakken of St. Louis converted a 32-yard field goal in the first period, pushing his record string of consecutive games in which he has kicked at least one field goal to 17.

Ryan, Browns Humble Bears

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Sayers, the Bears' brilliant Ryan trotted out of the locker room, sat out the game with a room in the third quarter and bruise on his left leg. He was thrown a nine-yard touchdown injured two weeks ago but pass to Gary Collins that started played against the Detroit Lions the Cleveland Browns to a 24-0 a week ago and gained 142 National Football League victory yards Sunday over the Chicago Bears. The leg was heavily taped and Sayers, who played without Gale Sayers, said he "would have been able to play" against the Bears.

Ryan left the game with 7-2 Browns, but he hurt his leg minutes left in the third quarter again during a pregame warm-up after he was hit while passing, up. "He pulled the muscle on the Browns' quarterback was a quick start," said Coach given medical treatment for a George Halas. "I was just jog-bruise on his chest while Dick ging down the sidelines and suddenly hurt it," Sayers said. "I Ryan came back in a few knew I wasn't going in there minutes and completed three after hurting it." passes on a 49-yard drive with Cleveland stopped the Bears Collins giving the Browns a 7-0 in the second half and the lead with 1:22 left in the quarter Browns got into gear after the touchdown pass to Collins. Leroy Kelly raced 22 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter. Lou Groza booted a 24-yard field goal and Ryan threw a six-yard touchdown pass to Collins after end Bill Glass intercepted a deflected pass from Jack Concannon.

It was the Browns' fourth straight victory and their first shutout in regular season play since their 42-0 triumph over the Bears in 1960.

Chicago had Concannon at quarterback in the first half and Coach George Halas started Rudy Bukich after the intermission.

Hulme Takes World Driving Championship

Finishes Behind Clark, Brabham In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Denis Hulme, world driving champion and New Zealand's latest example of how to beat a man at his own game, is a king in search of a mount.

Hulme won the driving title Sunday with a surprise third place in the Mexican Grand Prix. Jim Clark of Scotland won the auto race in spectacular fashion but had no hope of keeping the title out of New Zealand or Australian hands.

The quiet Kiwi is the first New Zealander to win the championship invented by Europeans but he's not sure he'll try for a repeat in 1968 in the same type car he drove this year.

"I'll decide in a month or two what I'll do," Hulme said. "I don't know yet whose car I'll drive next year."

Edges Out Boss

Hulme, who progressed from mechanic to number two driver for Jack Brabham of Australia, edged out his boss in the championship standings although Brabham was second to Clark in Sunday's race.

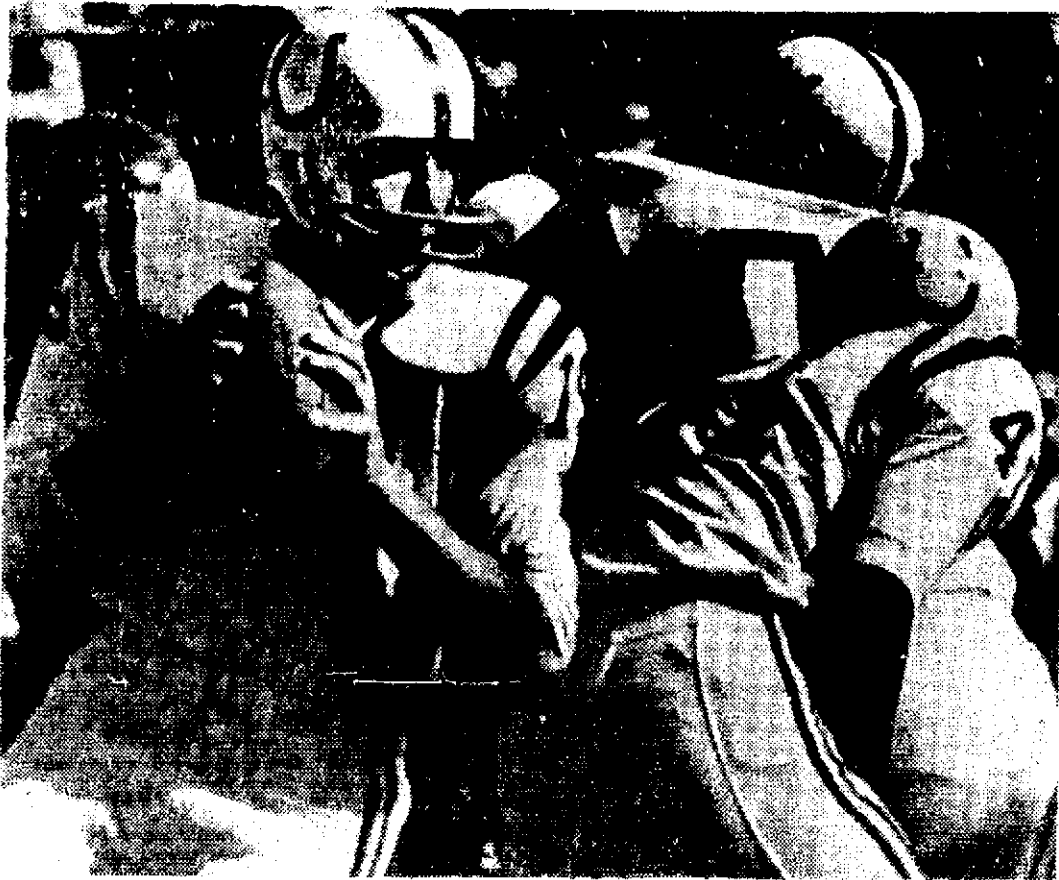

Brabham had to win Sunday, and Hulme finish fifth or worse, for Brabham to win the title for the fourth time and repeat his 1966 championship.

Clark's Ford-powered Lotus 49 was so much superior in speed and handling on the wind-tung five-kilometer Magdalena course that Brabham ball League, matched passes — and everyone else in the field shot-for-shot with the brilliant — saw there was no hope unless Johnny Unitas Sunday, then something happened to Clark's spoke in near reverence about his illustrious foe.

Nothing did as the Scot set lap records and race records to win from watching him," Kapp said in 1 hour, 58 minutes, 28.70 sec. of Unitas. "He's the best."

In inched from 2 wins, 3 seconds, 3 the process, Unitas broke the thirds and a fourth, Brabham all-time NFL record for pass: had 46 points from eight finishes completions, cranking the mark — 2 wins, 4 seconds, a fourth held by Y.A. Tittle.

Unitas, Kapp Even

Colts Forced to Come From Behind Twice to Tie Minnesota, 20-20

By LEW FERGUSON

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL

(AP)—Joe Kapp, himself an eight-year pro veteran but still

Magdalena a neophyte in the National Football League, matched passes — and everyone else in the field shot-for-shot with the brilliant — saw there was no hope unless Johnny Unitas Sunday, then something happened to Clark's spoke in near reverence about his illustrious foe.

"Any quarterback can learn records and race records to win from watching him," Kapp said in 1 hour, 58 minutes, 28.70 sec. of Unitas. "He's the best."

Kapp had just watched Unitas

do what he does best — rally the Hulme ended the season with Baltimore Colts to a 20-20 tie

51 championship points, fast with the Minnesota Vikings. In inched from 2 wins, 3 seconds, 3 the process, Unitas broke the thirds and a fourth, Brabham all-time NFL record for pass:

had 46 points from eight finishes completions, cranking the mark

— 2 wins, 4 seconds, a fourth held by Y.A. Tittle.

and a sixth. Clark had 41 points. The Vikings had leads of 13-6 on 4 wins, a third and one sixth, and 20-13, but each time Unitas fired the Colts on 80-yard touch-

passing.

But it was to Kapp's credit, that the Vikings forced Unitas

and the Colts to sweat out a tie

— their second against four victories this season as the NFL's only undefeated team.

Held 13-6 Lead

yards to a touchdown and 50 yards to a field goal as Minneapolis built a 13-6 lead after three quarters.

Unitas then steered the Colts

80 yards to tie, but Kapp and the Vikings stormed right back with an 80-yard march of their own to open a 20-13 lead.

Not to be outdone, Unitas

equalled that with a second 80-yard sortie, passing three yards to John Mackey for the tying touchdown.

Unitas completed 20 of 34 passes for 235 yards, but threw one interception—which took away Baltimore's last chance to pull out a victory in the final minute when they were nearly

Michaelis.

Kapp hit on 15 of 25 for 202 yards and hit Jim Phillips with an 11-yard touchdown pass for the score that made it 20-13.

Praises Quarterbacking

For that drive, Colts' Coach

Don Shula had nothing but praise for Kapp, an eight-year

Canadian Football League vet who came to the Vikings just

the British Columbia Lions.

"Kapp moved the Vikings

when he had to move them," Shula said. "He had everything against him on that last drive—that strong wind in his face and 80 yards to the goal line. But he was equal to the challenge."

Unitas, whose 20 completions gave him 2,131 in his career—wiping out Tittle's record of 2,118—said he "never paid much attention to records: maybe I will someday."

He was more concerned about the interception by Karl Kas-sulke that took away the Colts' last chance to pull it out.

"I was just trying to make 15 to 17 yards on the play to get us within field goal range," Unitas said. "Kassulke turned inside, saw the ball coming and intercepted it. He made a great play."

Black Hawks Sink Deeper Into Cellar

Kings Stay Unbeaten With 5-3 Comeback Win Over Chicago

By HAL ROCK

Associated Press Sports Writer Los Angeles' laughing stock Kings are the National Hockey League's only undefeated team and maybe NHL's expansion draft wasn't so funny after all.

The Kings selected veteran goalie Terry Sawchuk in the draft and surrounded him with a band of inexperienced youngsters, prompting the consensus that they had done the poorest job of picking. So naturally, they're leading the NHL's expansion West Division.

Sawchuk made his first start Sunday night and was brilliant, as the Kings ripped Chicago 5-3. It was the sixth straight loss for the limping Black Hawks — the second in two nights against expansion teams — and showed Chicago deeper into the East Division cellar.

Fire 57 Shots

Elsewhere, New York showed 57 shots at Pittsburgh goalie Les Binkley and topped the Penguins 6-4. Philadelphia won its third straight, trouncing California 5-2 and Paul Henderson's third period goal gave Detroit a 1-0 decision over St. Louis and Glenn Hall.

In Saturday night's games, New York stopped Toronto 5-3, Montreal whipped Boston 4-2, Pittsburgh slugged Chicago 4-2, Minnesota topped California 3-1 and St. Louis battled to a 3-3 tie with Los Angeles.

Sawchuk, 37, kicked out 42 shots — 19 of them in the final period — as the Black Hawks buzzed around Los Angeles' goal. The Kings erased a 2-0 Chicago lead, scoring four times in the second period. Bill Flett, Brian Kilrea, Lowell MacDonald and Brian Smith scored the goals.

Los Angeles' five goal scorers had a total of 109 NHL games experience before this season — exactly 800 less than Sawchuk has played.

Pair of Goals

Orland Kurtenbach scored two goals for the Rangers who pounded away at Binkley and finally broke the game open in the third period.

Henderson's goal with just under five minutes left in the game, beat Hall for the Red Wings. Bruer MacGregor's pass set Henderson up against Hall, who had kept St. Louis in the game with a series of brilliant saves.

The shutout was the first for Detroit's Roger Crozier since last Dec. 18. He made 30 stops.

Five different players scored for Philadelphia against California as the expansion Flyers won their third straight and moved into second place in the West, two points behind Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams drove 75 yards for a touchdown in the fading minutes to tie Washington, 28-28, after playing catch-up ball all Sunday afternoon in the heroics of the Redskins' brilliant quarterback Sonny Jurgensen.

Roman Gabriel threw the tying strike to Bernie Casey from six yards out with 1:04 remaining in the game.

Moments earlier it appeared that Washington would escape the jinx which had plagued them in their last two games when they lost and were tied in a total of 12 seconds.

Playing in beautiful weather before 55,381 fans in the Memorial Coliseum, Rickie Harris returned a punt by the Rams' John Kilgore 51 yards, and on the next play Jurgensen completed a 39-yard pass to Jerry Smith for the go-ahead touchdown.

Jurgensen fired four touchdown passes opening up with one for 86 yards to Charley Taylor in the first quarter.

The Rams scored two touchdowns in the second quarter for a 14-14 deadlock at the half. Jurgensen, who completed 18 of 31 throws for 331 yards, found Smith for a score on a 14-yard toss in the second quarter, an other for 21 in the third and the other in the fourth.

Gabriel completed a 61-yard pass to Jack Snow for a touchdown and his second went to Casey for the final tally.

By BILL HALIS

DETROIT (AP) — Karl Sweetan, starting his first game of the season, broke open a tight defensive battle with two fourth quarter scoring strikes, carrying the Detroit Lions to a 24-3 National Football League victory over the Atlanta Falcons Sunday.

Sweetan, held in check most of the afternoon by the Falcon defense, hit Tom Nowatzke with a 25-yard touchdown pass, then fired a 10-yard scoring aerial to Bill Malinchak.

The victory snapped a three-game Detroit losing streak. Detroit has won two of six games with one ending in a tie.

The loss was winless Atlanta's fifth. They have tied one game.

Neither team could muster much of an offense in the first half which was marked by numerous errors by both teams.

Detroit scored in the first quarter when cornerback Len Barney, a rookie from Jackson State stepped in front of Atlan-

U.S. Golfers Again Trounce British Unit

By WILL GRIMSLEY
HOUSTON (AP) — It's not the muscle, the power or the tournament experience that gives American golf pros a wide edge over their British cousins — it's the touch on the greens.

Both U.S. and British players agreed on this point today as they reviewed another one-sided American victory in the biennial Ryder Cup competition.

Led by Arnold Palmer and ta's Tommy McDonald, picked off a Terry Nofsinger pass and raced 44 yards untouched for the touchdown.

Atlanta cut the margin to 7-3 halfway through the second quarter on a 34-yard field goal by Wade Traynham. Defensive back Floyd Hudlow set up the play with a pass interception.

The Lions took the next kickoff and marched to the Atlanta 15 in six plays where Wayne Walker booted a 22-yard field goal. Walker missed two other field goal attempts from 37 and 45 yards.

Gardner Dickinson, each of whom figured in five winning points while losing none, the Yanks clobbered the best pros from the British Isles, 23½ points to 8½.

It was the 14th team victory for the United States in the 40 years of the competition. Americans have lost only three times — always on British courses. Over here, it's hardly a contest. "It's ridiculous," said one high-placed British golf spokesman who preferred that his name not be used. "We are no match for you Yanks. We must change the format if we're to keep it interesting, maybe bring in the rest of the Commonwealth."

The British undoubtedly could give the Americans a good fight if they wanted to take in players from Australia, Canada and New Zealand.

"I am keenly disappointed we didn't make a better showing," said Dai Rees, the little Welsh nonplaying captain of the invading forces. "The matches were much closer than the over-all final score. With a break here, and there, we could have made the score sound much more interesting."

"Unquestionably, the United sore shoulder.

"Putting is the big difference," acknowledged Alliss, rated Britain's best player. "The Americans go for the cup and, if they miss, may go five feet past. We are inclined to lag up."

"Your fellows are better around the greens," added Coles, who scored two victories over Doug Sanders by 2 and 1 in Sunday's final singles matches.

The Americans won nine of the final head-to-head individual duels, losing four and halving three.

Palmer was four under par for the day in beating young Tony Jacklin, 3 and 2, and Brian Huggett, 5 and 3. Al Geiberger also had two wins for the U.S. side, beating Malcolm Gregson twice, 4 and 2 and 2 and 1.

Pitts Scores 3 TDs As Packers Rip Giants

Robinson, which led to a critical third quarter field goal, also large in the final accounting.

So did another pertinent factor — a welcome absence of errors. The Packers, victimized by 15 turnovers in their first three games, had no interceptions or lost fumbles to inconvenience them on this sun-kissed occasion, witnessed by a capacity house of 62,585 customers.

"I wasn't hitting well in the first half, but I just thought we kept control of the ball better in the second half. Starr, who threw his first touchdown pass of the season in the fourth quarter when he hit a 'Jone-some' Grabowski, explained. "We just began to realize the things we wanted to do were there, and things worked out really well for us in the second half."

"The Giants also did a great job offensively in the first half, so we didn't have the ball too much during that time," he pointed out.

Credits Line

"I think, sincerely, you should give a great deal of credit to our offensive line," Bart added. "They blocked one whale of a game today."

"There was a lot of leather popping out there," Bart chuckled, feigning a wince at the memory. "You could hear it all over the field."

Although he had found it necessary to run from an original passing situation three times, Starr escaped unscathed, he reported, noting, "I feel fine."

He had felt no strangeness, he added, in his first competitive appearance at the throttle in nearly three weeks, but admitted, "It takes a little while to get back in there again."

The long suffering Giants, it is safe to assume, found it difficult to believe he had been away. Although Starr was not his old, precise self in the early minutes, his play calling artistry had not dulled and, after he regained his passing touch, Allie Sherman's disciples were at his mercy.

Staying primarily on the ground, (45 of the Pack's 68 plays were rushes), he directed a crunching assault, the likes of which hasn't been seen since the Bays rolled up 248 land yards in routing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 34-14, at Milwaukee Nov. 3, 1963. Spearheaded by Pitts and Grabowski, who amassed 195 yards between them, it was concentrated against the left side of the Giants' defensive line.

A Little Harder

The Pack's rushing success was due in part, Pitts said, to sheer abandon. "I think the backs ran a little harder today," he observed. "Instead of looking, we ran harder . . . that's what you have to do in this league to make yards."

The nation's football had contributed no little to this determination, the pride of Philander Smith informed. "I think everybody has a certain amount of pride," he said soberly, noting, "Everybody was saying we were finished and we were over the hill."

"It was just a matter of pride to come back and show the world that such was not the case . . . We thought we'd better go out there and do the job so the defense could rest a little. That which hasn't been seen since the Bays rolled up 248 land yards in routing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 34-14, at Milwaukee Nov. 3, 1963. His first touchdown of a large personal afternoon ("I don't know if it's the first 3-touchdown day I've had, but it's one of the few, I can say that," he chuckled) came early.

The catalyst was free safety Willie Wood, who intercepted a Fran Tarkenton pass that had ricocheted off tight end Aaron Thomas and returned it 20 yards down the northern sidelines to the Giant 19.

Five plays later, after Starr had run to his left from pass formation for four yards and a first down at the four, Pitts dipped outside right tackle and charged into the end zone with 7:55 gone in the first quarter.

The Giants, with a new, unpredictable personality as the result of Tarkenton's arrival upon the scene, equalized matters early in the second quarter, surging 80 yards in 13 plays. No. 13 was a 22-yard pass to jet-like Homer Jones who, through an apparent coverage mixup, was a lonely figure at the Packer 5 when the ball arrived.

If this caused no alarm, a repeat performance by Shersituation early in the third quarter, sweeping 62 yards in nine plays to score following the second half kickoff.

Here again Pitts did the honors — on the same basic play that had produced the first TD, a cut back inside right tackle from six yards out with 5:35 elapsed, which shot the Pack into a 17-14 lead.

Robinson next moved front and center, intercepting a pass that bounced off Morrison and returning it to the New York 32. But a Giant safety blitz on first down felled Starr for a 12-yard loss and foiled the opportunity.

Robbie is not, however, easily turned aside. On first down, following a Donny Anderson punt, he waylaid another Tarkenton pitch on the north side lines, stepping out of bounds at the Giant 36 as he did so. Four plays later, Chandler drilled home a 36-yard field goal to mount a 20-14 lead.

The Packers nursed this somewhat tenuous margin until

Finley Signs Joe DiMaggio

Former Playing Great to Serve As Vice President

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, one of baseball's all-time greats, is back in the game as executive vice president of the new Oakland Athletics.

DiMaggio signed a two-year contract to run the club for Charles O. Finley, the insurance tycoon who last week succeeded in getting his American League franchise shifted from Kansas City to Oakland.

"I'm looking forward to working with Joe DiMaggio, one of the greatest names in the history of baseball," Finley said Sunday. "I'm tremendously pleased Joe is joining the Athletics. His knowledge of the game and reputation will be a great help to our young players."

Finley said DiMaggio, 52-year-old native of San Francisco, will consult and advise on personnel, player transactions, community relations and promotions.

Starr-to-Grabow collaboration, which found the youthful Illinois immortal alone behind a frantically retreating Bill Swain. They subsequently hammered out their final TD — with Zeke Bratkowski at QB — exclusively on the ground, Anderson sweeping the final seven yards with only 11 seconds remaining in the mounting a 6-play, 76-yard drive game to cap a 9-yard, 57-match of their own, climaxed by a 38-

Last of Pentagon Protesters Hauled in by Federal Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. marshals hauled a last-stand group of Vietnam war protesters from Pentagon grounds center at Ocequan, Va., where early today, ending a some-what of the 439 persons arrested times-violent weekend rally and earlier had been taken march on the troop-surrounded military nerve center of the nation.

Sponsors hailed the demonstration as the birth of a new peace movement.

Thousands participated. Hundreds were arrested. Dozens were injured. And a few got inside the huge five-sided building.

Heidi Nips Bermuda, Heads for Open Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Heidi offered only a threat to ships at sea today as she moved away from land far out in the Atlantic, the National Hurricane Center said.

At noon EDT, Heidi was centered near Latitude 33.6 North, Longitude 58.2 West, or about 400 miles east-northeast of Bermuda and 1,750 miles east-northeast of Miami.

The storm, moving east-northeast at 25 miles an hour, was expected to decrease in intensity Tuesday.

Ships which radioed reports on Heidi were reported changing course to avoid the storm. Forecasters said Bermuda and the U.S. mainland would not be endangered if Heidi maintained her course.

Highest winds were 85 m.p.h. near the center with gales extending out 200 miles to the northeast and 100 miles to the southwest of the center.

Heidi moved out of range of land-based radar on Bermuda shortly after midnight, hitting the resort island with winds of only about 15 m.p.h.

Vietnamese Elect Varied Lower House

Sunday Voting Marred Only by Scatter Violence

SAIGON (AP) — Weary tabulators continued to sort winners today from among 1,200 candidates for South Vietnam's House of Representatives and the only assurance with two thirds of the 137 seats decided was that the body would be widely varied.

More than 24 hours after the polls closed on the quietest election the nation has experienced in the past 13 months, about 45 seats were still in doubt.

The candidates assured of victory in Sunday's voting ranged from government supporters to some thinly disguised neutralists. It remained impossible to assess the political complexion of the assembly.

Officials said that the final unofficial tallies should be available by tonight, except for some from remote provinces.

Both Houses Varied

The known returns insured that the government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu, who will be inaugurated Oct. 31, will have to deal with both a House and a Senate of varied political hues.

The 60-man Senate elected last month divided more or less along opposition, pro-government and independent lines. The House promises to split into even more groups.

Outwardly this would make Thieu's prospects a bit gloomy. However, much horse trading remains to be done before the new constitutional institutions shake down.

South Vietnamese officials and the U.S. Embassy were generally content with the turnout — 72.9 per cent of the nation's 5.8 million registered voters.

While this fell well below the 83 per cent in September's presidential election it was considered a respectable figure in a war-torn nation with the Communist guerrillas threatening terror at the polling places. The threatened terror largely failed to materialize.

Official government figures said six South Vietnamese soldiers and six civilians died in the terrorist incidents on election day.

Weekend Accidents Fatal to 13 Crash Kills Young Chilton Mother

A young mother of two died in a mutilated wreckage on Chilton's Main Street Saturday night, one of 13 persons killed on Wisconsin's streets and highways over the weekend.

Mrs. Dennis Demes, 22, 507 Maple Street, Chilton, was riding with her 23-year-old husband shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday when the vehicle apparently went out of control and struck a utility pole. Her husband was listed in serious condition today at Calumet Memorial Hospital.

Authorities said they didn't know which person was driving the car, as both were thrown from the wreckage. The vehicle was headed west on E. Main Street when it veered across the road and struck a light pole, coming to rest a short distance from the standard.

The vehicle's engine was found in a lot about 100 feet from the crash, while the transmission was thrown 40 feet to the opposite side of the road, ending up on top of a building.

Mrs. Demes died of multiple fractures and probable internal injuries. Her husband sustained a skull fracture, dislocated right hip and head lacerations.

The Demeses have two children, 2-year-old Tommy and 8-month-old Lisa.

Elmer F. Ewig, 65, of Sheboygan was fatally injured Sunday night when his car hit a utility pole after swerving off U.S. 141 six miles south of Sheboygan.

Millard Thomas, 54, of rural Dodgeville was fatally injured Sunday in a two-car accident on an Iowa County road eight miles northwest of Dodgeville.

Joseph Magno, 83, of Kenosha was killed Sunday when hit by a car while walking to church.

Beverly Pearson, 16, of rural La Crosse, was injured fatally when her car struck a utility pole after skidding out of control on U.S. 16 west of Sparta. State Highway Patrolman Gerald Johnson said he had been chasing the car.

In an accident outside Wisconsin, Miss Sharon Eymann, 20, was killed and three other Milwaukee residents were injured when a car overturned on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Sunday. Pennsylvania State police said the party was returning from a demonstration in Washington.

Inez Marie Tooker, 54, of St. Paul, Minn., died Sunday night in a two-car crash on U.S. 12 near Fairchild in Eau Claire County. Four other persons were taken to a Rice Lake hospital.

Douglas Slaght, 17, of rural Cassville was killed late Sunday when his car struck a guard rail beside State 81 near that Grant County community and veered into a guard rail on the opposite side of the pavement.

Sinking of Destroyer Is Blamed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel's angry mood hardened in bitter official statements today and Egyptian officials said they expect an attack "anytime" to avenge Egypt's sinking of an Israeli destroyer in what may have been one of warfare's first sea-to-sea missile raids.

Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol called the sinking of the destroyer Elath Saturday "an act of war in open sea" and said "this despicable attack was launched without any cause."

Egypt's Cabinet asserted the warship was in its territorial waters when missiles shattered it. The exchange came as Soviet Deputy Defense Minister Marshal Matvei Zakharov arrived in Cairo unannounced and President Gamal Abdel Nasser called his ministers together to discuss what the semi-official newspaper Al Ahran reported were "the eventualities of the situation."

The purpose of Zakharov's mission was not disclosed, but the commander of Israel's navy said he believed "Soviet missiles fired from Soviet ships supplied to the Egyptian navy" sank the Elath, killing 17 of her crew of 202, wounding 46 more and leaving 36 unaccounted for.

Former Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, speaking at his 81st birthday party, said the missiles were not fired by Egyptians. He would not name, however, those persons he said launched them.

"Constant Alert"

In Cairo, an Egyptian official told The Associated Press: "We expect renewed Israeli aggression anytime. Our armed forces are constantly on alert."

Eshkol reflected the angry mood of his countrymen in a broadcast to the nation. "It was a deliberate and unprovoked attack," he said. "The blood of our sailors, like the blood of our civilians and soldiers, will not be shed wantonly."

It was disclosed meanwhile

Worker Goes Berserk, Shooting Spree Kills 5

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Five fellow workers were killed today by a berserk paper mill employee who led police on a trail of bullets and blood before he was captured. Eight persons were wounded in the hail of bullets before they broke into the house and seized him. His condition at Lock Haven Hospital was not serious.

Leo Held, 39-year-old lab technician for the Hammernill Paper Co., barricaded himself in his nearby Loganton home after his wild and apparently unconnected shootings. He engaged in a shootout with a dozen state and local police.

Bullets struck him in the arms and legs as he sprayed answering shots at the officers before they broke into the house and seized him. His condition at Lock Haven Hospital was not serious.

Humphrey to Stop In Kuala Lumpur

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will visit Malaysia and Indonesia after the inauguration in Saigon of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu Oct. 31.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said today, Humphrey will visit Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian capital, from Nov. 1-2 and Jakarta Nov. 3-7.

The Malaysian government officially announced plans for Humphrey's visit here with a one-sentence statement distributed to newsmen.

Police said Held fired quickly, but very accurately, cutting down nine persons. Five were pronounced dead at the hospital and three others are in critical condition.

Then he ran out to the Lack Haven Airport, where the Piper plant is located. There he fired once, striking a girl office worker as she started to open the Pi-per company door.

Police said Held drove off again, apparently heading straight for his Loganton home, 17 miles southeast. En route, he pumped out more bullets from weapons he carried—police

LBJ, RFK, Both Trail in Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — following his Sept. 5 statement about having been "brainwashed" by the Johnson administration on Vietnam.

Nixon's percentage was 42 per cent, compared with 40 in late September and 35 in early September. Rockefeller's figures were 18, 17, and 14 per cent. Romney's dropped from 24 per cent in early September to 14 per cent late in the month and 13 per cent at present.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who went from 11 per cent in early September to 16 per cent later in the month, now shows 14 per cent.

Suppose the presidential election were held today. If (candidate's name) were the Democratic candidate and (candidate's name) were the Republican candidate, which would you like to see win?"

Ahead First Time

A Nixon-Johnson race showed 49 per cent for Nixon, 45 per cent for the President and 6 per cent undecided. It was the first time that Nixon has shown greater strength than Johnson in the Gallup Poll.

Despite his insistence that he is not a candidate, Rockefeller holds an even wider lead over the President—54 per cent to 40 per cent with 6 per cent undecided.

The latest poll also showed Gov. George Romney of Michigan defeating Johnson, 48 per cent to 45 per cent with 7 per cent undecided.

In races against Sen. Kennedy, Nixon holds a lead of 48 per cent to 47 per cent with 5 per cent undecided and Rockefeller's edge is 47 per cent to 46 per cent with 7 per cent undecided.

A survey to determine whom voters favor as the GOP candidate showed that Nixon and Rockefeller were gaining support while Romney failed to recover the support he lost

Conflict in Vietnam Is Not a Holy War

Editor, Post-Crescent.

A letter by Mrs. Al Balthazor appeared in the Oct. 15 issue of The Post-Crescent in which she advocated that the "United States must win the war to save Christianity." I question her reasons and her use of the term Christian nation.

She stated that America must win the war in Vietnam and those who have fled from the north seeking refuge. What about Christians in Red China and Russia, are we to free them also? But more important than the Christians are the non-Christians in South Vietnam. Those who are not Christians are of prime importance to Christ. Luke 19:20, "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." To neglect the non-Christian is to neglect Christ's mission.

She stated that America must win the war to renew the confidence and hope of depressed people. Paradoxically, the power America possesses may renew the confidence and hope of South Vietnam while at the same time casting a shadow of fear and distrust over the face of America. Our distrust is seen in a prevailing undercurrent of unknown fear.

Finally she stated that if America cannot bring confidence and hope to the depressed, what other Christian nation could champion the ideals of Christian mercy and charity. If this infers that America is the only Christian nation then the statement is narrow in its viewpoint. If this infers that America is the only nation to possess the power to champion the ideals of Christian mercy and charity, this presents a problem. For if only through power and might American can champion its ideals, we are not

Marine Prefers Vietnam Service

"I would go back if I had more time in the service," said Marine Sgt. Steve Barney of Appleton, who has just returned from 19 months duty in South Vietnam.

displaying Christian mercy and charity.

In reference to the term Christian nation I believe it is used incorrectly. America is not a Christian nation, Britain is not a Christian nation, South Vietnam is not a Christian nation. In order to have a Christian nation, members must be followers of Christ. Christian means Christ-like and implies a knowledge of and a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

While the stand I have taken in this letter does not mean that I am against our involvement in Vietnam, it does mean that I do not believe that this is a holy war.

Sgt. Barney, an 81 mm. mortarman in the Marine 1st Division's 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines, went to Vietnam in January, 1966. After 13 months in the Southeast Asian country, he reapplied for assignment there and remained until last month.

Sgt. Barney served in several areas of Vietnam under a variety of battle conditions. Chu Lai, about 40 miles south of DaNang, was the first stop.

Sgt. Steve Barney

Beginning in September, 1966, he participated in several multi-battalion marine operations along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), all the way from Dong Ha on the west to Da Nang on the east.

Protecting Industry

After December, 1966, he went to An Hoa, about 23 miles southwest of Da Nang, where he participated in securing and protecting a key industrial area.

His original Vietnam assignment "didn't really bother" Sgt. Barney, although he did admit to certain presuppositions about the country and the fighting.

"Before landing, I was expecting to see a lot of jungle like you see on the Tarzan movies," Sgt. Barney said. "And I expected a lot of fighting."

Both these suppositions were wrong, at least at Chu Lai. But while there, Sgt. Barney got to know the Vietnamese people.

"They're a very likeable people," the sergeant said, admitting at the same time that initial contact with them was at times difficult.

"But once you won them over, they would remain your friend," he added.

Along the DMZ and at An Hoa, military action took precedence over contacts with the people.

The sergeant said his platoon made contact with the enemy on every operation along the DMZ.

"When we arrived at An Hoa, the sergeant recalled, "it had just been overrun. We had to rebuild the base and set up Cong. On the other hand, are not control. It was a nervous, as well equipped, nor are there month."

The fighting in the northern provinces was tougher because, it meant fighting the more organized and better equipped soldiers of the North Vietnamese Army (NVA). He admitted a high respect for the Communists, fighting ability.

"They're good fighters and they're well-disciplined," the sergeant noted. "The one big advantage we had over them was our artillery and air support."

He added that the NVA is better equipped than the Viet Cong, and they know how to use the weapons they're supplied they want.

Contrary to recent reports from Con Thien and other areas of Vietnam. Sgt. Barney felt, "The morale of our troops is high. They feel they're over there to do a job, and they're going ahead and doing it."

"I think we're progressing a lot faster than we were before," he said. "We can find the enemy a lot easier now, and there are a lot more secure areas than when I first came over."

What does the sergeant feel he's gained from his experiences in Vietnam?

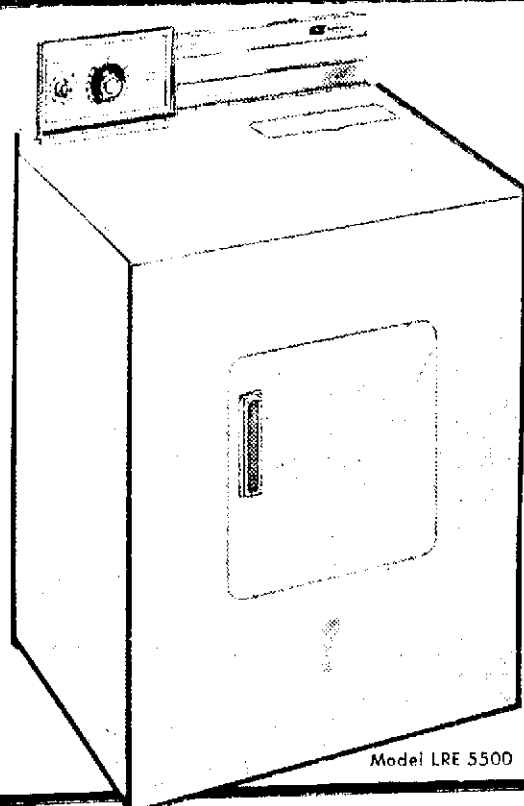

"I feel I'm a more mature person," he said. "I think it's given me a more serious outlook on life."

Consumer Protection Urged for Wisconsin By Attorney General

Prevent Haven for Con Men, Outagamie Credit Unions Told

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DARBOY — New legislation for the protection of the consumer was urged by Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette to prevent Wisconsin from becoming "a haven for the con man."

Speaking before a record audience of the Outagamie County Chapter of Credit Unions, LaFollette praised the credit movement for the work done in consumer protection.

Max E. Hamilton Ran Food Company In New London

Max E. Hamilton, 75, 1717 S. Connell St., Appleton, president of the Hamilton & Sons Canning Company and Foods, Inc., New London, died at 4:30 a.m. Monday after a brief illness.

There are criminal code laws on the books, he said, but they are practically impossible to enforce because of the preponderance of evidence needed for conviction. Under civil laws enacted by neighboring states, LaFollette added, it often is possible to make recoveries without going to court.

Takes Issue

The attorney general took issue with business men who sought to discredit "consumerism." "The same ones who give lip service to the free enterprise system are those who conspire to fix prices," he said.

A customer needs to be a "mathematical genius" to determine which box of soap is the cheapest, LaFollette said. "There is no protection from packages of air." He said it was essential to give the consumer the information he needed at the point of sale to make the free enterprise system work.

LaFollette termed the merchandising of credit as important as the merchandising of a product and criticized the misleading of the public on terms of interest rates by some lending institutions and businesses.

Indiscriminate Mailing

In the same line, he also criticized the present practice of many financial institutions in mailing out credit cards indiscriminately to persons who have not asked for them. He said that credit card thefts have increased 400 per cent in the last two years and that indiscriminate mailing has contributed to this increase.

He urged legislation similar to that of Illinois which provides that no person is liable for purchases made with an unsolicited card if neither he nor his family benefit from the purchase or unless the card had been accepted by signature. Under the Illinois law, failure to destroy or return the unsolicited card does not constitute acceptance of it.

"Don't let the slogan 'We Like It Here' become the slogan of the con men," LaFollette urged.

More than 425 persons representing 39 of the 45 credit unions in Outagamie County were presented at management night dinner. The attendance was termed the largest ever in the history of the county chapter.

Max E. Hamilton, 75, 1717 S. Connell St., Appleton, president of the Hamilton & Sons Canning Company and Foods, Inc., New London, died at 4:30 a.m. Monday after a brief illness.

Mr. Max E. Hamilton

Although a native of Buenos Aires, Argentina, he had been a resident of Appleton for the past 45 years.

Hamilton served with the U. S. Army in World War I and was a charter member of the American Legion, joining in Paris. He also was a member of the New London Morris-Spencer post.

Club Member

He was a member of the Butte Des Morts Country Club, Masonic Lodge No. 451, F & A M, Tripoli Shrine at Appleton and Milwaukee and the First Methodist Church, Appleton.

Survivors are his widow, one son, two brothers and a sister. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Wichman Funeral Home in Appleton. Friends may call after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

UW Professor Labels Rioting Students Called Anarchists

The hard core of 50 to 75 students who started the demonstration which turned into a riot Thursday, and who start all of these things "are anarchists at heart, and totally nihilistic in their approach."

This was the view of Dr. James L. McCamy, professor of political science since 1947 at the University of Wisconsin (UW) Madison campus, who has been visiting and lecturing this week at the UW Fox Valley Center.

In an interview Friday, McCamy said he had read every work written in three papers about the riot in which 75 were injured, including 10 policemen, and has watched the Green Bay television stations and listened to their interpretations.

As a faculty member who is kept informed on who the hard core members are, and what they want, "I'm forced to agree with the chancellor that charges must be preferred against these students," he said, and added, "If we let them have their way, we would have no university at all, because they are against all disciplines at the university or in society."

Feather Dusters

Imagine 30 policemen against 50 tough students, and some of them girls, McCamy said. "How do you, if you are a policeman, called in the first place because force was needed, combat a situation like this without using force?"

"Should we send our police out with feather dusters?" McCamy asked.

At the first poke of a police stick, someone who wants to make newspaper headlines yells "police brutality," and the reactions of an excited crowd provide the headlines, McCamy said.

Referring to the warrants, suspensions and possible expulsions, McCamy said with a 33,000 student body there are serious enough infractions almost every day to cause the expelling of students. No final action is taken against students, he said until they have been before the student conduct and appeals committee.

Persuasive in Aims

He said that after the riots last Spring, the faculty, in a meeting that filled the Union Theatre, set a policy that defined "any action that obstructs normal functions of the university as unpermissible." The chancellor is just carrying out this policy, McCamy said.

McCamy said the leaders of the hard core are "very persuasive in their aims for a scientific revolution; arguments against the immorality of war and talk about deception in bureaucracy, including university presidents, deans, mayors, and business executives."

Unfortunately, these few students out of a campus enrollment of about 33,000 don't care who gets hurt while they are trying to get their way. "They set out deliberately to get arrested last spring, and they obviously want the same action now," he said.

Referring to the specific site of the riot, McCamy said, that the corridors in the Commerce building are so narrow that it sometimes "takes me 10 minutes to get through the crowds of students from an office to an outside exit."

He thought it was amazing that this building was cleared in the reported 10 minutes.

McCamy felt that the 500 supporters of the hard core are specifically against the Vietnam war and do not sympathize with the other "obstructive" attitudes of the group.

"Throw in an observing crowd of about 3,000, and there is bound to be trouble," McCamy said.

City Governments to Get University Help

UW President Says Urban Crisis Warrants Attention From State's No. 1 School

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Local government units — plagued with social and economic problems — can expect help from the state's No. 1 school of higher learning.

The pledge was made Friday by President Fred H. Harrington of the University of Wisconsin at the closing session of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities conference.

"Universities and colleges have not given enough attention to local government," Harrington said.

"It has taken a great urban crisis to make us conscious of the problems of the cities."

Get Together

He said it was past due time for state and local educational units and government to get together to help resolve the urban crisis.

Harrington said at one time university emphasis was on federal government but claimed that over the past decade or so state and local levels have become as fully important.

The head of one of the larger universities in the country spoke to mayors, council members and other city and village officials without a prepared text, and explained why.

"The past few days I have been giving time to other matters," Harrington said, an obvious reference to the riot that broke out on the campus Wednesday, resulting in many injuries and suspension of several students.

But Harrington did plug the university's extension program which extends out into the state and provides many services. He said it was being expanded to work more with local, state and national government.

Calling attention to the fact that the university's extension program has been acclaimed as outstanding, Harrington declared, "If we are the best... then it is too bad, because we haven't even reached first base when it comes to education and local government getting together."

He said the university is constantly seeking additional federal, state and local money to look into local problems.

Seeking Money

"Right now we are working in Washington to get this kind of money available to help our cities," Harrington said.

He said institutions of higher learning could do much in researching urban problems and attempting to arrive at practical solutions.

"While there may be some who think otherwise, I happen to believe it is the business of the university to advise government," Harrington declared.

"Education is lifelong," he added. "It doesn't stop when you are through the university."

Harrington said the next generation is the generation of the cities and advised, "It needs help."

Mrs. Cozzini Raps Capitalistic System

Socialist Labor Party Claims Government Thrives on Wars

A Milwaukee housewife and mother, who has been a long-time member of the Socialist Labor Party, condemned capitalism as an economic system that breeds and thrives on wars.

Mrs. Georgia Cozzini, invited by a Lawrence group, told about 40 students that until the Vietnam conflict is considered "too expensive" and "a financial hazard," American soldiers will continue dying.

Attempting to "educate" the group on "where the correct action is," she warned that soldiers were still dying, games or no games, as seen in Berkeley and Madison, although based on high ideals, will "not bring our boys back from Vietnam."

She said the demonstrations were products of capitalism and more harmful than helpful to their cause.

No Affiliation

Mrs. Cozzini, who said she was not after converts, claimed her brand of socialism was the answer to the hopeless plight of the American people and eventually all peoples. She was adamant that the Socialist Labor Party, which she said was organized as the first socialist group in 1890, had no affiliation with any other socialist movements.

She said that socialist groups, including Norman Thomas Socialists, Trotskyists, Stalinists and others, were all formed in opposition to the Socialist Labor Party.

She shrugged off the socialism movements' differences and renewed her attack on the capitalist system.

"There can never be lasting peace under capitalism," she said. "This system thrives on war; it caused World Wars I and II, the Korean War, and the success in a socialist system, Vietnam conflict."

Mrs. Cozzini Raps Capitalistic System

Socialist Labor Party Claims Government Thrives on Wars

She claimed that capitalism is based on markets and competition, and that struggle for markets leads to wars, and has "caused our society to fail."

The socialist referred to Vietnam as a "bread basket" with great untapped resource potential, which the U.S. "cannot allow to be taken over by our enemy — Red China."

"To prevent this we started war games, then actual war, near Quang Nam, Vietnam, explosion while he was on bridge duty, according to a message received by his parents Saturday.

Becoming Expensive

The speaker said she saw a possible beginning of the end of the Vietnam conflict. She referred to recent articles in business magazines indicating the struggle was becoming "expensive," in terms of industrial profit.

Her party is running a 4 page advertisement in the New York Times today explaining that economic undesirability and not marching crusades will end the Vietnam involvement.

The socialist vindicated President Johnson in the Vietnam conflict, and said he was a victim of events. She felt he was sincere when he promised no increased Vietnam involvement in the 1964 election.

The speaker had one good word for capitalism in that it would make a complete switch to socialism in the U.S. possible.

Some Assistants to Drill Basic Skills At Catholic School

ST. JOHN — Five more volunteer teacher-aides are assisting at St. John the Baptist Catholic School this year with oral reading and drilling in the basic skills of all subjects.

The school has a record enrollment of 123 pupils, staffed by three nuns of the congregation of St. Agnes, Fond du Lac.

Volunteers are Mrs. Roland Gruber, Mrs. Robert Schwablander, Mrs. Irvin Kessler, Mrs. Kenneth Thiel and Mrs. Cyril Halbach.

Attend Workshop

Seven aides attended the recent Green Bay Diocesan sponsored instructional workshop at St. Aloysius Church, Kaukauna.

In addition to the teacher-aides, parish women are assisting with secretarial work, correcting papers and preparing book orders for the Title 2 program, as well as helping with library records. The work is done in their homes.

Volunteer lunch room supervisors are Mrs. Edward Mirsberger, Mrs. Jacob Nett, Mrs. Leander Schmidt, Mrs. Nicholas Klotz, Mrs. Norbert Thiel and Mrs. Norbert Eichmeier.

Vision tests were given all pupils last week by Mrs. Herman Kees, Mrs. Marx and Mrs. Schmitt.

Thief Escapes With $35 From Manawa Resort

WAUPACA — A thief stole $35 cash at the Conroy Bear Lake Resort near Manawa late Saturday night.

Resort owner Robert Conroy told authorities about 11:45 p.m. his wife, sitting at the dance hall box office, saw an arm come through the office window. The thief took 25 $1 bills and two $5 bills from the cash box.

She did not see the thief's face and he escaped before she could seek help. Waupaca County authorities and Manawa police are investigating.

Clintonville Man's Knife Collection Grows Steadily

CLINTONVILLE — Knives have fascinated George Spiegel, 19 E. 14th St., for more than 40 years.

And during that time he has collected enough of them to fill a display board and has many left over for a second board.

One of his prizes is a Bowie knife used by western elk hunters, and there are other

Bowie knives in the collection. The many knives include an array of hunting and skinning ones: a German officer's knife, a knife used by outtriggers in the Navy, a safety knife, horse-shoer's knife, a trap line runner's unit including a fork, knife and spoon, cable splicers, boning, throwing, bundle cutters, filleting, a curved machete from Honduras, bayonet, a French chef-knife, an old Scout knife, and, a knife used in commercial fishing.

Spiegel purchased some of the knives over the years and others were given to him by friends who knew of his hobby.

Neenah JV's Rip New London in Final Grid Game

NEW LONDON — Neenah High School's junior varsity Rockets closed out their Mid-Eastern Conference football play on a resounding 40-7 win against the Bulldogs Friday.

Neenah's Pat Holly raced 70 yards early in the game to get the Rockets on the board and Tom Block booted his first of four extra points. Tom Hoover scored from the one near the end of the first quarter giving Neenah a 14-0 lead.

Tim Bigalke hit Block with a 30-yard scoring aerial early in the second frame for the third TD, and John Arpin picked up a New London fumble at the 17 and ran unmolested into the end zone for the fourth score, seconds later. Block missed the PAT attempt and Neenah led 27-0 at the intermission.

Neenah was held the first time they had the ball in the third quarter, but Arpin again came up with the big defensive play, snaring an errant pass at the Bulldog 40 and carrying it back to the seven.

Holly blasted off tackle for the TD.

The versatile Arpin snared a Bigalke pass and returned 43 yards to set up the Rockets' final score. Kim Parrot romped into the end zone on the first play.

Pete Meiklejohn scored the only TD for the Bulldogs on a one-yard sneak to cap a 44-yard drive following Neenah's last touchdown. The sophomore quarterback also ran for the PAT.

St. Martin Lutheran Pupils to be Excused 4 Days at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Pupils of the St. Martin Lutheran school will be excused Oct. 31, Nov. 1, 2 and 3, according to principal Florian Felts.

Mrs. Schmidt Committed

Mrs. George Schmidt, 80, whose husband's butchered body was found near downtown Appleton three weeks ago, late this morning was committed to Winnebago State Hospital.

Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren ordered the commitment after a hearing in Mrs. Schmidt's room at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she has been since early the morning of Sept. 28, after police said she apparently tried to commit suicide in the basement of her home at 319 N. Division St.

Van Susteren said the hearing was ordered after a petition with three signatures was presented to the court. Van Susteren said that an Appleton detective was one of the signers of the petition seeking a mental hearing.

Conduct Hearing

The judge said he named two doctors, including a psychiatrist, to help conduct the hearing.

Van Susteren said he found the woman to be mentally ill and ordered her committed to the state hospital for an indefinite period. He said she would be kept there until the hospital superintendent rules she has regained her sanity.

If a criminal charge is brought by the district attorney's office in connection with the death of George Schmidt, Mrs. Schmidt could then be brought back into court and another hearing would be held to determine if she would be able to stand trial, according to Van Susteren.

In a separate court action later this morning, property obtained by police during investigation at the Schmidt home was released to C. F. McCoy, 727 W. Summer St., Appleton, court-appointed guardian for Mrs. Schmidt.

Release Property

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said that it consisted of "certain property not evidentiary in nature." He said that the property released this morning would not be produced as evidence should there be a trial and added that there would be no need to keep it.

Included among the property returned today was $6,131.37, most of it in change and small bills.

Attorney Don Jury, legal counsel for Mrs. Schmidt's guardian, told the court that Mrs. Schmidt told him during a conference Friday that the money was hers. County Judge Gustave J. Keller said he would not rule on who owns the money.

The property obtained from the Schmidt home was contained in a five-page report.

Hearing Set on School District Land Transfer

Roger Pauls Want Area Moved From District No. 5 to 3

The agency school committee of Cooperative Educational Service Agency No. 8 (CESA 8) will conduct a public hearing at 8 p.m. Nov. 14 at the CESA meeting room, 107 N. Douglas St., Appleton, concerning a request of an order for district reorganization affecting Joint School District Nos. 3 and 5.

The petition, signed Oct. 10 by Karen and Roger Paul, requests portions of land in the towns of Deer Creek and Maple Creek be transferred from Joint School District No. 5 and No. 3.

Clerks Notified

District No. 5 is in the Village of Bear Creek, towns of Deer Creek and Maple Creek of Outagamie County, and towns of Bear Creek and Lebanon, Waupaca County. District No. 3 includes New London, towns of Bear Creek, Caledonia, Fremont, Lebanon, Mukwa, Dale, Deer River of the counties of Waupaca, Outagamie and Winnebago.

All clerks within the two districts recently were notified of the hearing.

According to Kenneth Poppy, secretary of the CESA 8 agency school committee will hold a conference with the school boards of the two districts involved prior to the end of the hearing.

Car Hits Mailbox After Dog Jumps On Driver's Lap

WAUPACA — A dog that jumped into the lap of Herbert M. Jensen, 72, route 1, Scandinavia, was listed as a contributing factor in a one-car accident about 1 p.m. Friday a mile north of here on State 49.

Jensen told county police he was driving to Waupaca when the dog in his car jumped on his lap, causing him to lose control of the car which struck a mailbox. Damage was estimated in excess of $250.

After the crash the dog, which belonged to Jensen's neighbor, jumped out of the car and ran away.

Lutheran School Staff Will Attend Education Session in Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The staff of the St. Martin Lutheran School will attend the half-day workshop at the junior high school Wednesday afternoon. Police Chief Of Shiocton Seriously Hurt

Shiocton Police Chief Raymond Muskavitch remains unconscious in New London Community Hospital today after he suffered a "massive cerebral hemorrhage" before smashing his squad car into a house Sunday night.

Outagamie County Police said that Muskavitch, 59, was traveling west on Pine Street in Shiocton about 8:45 p.m. when his car suddenly swerved into the front door of living quarters at Yahle's Tavern.

Police said that Alice Yahle was in the living room, watching television, when the car rammed through the front door.

Mrs. Muskavitch said this morning that her husband apparently was not injured in the accident. She said her husband's condition, as of this morning, was "not good."

Vandals Do Damage at Freedom HS

For the fourth time in recent weeks, vandals have caused considerable damage at Freedom High School.

Outagamie County police said the latest vandalism incident occurred over the weekend. It was reported today by Principal John Schwaller.

Entry into the building was near the stage and near the library, police said. Once in the library, vandals ransacked cabinets and desks and ripped apart a dictionary.

Glass Smashed

They also broke into the principal's office by smashing a door glass. Blood was splattered around the hallway. Police said the office was ransacked and about $30 was taken from a cash box. Considerable damage was done to the office, including to a public address system, electric typewriter, adding machine, and telephone.

As in past burglaries at the school, vandals, after they broke glass to enter the stage area, piled the pieces of glass neatly into piles.

Police said students would be checked today to determine if any of them had recent hand cuts. Police believe the blood in the hallway may have been from a hand cut suffered by one of the burglars.

State Control Of Federal Funds Urged

Lawmakers Question Administration of Government Grants

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
P-C Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Two Wisconsin lawmakers advocated a return of states' rights and state administration of federal grants during a National Conference on Legislative Leadership held here last week.

Sponsored by the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, more than 100 state legislators heard Rep. Melvin R. Laird, (R-Marshfield) and Sen. Edmund Muskie, (D-Maine) discuss the effectiveness of the present system of allocating grants to the states.

President Pro Tem of the Wisconsin State Senate Robert Knowles urged that states develop a lobby group "at the federal level."

Laird Disagrees
The point of contention between Laird and Muskie was the effect the grant system of federal moneys had on individual states.

Muskie said the present method of allocating federal moneys

Two Men Fined for Public Intoxication

KAUKAUNA — Two persons pleaded guilty to charges of public intoxication when arraigned before Clarence O'Connor, municipal justice, Monday and paid fines.

Thomas Pennings, 19, 321 Buchanan St., Little Chute, was fined $25 and Arnold Zuelke, 59, 114 E. Ducharme St., Kaukauna, $10. Both were arrested by police after being observed staggering on city streets.

prevented centralization power in Washington.

Laird, however, charged that the "federal system is going downhill so far as state government is concerned because of its centralization of power."

He declared that grants-in-aid to the states should be changed to revenue sharing, a plan he has long advocated, which would return to the states a share of the federal income tax to be used as the states see fit.

Opposition to this plan, he said, comes from the bureaucrats in Washington.

Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, told the state legislators that they could exert a strong voice in restoring the balance of power between state and national governments.

Sen. Muskie urged a dialogue between state legislators and congressional delegations to promote their common interests.

Agreeing with this, Knowles said that states should follow Wisconsin's example and send a legislator to Washington to confer with the state's representatives on common problems.

Await Autopsy Results in Probe Of Boy's Death

Calumet Coroner Says There Were Bruises on Body

CHILTON — Further investigation into the death here Friday of a two-year-old boy hinges on results of an autopsy.

Calumet County Coroner Leroy Hughes said today.

External bruises on the body of Walter Kristen Skinner, who was pronounced dead on arrival Friday when he was brought to Calumet Memorial Hospital by his foster father, indicated the need for an autopsy, Hughes said.

Hughes said he and Dist. Atty. F. J. Schneider have agreed that action on the case will be held up until the "anatomical findings from microscopic examinations" are released by the pathologist.

The child, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Skinner, Appleton, had been placed with foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smaxwell, 34, Baldwin St., along with his sister, by the Calumet County Welfare Department.

Two other Skinner girls also are temporarily in foster homes, one in Calumet and one in Outagamie County, according to Miss Florence Woelfel, Calumet welfare director.

Architects to Get Various Plans for Kimberly Schools

Kimberly Scout Named Winner of Eagle Award

KIMBERLY — Heating plans for the West Side Elementary School and the Janssen School addition were delayed by the board of education Monday night to permit architects to prepare cost estimates for various types of installations.

Types to be investigated include conventional heating, electric resistant heating and heat pumps. Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company representatives will work with the architects and Myron Huth, business manager, and will present findings to the board at a Nov. 6 meeting.

Architects indicated preliminary floor plans for the buildings also should be ready by that time.

Accept Resignation

The resignation of Mrs. Joanne Hagenow as first grade teacher, effective Dec. 1, was accepted and Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, was instructed to hire a replacement.

A resolution authorizes the business manager to purchase a dual-key check signer and protector which will affix the facsimile signature of the director, clerk and treasurer of the school district.

The resolution further states, "No order checks shall be released to the payee until a master voucher list has been duly approved and signed by a majority of the members of the board of education, only exceptions being order checks for payroll, payroll deductions, utilities and debt service."

'68 CHEVY II NOVA COUPE

The day of the plain Jane economy car has come and gone. Chevrolet has something far finer to offer.

LONG HOOD, SHORT DECK

You get your economy now under Nova's new swept-back roof. You get your engine dependability under Nova's new long hood. You get your rust prevention beneath Nova's new rounded fenders and larger body.

SUPERLATIVE RIDE

You get the smoothest in handling, too. The wheel stance is wider, the rear suspension has been redesigned, and there is a new cushion-mounted front end. Nova feels like it's a thousand pounds heavier. It rides with amazing silence and smoothness.

NEW ALL OVER

The grille is new. The interior is new. (There's even a special custom interior you can order, the likes of which no economy car has ever offered before.) The standard V8 is bigger, more powerful. So is the standard Six with its new Monojet carburetor that contributes to greater efficiency, economy and performance. There are many new safety features, including energy-absorbing front seat backs to go along with the proved GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. And when you equip a Nova with the SS package, you look out over a special hood and black accented grille, housing a 350-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire V8.

Front to back, Chevy II Nova's new a driving enthusiast's kind of car but, fortunately for you, it still comes at a saving enthusiast's kind of price. Very low.

For so little: $2261<sup>00</sup>

The Future of Race Protest

Some weeks ago a leading sociologist warned that there was a great need to prevent the majority of Negroes from coming under the leadership of the handful who preach violence. Law and order should be the concern of the liberals as well as the conservatives, Pat Moynihan inferred.

Now another sociologist, Dr. Gary Marx, associate professor of social relations at Harvard, writes that his research indicates there will be a continued increase in Negro militancy in the years ahead.

Dr. Marx bases his beliefs on finding Negro attitudes toward how they are now treated. A high percentage feel integration is coming too slowly, that white merchants and employers take advantage of Negroes, that there should be more demonstrations and that property owners should be required to sell to Negroes. Although the majority proclaim their commitment to peaceful means, "it would be wishful thinking to deny the anti-white sentiment of an active minority and the increasing possibility of violent and self-destructive outbursts, where Negroes on a large scale would come to attack whites instead of white-owned buildings."

Dr. Marx concedes that slogans and outside agitators would have a role in such events but "the ultimate source would be the inability of white society to change."

The more militant Negroes also look at results. Never had open housing been brought to the attention of Wisconsin residents and especially those in Milwaukee until the summer riots and the continued marches. In California, antipoverty funds had been tied up by political haggling but after Watts exploded in 1965 the funds were promptly released and millions of dollars of federal aid was used to rebuild the area and try to improve community conditions. It took the forced integration of southern elementary, secondary and higher educational institutions to carry out the United States Supreme Court decision that school segregation was unconstitutional. Clearly these examples have impressed some Negroes with the need for militant action if progress is to be made.

Dr. Marx' statistics also show that the better educated and wealthier Negroes tend to be more militant over public policies than their lower status cousins. Obviously as more Negroes get more education and find more economic opportunities, they are going to continue to push. And this is in part also due to the "continued progress" among whites so that the latter are gaining faster in education, health and welfare than the Negro.

Since there apparently is going to be continued Negro demand for better conditions and more opportunities, since more Negroes are moving into northern communities and the problems of integration will face more and more white Americans, what is the answer? Clearly it is not burying heads in the sand. States like Wisconsin should have expanded and liberal open housing legislation — now. And communities like the Fox Cities should make plans to be sure that Negro ghettos do not develop, that educational and economic opportunities exist and that the prejudice and discrimination which has led to the militancy are kept down.

What's the Rush to Get Into Print?

As we understand it, Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette now says his remarks about "police brutality" at the University of Wisconsin during last week's student disturbance were distorted and reported out of context during the rush of news coverage of that unfortunate event. This still leaves the question of why the state's chief legal officer felt it was necessary to say anything at all in the midst of the confusion and conflicting accounts.

"Obviously, not enough accurate factual information was available to substantiate any charges of police brutality," Mr. LaFollette has explained. This is correct. It was also correct last Wednesday night when the attorney general chose to comment in the midst of a tense situation when silence and quiet investigation would have been the proper course.

Mr. LaFollette had reported that members of his staff on the campus had observed a student explaining he was merely trying to get out of the Commerce Building to go to class and that the student was cracked over the head with a riot stick after the explanation. Unfortunately, it is quite possible that such a thing could happen in the tenseness and emotion of what had erupted on the campus.

But does this single report enable the attorney general to, at the very least, wonder out loud whether there was police brutality. There are quiet ways of investigation, of which the attorney general should be aware, and the Madison Police and Fire Commission has procedure for the hearing of charges against its officers.

As could be expected, Lt. Gov. Jack Olson rushed out a statement to inform the people of Wisconsin that he was "shocked" at what Mr. LaFollette had said. Lt. Gov. Olson has demonstrated no shyness about saying what the acting governor is doing about the troubles at the university during the absence from the state of Gov. Warren Knowles. And some members of the Legislature have been having a field day.

It is a time when the political leaders of the state could supply calmness and quiet counsel to the university.

The Convictions in Mississippi

The conviction of seven men in Mississippi, including Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, for conspiring to deprive three civil rights workers of their civil rights, is one more sign that white supremacy, at least with the force of law behind it, is on the way out even in the Deep South.

The three civil rights workers were murdered but the Federal Government could not bring a charge of murder and various maneuvers had been used in Mississippi to make state charges impotent. In all probability it was more because of resentment of federal authority than to protect murderers that such evasions succeeded. But the convictions now, by Mississippians of Mississippians, may mean that there is a growing awareness of the dangers to all in the continued southern denials of equality to Negroes.

It has been especially disturbing to realize the probable complicity of law officials in such denials. The conviction of Cecil Price is therefore nothing to gloat about. It has been a hard fact that many southern sheriffs have had as much race prejudice as the country rednecks. But what has now been proved in court to be the actual cooperation of a police official in murder is a frightening thing.

Apparently it has frightened at least twelve white people of Mississippi too.

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 26, 1867.

"If the Democratic party gets into power we shall lose in peace what we gained in war."

So says the radical Smith. If this be true, it is proper to count up our gains by war.

We have gained an enormously high tariff, which taxes the nation for the benefit of New England manufacturers.

We have gained an internal revenue system which taxes 16,000 different articles, and requires an army of office-holders to enforce it!

We have gained a national banking system capable of controlling the capital of the country, to which the people yearly pay $25,000,000 in interest, which might have been saved by the substitution of national currency bank-notes.

We have gained a debt of several thousand millions of dollars, which is mortgage upon our property and the labor of every man in the country.

We have gained a Congress and a State Legislature so corrupt that the press is compelled, from very shame, to denounce their accessibility to bribery.

These are the gains which will be lost if the Democratic party gets into power!

Salvation of Private College Is Alumni Loyalty, Not U.S. Money

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Mr. McGeorge Bundy has told us, doom-like, that the nation's private colleges face "imminent bankruptcy," which, as a matter of fact they don't, though it is true that they are hard-pressed. The solution advanced by the president of the largest private foundation in the world is that one would expect: "a drastic increase in government support."

There is always a kind of self fulfilling logic in the statist's approach to things. One has only to assure the relative impoverishment of the private sector, in order to be able to observe that only the public sector can afford to pay. So that one has to wrench oneself free of the governing necessities in order to ask a question unsettlingly simple: how is it that as we grow richer and richer, we can apparently afford to do less and less for ourselves? Has the government really preempted all the surplus money? Is it really beyond the means of an alumni body to support its own schools?

DEPEND ON ALUMNI

There are many complicating factors, of course — there always are, like the super-high cost of cyclotrons or whatever you call them. But the substantially untapped reserve of the private college is alumni loyalty. There are small colleges whose graduates are simply not affluent enough to maintain them in such a way as to provide effective competition for the publicly-endowed colleges. But that isn't so of a lot of the colleges, to which access is increasingly limited by reason of family background. Ironically, such discrimination as there is is not against the poor, or the Negro, or Pakistani, but against the type one loosely refers to as the Wasp — technically the white Anglo-Saxon protestant, in fact it doesn't matter if he is Jewish or Catholic, the term has been used to designate the sons of alumni, the older families, the members of what the English in tones increasingly hushed, refer to as "the governing class."

It is a robust and commendable American tradition that there should be instant access to the governing class for everyone who qualifies himself, and that there should be opportunity for everyone to so qualify himself. But recent admissions policies of the large private colleges seem to indicate a policy the presumption of which is that it is equally important to fracture the governing class, so that the effect of these policies is in part to absorb new members into the governing class, in part to demote others even if they have done nothing to earn that demotion. You will laugh, but it is true that a Mexican-American from El Paso High with identical scores on the achievement tests, and identically ardent recommendations from the headmaster, has a better chance of being admitted to Yale that Jonathan Edwards the Sixteenth from St. Paul's School.

Now that is as it should be assuming Yale were a public institution, but surely the point of it is that Yale isn't a public institution? Yale doesn't pass the hat in Great El Paso for funds to pay the faculty, or to buy the books that make the library, or build the buildings that make the plant. Up until a few years ago, Princeton's policy was altogether cogent. The Administration reserved the right to set academic standards, but beyond that guaranteed that any properly recommended applicant whose grades on the achievement tests made it predictable that he would graduate with his class, would be instantly admitted if his father was an alumnus of Princeton. Since then — in search of the exquisitely balanced sociological school, which must, as Randall Jarrell spoofed in his novel about Benton College, include one girl from Tierra del Fuego — Princeton has gone the egalitarian way.

PLATONIC APPEALS OUT
It is going to be increasingly difficult to get private money by platonic appeals to the cause of Education. Why should the alumni of Yale contribute money to hire Eminent Professor X, the great historian, away from Johns Hopkins? Professor X can contribute as much to the abstract cause of History writing books in Baltimore, as in New Haven, Connecticut. He will communicate his knowledge to very bright students at Baltimore, just as well as at New Haven. The difference, we soon see, is that at New Haven, Professor X will be teaching our sons, our grandsons — for that privilege, alumni are prepared to make sacrifices. But there must be a complementary presumption in favor of their sons matriculating at their alma mater.

Mr. McGeorge Bundy seems to believe that the private colleges simply cannot survive without that "drastic increase" in government support. Once again, shaking ourselves free of the operative premises, it pays occasionally to remind ourselves that the government has to get the money from private people in the first instance, and that before Mr. Bundy gives up altogether, deep reforms should be attempted, such as the one I speak of, and a good many others, including direct tax deductions (The Howard Plan). The private colleges will survive if they fill a need. It is this need they should primarily concern themselves with meeting.

Fire Department Thanked for Safety Work in City Schools

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Open letter to the Appleton Fire Department:

May I say a simple thank you to you all. Besides the excellent job you do in fighting actual fires, the work you have been doing in going from school to school talking with the youngsters is most thorough and I never realized how important.

One of my daughters is a first-grader at Huntley. She came home last week all big-eyed and breathless telling me practically verbatim what "the firemen told me." After she was finished she asked me, "Mommy, where do you keep our matches?" I showed her that I kept them in a bowl in the cupboard. She said she was told that they should be in a metal container with a metal lid. So I not only dug up a metal lidded can to put them in, but discovered I was storing a whole new box (containing about 50 matchbooks) on the shelf directly above our built-in oven; and at times it does get a bit warm up there.

Needless to say, we now keep all matches in the can and are much more safety-conscious thanks to you reaching the ears of one little six-year-old girl.

I'm sorry my thanks can't add $100.00 to your monthly checks — but maybe knowing that you are greatly appreciated helps just a bit.

With heart felt thanks to you all.

Democrat, Republican Lines Being Drawn On State Tax Debate

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Each succeeding day of the legislative session makes it more clear that the Democrats are hoping to punish the Republicans at the ballot box in 1968 with the charge that they are responsible for the frequently rising rate of local taxation, especially school taxation, by their failure to funnel more of the state's tax resources into local treasuries.

Each succeeding day also clarifies the Republican resolve that they have a good and popular cause in their determination to avoid a general state tax increase upon all of the people of Wisconsin, even if there are local tax pinches in some localities.

The Democratic position, perhaps somewhat oversimplified, is that the local school tax rate on the whole has reached the limit of tolerability and that the state must be responsible for financing all increases in the future in the size of local school budgets.

The Republicans quite as obviously believe that the state tax pressure is as painful for most persons as is the worry about local government financing. They believe they are getting some help from the periodic publicity of respected statistical sources that the Wisconsin state tax burden is among the highest on a per capita basis in the country. Conversely, they are able to point to the fact that the state now disburses in aids and shared taxes to local governments a higher ratio of its total income than all except a handful of states.

POSITION OF COVENIENCE

Republicans may insist on the relevancy also of the fact that on the question of school aids, state appropriations in recent years have risen more rapidly than either the school enrollment, local school operating costs, or the rate of local school taxation.

The listener on the sidelines may wonder whether such fairly sophisticated arguments will have any measurable influence upon the decision of the average man or woman in casting a vote next year. There is nothing that is quite as easy to distort, or to misunderstand, as a quarrel that depends on formulas and statistics that even some of the officials directly involved do not always understand accurately.

One may wonder also whether that occasional voter who makes it his business to audit the claims of the partisans will be able to decide easily the merits of the dispute. In its essence, the argument involves the reality that public taxation in Wisconsin will continue to rise. The issue is whether it will rise through state legislative action, through income and sales taxation, or through local taxation, which basically means levies on real and personal property.

To many persons in the middle income groups, who take the trouble to make comparisons based on their own tax liability in both directions, the fight will appear irrelevant. In Madison, for example, the ratio of middle income earners and above is probably well above that for the typical Wisconsin community. Does it matter really whether the Legislature taps that median income taxpayer through more income or sales, or both, or whether the City Council raises the rate of taxation on his home? The reader can make his own comparisons quickly enough.

REVERSING SIDES
These are not essentially matters of political ideology. If the positions of the parties in the Legislature were reversed and the Democrats were responsible for the new state budget, the Republicans would be heckling in substantially the same terms now used by the Democratic minority spokesmen. During the Nelson and Reynolds administrations, in fact, they were using precisely the same arguments because those regimes reserved for state use some of the revenue the Republicans appeared to believe then were dedicated morally if not legally to localities.

The unpleasant fact is that the tax pinch will be more embarrassing and uncomfortable and more difficult to handle both in Madison and in city hall for years to come, according to all the evidence at hand. That is the reason for the increasing cry for federal aids and federal tax sharing even from men such as Gov. Warren Knowles who represents a party that only a few years ago asserted that the federal aid dollar was the route to the extinction of state and local responsibility and independence.

Strictly Personal

Once Boyish Pranks, Now It's Delinquency

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the main reasons we have so much "juvenile delinquency" these days is that there has come to be less and less room for old-fashioned "mischief," of the kind my friends and I used to partake. Space is shrinking, people are living closer together, automobiles are packing the streets, empty lots have nearly vanished, and even the suburbs are hedged with a hundred restrictions and limitations.

We forget this sheer physical fact in our preoccupation with social and psychological causes for juvenile delinquency. But the physical world has changed as drastically as the social world has; and young animal spirits can no longer be exercised as freely as before.

I recognize that much juvenile delinquency is a lot more menacing than mere "animal spirits;" but at the same time, a lot of what we now label "anti-social" activity would have been called "schoolboy pranks" in my time. And would not have got into the crime statistics.

At dinner last month, in the company of an overpoweringly respectable bank president and the equally impressive head of a railroad, I mentioned this fact, and both immediately agreed — launching into lurid accounts of the escapades they had taken part in as youths. "If we tried that today," one of the men said, "we'd be hauled into the juvenile court at once." Young boys have a deep kinetic need, and a part of it is naturally destructive — to kick, to break, to overthrow, to demolish. They also have a deep psychological need to thumb their noses at adult society — to deflate the stuffy scandalize the conventional, embarrass the dignified. These tendencies must find an outlet somehow.

Acceptable outlets have been fast disappearing in the last 30 years. Organized sport is no real substitute, because, while it may satisfy the physical need, it does not gratify the psychological need. The boy needs a gang of his own, of one sort or another.

But there is little a gang can do these days that will not disrupt our closely-knit social organism more than we can stand. A Tom Sawyer today would be considered a threat to the community; and yet boys have not changed very much, organically from Tom Sawyer's time.

Our dense, complex, technological society leaves little room for the basic and primitive drives of youngsters; and it is no accident that the larger and denser the community, the greater the proportion of juvenile delinquency. Rural areas and small towns still offer some forms of release for boyish skylarking; big cities offer none at all.

One grave charge against the slurs is that they turn little boys into men prematurely — with the paradoxical result that the men remain little boys forever, resenting society for having robbed them of youth.

GOP Governors Act to Control '68 Convention

Want Keynote Speaker and Voice
In Formation of Platform Committee

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
ABOARD THE S.S. INDEPENDENCE — From the standpoint of the Republican governors, their major accomplishment at the now completed governors' conference was a tiny, tardy first step toward getting ready for the 1968 Republican National Convention in Miami Beach.

What they actually did at this floating conference was pathetically little in itself. But the fact that they bestirred themselves at all to make plans for Miami raises at least the outside possibility that the Republican governors might become a potent force in party affairs for the first time since 1952.

There is no question that they want such influence. Moreover, a rough consensus now exists among them that was not apparent at the disorganized Republican governors' conference at Jackson Hole, Wyo., last June.

Because of the failure thus far of Gov. George Romney's campaign to revive itself, a 2 to 1 majority of the 25 GOP governors now favor Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for president. Support for Richard M. Nixon is infinitesimal. Most important, the governors don't want to go to Miami to face a fait accompli where Nixon already has wrapped up the nomination.

Evans Novak

First Step Difficult
The first step toward the still unlikely goal of transforming the Republican governors into a Rockefeller bloc in Miami is to seek a major role in running the convention. But even that first step was a difficult one that seemed unlikely to be taken until this governors' conference was two days old.

Oddly, the impulse came from an absentee: Gov. Raymond Shafer, who stayed home in Pennsylvania because of labor and legislative troubles. Calling his aides aboard the S.S. Independence by radio telephone, Shafer was shocked to learn that the Republican governors had done nothing about the 1968 convention during two soporific days at sea en route to the Virginia Islands.

Shafer instructed his staff to contact Rhode Island's Gov. John Chafee, perhaps the most activist of the Republican governors, to get something done. The result was that, at long last, Republican governors last Wednesday (Oct. 18) got to talking about their role in Miami — a subject that has preoccupied the party's more conservative congressional leadership for months.

Meet in December
Governor Tim Babcock of Montana, one of a minority of conservative Republican governors, suggested at the closed-door session that they defer the subject until the next GOP governors' meeting at Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 8-9. But Babcock was quickly shouted down by governors (headed by Rockefeller, Romney, and Chafee) worried that the congressional leadership was pre-empting the Miami convention's top posts as in 1964.

Governor James Rhodes of Ohio proposed that the governors suggest one of their own — Daniel Evans of Washington — as Miami keynote speaker. But other governors wanted to go beyond the honorific keynote spot and (over Rhode's objections) challenge the congressional leadership for control of the vital platform committee.

While agreeing that it's too late to block Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen from becoming chairman of the platform committee, the governors laid plans for gaining effective control of the committee. The governors' policy committee headed by Rockefeller will prepare its own planks independent of Dirksen.

Want Reagan on TV
Furthermore, several governors suggested during the caucus that somebody other than Dirksen read the platform on national television (Rockefeller suggested that Governor Ronald Reagan of California would be particularly well fitted for that task).

But the impact of all this is weakened by lack of enthusiasm by Reagan and his conservative allies from the mountain states. While assertive and articulate

'New Economics' Fails Due to Lack of Tools

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The "New Economics" is now failing miserably — and the blunt reason why is that the

Porter

White House and Congress are failing to provide the tools to make it work.

This is a serious accusation in which you and I have a vital bread-and-butter stake. To illustrate, as a result of these failures our cost of living is climbing rapidly, our cost of borrowing money is rising, our dollar's buying power is dwindling, our pensions and savings funds are shrinking in value. But the accusation can be amply documented.

The essence of the New Economics is this: Our national economic goal is a strong, sustained growth which will create high employment, production, paychecks and profits — with reasonably stable prices.

When our economy is operating below capacity, it is imperative to give it a combination of fiscal-monetary (tax, spending, credit) policies to speed up the rate of growth.

Among the appropriate stimulating policies would be: income tax cuts to spur consumer and business spending; tax incentives to encourage business investment in plants and equipment; easy and relatively inexpensive credit to stimulate borrowing of money; increasing government expenditures for a wide variety of projects.

Policies Adjusted
When our economy reaches the desired rate of growth, the policies should be delicately adjusted to sustain the trend. But when our economy overheats — because of too many stimulants or some overwhelming development such as Vietnam — it is imperative to swing to an entirely different set of tax-spending-credit policies to restrain the rate of growth.

Among the appropriate restraining policies would be: income tax increases to curtail consumer and business spending; suspension of tax incentives to encourage postponement of business investment; tighter credit to limit borrowing of money; stretching out government expenditures.

Easily Understood
Put this way, the New Economics is easy to understand. Actually, economists have been talking in these terms since World War II. The only aspect which is really "new" is that the idea of so fine-tuning the economy has in recent years achieved recognition at the White House level.

On the upside, the New Economics has worked magnificently. From early 1961 to late 1965, our economy was put into and held in a strong, beautifully balanced expansion by tax incentives, income tax cuts, easy credit, rising government spending.

But late in 1965, with the acceleration of the Vietnam war, the need arose for reversing the policies toward restraint. (This is not 20-20 hindsight! I have the columns in print to prove that top economists began calling for tax hikes, spending cuts and tighter credit back in late 1965-January 1966.)

The White House, though, did not respond. President Johnson did not ask for tax hikes early in the inflationary upswing. He did not take the lead in cutting back federal spending.

Balance Evaporated
The beautiful balance in our economy evaporated. Although the Federal Reserve System slammed the brakes on credit, price stability was shattered, the basis for inflation was laid.

Now Vietnam is still accelerating and the danger of a 1967 inflation built on 1966's inflation is here and now.

This time, Congress is not responding to Johnson's plea for a tax surcharge. This time each is trying to make the other take the initiative in limiting government spending.

If we mess up our economy because we don't know what to do, our failure is at least excusable. But if we mess up because we won't do what we know we should do, it's inexcusable.

Meet a 1968 "youngmobile" from Oldsmobile.

Now that you've been introduced why not get together?

Why not take the wheel of this Cutlass S—youngest looking, youngest acting Oldsmobile in seventy years. Young looks? Cutlass S has them stem to stern, from sporty louvered hood to rakish rear deck. And backing up those young looks is young performance:

A new 350-CID Rocket V-8 that delivers more power at lower operating cost. (And does it more smoothly and quietly, as well.) You say you prefer a Six? Olds has a 250-CID Action-Line 6, too. These are only openers. You can tailor Cutlass S to your fancy and finances. 4-speed stick to stereo to sporty pinstriping. Front disc brakes to dual exhausts to Rally Sport Suspension. (All the new GM safety features are standard.) Better come in and meet the whole Olds family—elegant Toronado and Ninety-Eight, popular new 88, smart new Cutlass, sporty 4-4-2, bigger-than-ever Vista-Cruiser and dollar-saving F-85. What it adds up to is this: If you like cars with a lot of pizzazz in the way they look—cars with a lot of moxie in the way they drive—your Oldsmobile Dealer is the man to see. They're the only kind he carries.

A COLUMN FOR DRAFTEES, SERVICEMEN AND VETERANS

Want to be an Officer? Here's How

BY JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON — A college education is the magic key to becoming an officer in the U.S. Armed Forces, but it's not always essential. Nor is it a guaranty. There are no easy paths to the golden bar of 2nd lieutenant or ensign.

Perhaps you're in service and ambitious to move up. Or the draft may be breathing down your neck and you'd prefer to serve with the higher pay and other advantages of officer status.

The most familiar and the most leisurely paths are through ROTC or one of the four academies — Army, Navy, Air, Coast Guard. You get an academic education and military training at the same time over a four-year span.

But all the services have what amounts to cram courses for commissions, ranging from 10 weeks to four months. There are a great variety of these, for both men and women.

All the services warn, however, there's no use signing up if you're not willing to work hard, study hard and rest little. It's a harder grind in some ways than boot camp. Most courses permit you to be married, but if you bring your family along it's unlikely that you will spend much time together. You get enlisted pay in various grades until commissioned.

The requirements of the different schools vary so much they can't be lumped together, so we'll take a capsule look at the principal ones.

Marines
The 10-week Marine Officer Candidate School is open to seniors or college graduates age 20 to 27 for ground school, 20 to 26 for aviation. Three years of active duty is required after schooling.

There's also a Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Course you can start if you're at least 17 years old and attending college. For two summers you take six weeks training. On graduation from college you get a commission and then serve three years active duty.

And there's a Marine Aviation of officer programs there isn't room here to go into all the details, but here's a fast brush. The basic OCS courses last four months, and are open generally to college graduates between 19 and 27. Three years of commissioned active duty is required of non-aviation officers. You can get in up to age 35 if you're a lawyer.

After OCS, Naval aviation training takes about 14 months between commissioning and starting the 5½ years active duty obligation. For non-pilot specialists the extra training takes 6 to 8 months.

For those in college, there are two programs aside from NROTC for those at least age 17. You have to be in the Naval reserve and you get a commission with two eight-week summer training courses and go on active duty when you graduate from college. Aviation officers have their special training sandwiched in between commissioning and starting their 3½ year obligation.

There's also a Naval Aviation Course of 18 months for those with at least two years of college if you're between ages 18 and 25.

For those in service, the Navy has a competitive program for four years of engineering training leading to a college degree and a commission. Four years of active duty is required. The Marines have a similar program.

The Coast Guard offers a 17-week commissioning course for college graduates between ages 21 and 26 with three years of active duty required.

Those on active duty apply through military channels, since your commander is the key. Civilians can check with their local recruiting officer, or perhaps ROTC professors, for details and deadlines for applying. Give yourself plenty of time to apply.

GI Q BOX

Dear Jerry:
I was discharged in 1945 and in 1946 I applied for a service-connected disability and was turned down. Then in 1964 I applied again and received 20 per cent service connected disability pension. Am I entitled to back pay?

WG Oconto Falls Wis

Dear WG:
Generally not. However, there are exceptions. Get in touch with the regional VA office that approved your claim in 1964 and they can tell you if your case comes under the exceptions.

Dear Jerry:
I would like to know about sole surviving sons. My husband died two years ago and only had one son. Is there any truth that they wouldn't have to serve in Vietnam?

Appleton Wis., Widow
Appleton, Wis., Widow
From information you have given, your son does not qualify. If his father had been killed while in service or died as result of service connected disability then he would qualify. Being the only son in a family is not enough. The draft board can explain further.

Checker Championship Started in Oklahoma

Ford Workers Start Voting on Contract

UAW Leaders See Little Chance Of Veto by Skilled Tradesmen

By A.F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The 160,000 United Auto Workers who struck Ford Motor Co. 48 days ago begin voting today on a new contract that would send most streaming back to their jobs by the weekend.

The danger of a veto by skilled tradesmen existed but union leaders discounted this possibility.

The contract contains a guaranteed annual income, effective in December of 1968, and the company says it would make them "among the best paid and best protected of all U.S. industrial wage earners."

'Yes' Recommended

The union's leadership agrees, and the UAW's 200-member National Ford Council overwhelmingly recommended ratification Monday night, despite the "No! No!" shouts of an estimated 200 to 250 dissident skilled tradesmen who were beaten off when they attempted to storm the meeting.

Pists flew briefly. At least three men were knocked down and several noses bloodied.

Council delegates and UAW international representatives came storming out in a flying wedge as the loudly chanting tradesmen-pickets followed television cameramen into a lobby off the council's downtown meeting hall and threatened to force its doors.

The intruders were driven outside.

About 20,000 skilled tradesmen and 140,000 production workers employed by Ford will vote separately on the new three-year pact.

Either side by majority vote may veto the contract under a new constitutional provision applicable for the first time in 1967. A veto would send negotiators back to the bargaining table while the strike continued.

Policeman Gene Brestle estimated the number of skilled defense goes. Bob McNamara is pickets as 200 to 250. Most news-finished ... whipped out of men covering the event thought his estimate high.

UAW president Walter P. Reuther expressed confidence both sides would ratify the contract, telling newsmen after the council's vote that dissident tradesmen had been working all day to mobilize a large turnout, "and this is what they got." Reuther stressed that voting on ratification will be limited to Ford workers. Inquiring newsmen found many more pickets from General Motors, Chrysler and job shop local unions than from Ford.

The demonstration was sponsored by the "United Skilled Trades $1.00 an Hour Committee." Skilled tradesmen get an immediate 50-cent hourly increase in the new contract, plus a 3 per cent increase in each of its last two years.

Reuther insists tradesmen will get an economic gain equal to $1.02 hourly over the agreement's three-year span, with production workers gaining a minimum of 58 cents hourly.

Gene Prato, chairman of the Ford negotiating committee, ruled the council's recommendation for ratification carried by at least 98 per cent. Olga Madar, a member of the UAW's international executive board, said only eight voted against.

Reuther Explanation

Reuther bought an hour's television time on WWJ-TV (NBC) of Detroit today in which to explain provisions and urge approval of what he says is a contract which "no other union ever came close to" in wages or fringe benefits.

Approximately half of Ford's 160,000 hourly rated workers live in Michigan, most of them in the Detroit area, although the company has plants in 25 states.

Douglas Fraser, codirector of the union's skilled trades department, joined Reuther in forecasting overwhelming approval by the skilled as well as unskilled, although an estimated 530 tradesmen from Ford's giant local in Dearborn shouted opposition at a gathering Monday.

Is McNamara Losing Ground In Pentagon?

"Speak well of the dead. So far as his position as secretary of defense goes, Bob McNamara is finished ... whipped out of authority, out of dignity, out of plausibility even."

McNamara is reported to have told a private dinner recently he plans to take his wife, Margie, on her first trip to the Orient "just as soon as I get out of here—Here meaning the Pentagon. He didn't say when that might be.

New Targets

Several factors have contributed to notions McNamara might be swinging less weight in high councils of government. Foremost is the authorization of new targets for attack in

Silver Coins to be Melted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department expects to begin melting silver coins after Christmas to help accumulate enough silver for domestic use into the 1970s.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said the department expects to have between 350 million to 425 million ounces of silver in bars and North Vietnam while McNamara, at least publicly, has coins by next June 24—enough to supply industry for three to four years.

June 24 is the deadline for Americans to turn in their silver certificates—one type of paper money issued between 1929 and the early 1960s—for silver.

The price of silver rose to a record $1.89 an ounce Monday in New York. 10 days after the government announced it is saving its purest silver for the strategic stockpile.

But Wallace said there's plenty of silver to go around.

Earlier this year, the government quietly began withdrawing from circulation some of the old dimes and quarters containing 90 per cent silver. It now makes copper-nickel coins.

The withdrawal was described as a precaution to provide a backlog of coins for the Christmas rush and to make sure the Treasury had enough silver to redeem certificates and feed the strategic stockpile.

What began as an informal practice, Wallace said, became a fixed rule in late July and now all the old dimes and quarters are being withdrawn from circulation when they return in North Vietnam's main port, re-circulation when they return in main untouched. McNamara contends it would be too risky to try to hit the port where Soviet ships often are unloading. He said the coins retrieved through last Friday contain 150 million ounces of silver. Another 100 million to 175 million ounces is expected to be pulled from

Influence of Organized Crime Investigated in Louisiana

By JACK OWENS
Associated Press Writer

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Does organized crime, specifically the Cosa Nostra, have influence on Louisiana government and the economy of the state? Six official investigations are under way to find out.

It all began last month with a series of three articles by Life magazine that named people, places and things to support allegations that syndicated crime ran rampant in the state.

The articles pictured Carlos Marcello, longtime New Orleans area rackets figure, as the kingpin of Cosa Nostra activities in this section of the country. Marcello, the magazine claimed, had managed to penetrate the state Capitol—even a portion of the governor's office.

Gov. John McKeithen initially called the magazine's allegations a deliberate smear of Louisiana. However, after meeting in New York with Life's editors, the governor came home convinced some wrongdoing had indeed gone on. He said he apologized to Life.

Governor Candidate

From there, McKeithen, who seeks the Democratic party nomination Nov. 4 to succeed himself, took the bull by the horns. He emerged as a prime mover in getting state grand juries and special agencies to probe the Louisiana crime scene.

These developments followed.

—Dalton Smith, a New Orleans contractor, has been indicted on public bribery charges growing out of claims he offered $25,000 to Aubrey Young, a former aide to McKeithen, to influence Young in his conduct in office. Under Louisiana law, an offer is the same as a bribe.

—Young, who was fired by McKeithen, turned state's evidence. It was after Young's testimony before a grand jury that Smith was indicted.

—Capt. Roland Coppola, a Lafayette state police troop commander, was suspended from his post by McKeithen within hours after the governor flew back to Louisiana from the meeting with Life editors.

Judge Accused

—Malcolm V. O'Hara, a New Orleans criminal district judge, faces impeachment charges.

McKeithen testified before a New Orleans grand jury brought into session by Orleans Parish Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison. McKeithen said afterward he denied any personal links with the underworld although he is certain that calls were made from a racketeer's private Jefferson Parish (county) telephone to his office.

The main load of investigative work thus far has been carried by a state and a federal grand jury in New Orleans, and a state grand jury in Baton Rouge. The other panels are at work in Ferriday and Jefferson Parish, near New Orleans.

Today the State Labor-Management Commission of Inquiry launches a probe into alleged racketeering in labor and management relations. Its sessions will be secret.

The bribery charges revolve around an alleged attempt by the Cosa Nostra to pull a $1 million deal to buy Teamsters Union President James Hoffa's freedom from federal prison.

Life told of the bribery attempt, saying the underworld raised the $1 million and gave it to Marcello to make the deal.

East Baton Rouge Dist. Atty. Sargent Pitcher said Young admitted he received two calls from Marcello at a desk outside McKeithen's office. He said also that Young arranged a meeting in Baton Rouge between Smith and Edward Grady Partin, local Teamster official.

Young, Pitcher added, claimed he left when Smith started talking with Partin about Hoffa.

Partin turned state's evidence against Hoffa at the latter's jury tampering trial and his testimony proved to be a major factor in Hoffa's conviction and eight-year prison sentence in 1964. Partin has contended that since the trial he was offered $1 million to change his testimony.

Partin's allegation about the bribery attempt is the subject of a federal grand jury probe in New Orleans.

MIG Base Near Hanoi Bombed for First Time

not available immediately. Further pilot reports and aerial photographs were awaited.

Another Unhit

Latest intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese kept about 20 of their small force of MIG interceptors on the Phuc Yen base. Ten others are reported kept at the so-far unhit airfield at Gia Lam, just outside Hanoi, and about 50 are considered to be in haven in Red China to the north.

It was not known how many—if any—MIGs were destroyed on the ground at Phuc Yen.

One reason the base had not been hit before was the fear by U.S. chiefs of a high loss in American planes to the myriad ground defenses and MIG interceptors.

Apparently untouched in the raid was the joint Russian-Chinese-North Vietnamese air defense command at Phuc Yen. This is the nerve center for coordinating defenses against U.S. squadrons.

While fighting picked up in the area around Saigon, U.S. Air Cavalrymen in the northern provinces mopped up in a fortified village near the South China Sea where they reported they killed 48 North Vietnamese regulars in seven hours of fighting Monday.

Error Kills 17

In a delayed report, the U.S. Command disclosed that U.S. gunship helicopters killed 17 North Vietnamese civilians by mistake and wounded 23 more in the Mekong Delta last Thursday. The helicopters attacked a treeline along a canal from where they reported receiving gunfire. A spokesman said the gunships fired at the request of a South Vietnamese regimental commander who said his troops were receiving enemy fire. The spokesman said the incident occurred at dusk and the helicopters were unaware of two small hamlets in the area.

Haiphong Shipyard Hit by U.S. Bombs

4,100 New Troops Help Bolster South Vietnamese Forces in North

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes struck at a naval yard outside Haiphong for the first time Sunday as the vanguard of 4,100 fresh American infantrymen began coming ashore to help hold down South Vietnam's unstable northern battle zone.

Elements of the 198th Light Infantry Brigade joined 30,000 other infantrymen and 77,000 Marines already in the five northernmost provinces. The area, known as 1st Corps, is one of deep Viet Cong penetration

Oshkosh Captain Leads Guerrilla Border Rout

SAIGON (AP)— Capt. Gerald R. Kunde of Oshkosh, Wis., led a helicopter fire team, called the "Ratpack," that helped rout a Viet Cong platoon Saturday near the Cambodian border, 47 miles northwest of Saigon.

"There were a lot of VC and weapons down there," said Kunde after the U.S. Army assault helicopter company joined with Army infantrymen in the engagement. "It was a good day for us. We had the VC in the open and they were completely disorganized. They ran right into open rice paddies."

Officers called the joint air and ground effort a "masterpiece of coordination" that produced 22 enemy dead.

The arrival of the full brigade over the next few days will push to total American strength in South Vietnam to approximately 468,000 men.

Better Weather

Shortly before the new troops swept out of landing craft at Chu Lai on the South China Sea, Navy jets took advantage of a break in bad weather to hit a new target, a naval yard seven miles outside Haiphong.

Fliers said they heavily damaged an oil depot and a drydock and destroyed a torpedo patrol boat. Other pilots pounded railroad yards 1.7 miles from the center of Haiphong in continuing efforts to stop the flow of supplies out of the key North Vietnamese port.

A carrier-based Navy A4 Skyhawk was shot down by enemy ground fire in the Haiphong area, the U.S. Command reported, and the pilot was missing. It was the 707th announced U.S. warplane loss over the North. Hanoi had claimed downing two U.S. raiders.

Marine jets struck a railroad siding and bridge 20 miles south of Hanoi. Other Marine pilots reported destroying 35 enemy fortifications just above the demilitarized zone in North Vietnam.

Air Force fighter-bombers from Thailand struck targets above Hanoi, bombing a railroad bridge, rail lines and a missile site. Pilots told of cutting rail lines 39 miles northeast of Hanoi and hitting approaches to the Lang Lau railroad bridge 36 miles north of the capital.

Monday Quiet

No significant ground fighting was reported across the country Monday, a lull apparently related to voting in South Vietnam for a new House of Representatives. About 72.9 per cent of the 5.8 million qualified voters were reported have turned out to choose among 1,200 candidates.

First returns showed candidates of various political colorations winning seats in the 137-member House. In Saigon, city officials and some military men were winners. Another victor was a professor of Trotskyist leanings whose neutralist attitude kept him out of the earlier Senate race.

There were relatively few Viet Cong terrorist incidents in comparison with the presidential voting a month ago, when 200 persons were killed. Six South Vietnamese soldiers and six civilians died in terrorist incidents this election day, official government figures showed.

Sherman the Turtle Ain't No Gentleman

HELENA, Mont. (AP)— Seems they had these three gentleman turtles at the Legion Head Start center in Helena—Tommy, Timothy and Sherman. The turtles were there so the preschoolers could learn about shapes—to associate an oval shape with a turtle.

That wasn't all they learned. Sherman laid 12 eggs and they changed his name to Myrtle.

Israel, Egypt On Verge of Renewed War

that as late as Friday Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, hero of Israel's three victorious wars against the Arabs, had said the Suez Canal area is "likely to become once again the spark which touches off war."

Across Canal

Israeli and Egyptian troops face each other across the canal and have exchanged fire sporadically since the June 5-10 war.

Dayan warned that a new conflict would involve the major powers and said the Soviet Union's speedy rearmament of Egypt was encouraging its aggressiveness.

"The Elath sinking has made it crystal clear that the tasks of the Israel defense force are far from over," said the Jerusalem Post, which generally mirrors government views.

"Indeed," the newspaper said, "it has hardened the feeling that there is no real hope of achieving a peaceful solution in the area with the present Arab regimes."

'Extreme Gravity'

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said he would be in contact today with representatives of friendly governments "to point out the extreme gravity with which Israel regards the sinking of the Elath." He called it the "most flagrant" violation of the cease-fire that ended the June war.

In Cairo, Al Ahram said that "the Elath made passes in repeated and clear provocations" of the 12-mile Egyptian territorial water boundary.

When the Elath moved within 11 miles of the Egyptian coast off Port Said, the two missile boats moved in, firing four missiles and sinking the destroyer, the Egyptian account said.

Brig. Gen. Shlomo Errel, Israeli navy commander, denied that the ship was in Egyptian waters, but disclosed that the Elath took three direct hits from the apparently radar-controlled missiles. He said they had one-ton war heads and a range of about 25 miles.

Survivors said the green-colored devices changed course as they zeroed in. Israeli officials speculated they were being used for the first time in combat.

Mass of Flames

The first two rockets hit the Elath and turned her into a mass of flame and twisted steel. For 2 1/2 hours the crew fought to save her, but the ship's radio was knocked out and they could not call for help.

Finally, a third missile hit the ship and its captain was hurled

Briton Sees Wallace As Influencing Election

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A British politician says former Gov. George Wallace "will certainly have a decided effect on American politics next year."

Ivor Richard, a Labor member of Parliament who is on a month-long speaking jaunt at various American colleges and universities, arrived in Alabama Saturday from Chattanooga, Tenn. He plans to meet Wallace.

from the bridge into the sea with a broken back.

A young sailor in a hospital said, "There were only the cries of the wounded and the roaring of the flames. It was like a vision of hell."

The 23-year-old ship, purchased from Britain, then listed and went under. She sank near the spot where she had blown two Egyptian torpedo boats out of the water July 11 with old-fashioned broadsides.

A fourth missile later landed among the men struggling in the water and exploded, its waves of crushing pressure killing many, Israel said.

UAW Submitting Contract for Ford Employee Ratification

DETROIT (AP) — Top officials of the United Auto Workers today prepared for a ratification vote on a new contract with the Ford Motor Co. which could cost Ford close to a billion dollars in the next three years.

Ford executives made plans to get cars rolling off assembly lines if the strike, now in its 47th day and longest in the company's history, ends some time this week.

The union's Ford Council meets tonight and ratification votes by members are planned for Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ford plants in 25 states.

The council, made up of key officials in Ford locals, meets again at 8 p.m. Wednesday, to pass on the vote.

Return Thursday

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, said he expected his men to be returning to work by Thursday with more expected Friday. Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, said employees could be back on the job Wednesday "at the earliest."

Denise and Reuther headed the opposing bargaining teams in 13 days of intensive negotiations before the contract was agreed on early Sunday.

Reuther said the union's gains represent "our share of the increase in productivity and cannot possibly form the basis for increasing prices."

The nation's four major domestic automakers have all increased prices for 1968-model cars and have indicated the prices could be changed depending on the cost of new contracts with the UAW.

Denise declined to answer specifically when asked whether Ford would increase car prices, saying only, "One cannot ignore cost when pricing one's product."

Ford said the new contract will raise wages 45 1/2 to 90 1/2 cents an hour over its three-year span. The union estimates that its 20,000 skilled tradesmen at Ford will average $1 02 more hourly.

At the rate of $1 an hour increase in wages, fringe benefits and premium pay, the new contract would cost Ford $2,000 more per year for each of its 160,000 workers, thus close to a billion dollars in the three years of the contract.

Here are the major gains in the new contract:

— Compensation guaranteeing workers, depending on seniority, as much as 95 per cent of their annual wage, less $7.50 weekly work-related expenses, regardless of layoffs.

— An immediate raise of 20 cents an hour added to the $3.43 the average Ford worker now gets.

Skilled Labor

— Skilled workers get an additional increase of 30 cents an hour, making a 50-cent total.

— All workers get a 3 per cent raise during each of the last two-years of the three-year pact. Depending on a workers' seniority, the raise will be between 9 1/2 and 17 1/2 cents.

— Ford has agreed to guarantee at least six cents an hour in cost of living increases during the last two years of the contract. No new cost of living allowances will be paid during the first year of the contract.

Equal pay for Canadian and American workers, one of the union's top demands, was "the only major thing we didn't win," Reuther said.

Pumpkin Farmer Loses Banner Crop

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — E. J. Durham was riled Sunday when he discovered his entire pumpkin crop—two giant pumpkins of 150 and 80 pounds—had been stolen from his front porch. He had planted only four hybrid seeds on his farm 10 miles from the city, and had promised seeds from the crop to his friends.

Archer Slays Wife With Bow And Arrows, Tries to Kill Son

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 37-year-old unemployed salesman, shot his wife three times in the neck and twice in the left side. The weapon was a six-foot bow and 26-inch arrows. The captain said Booker told him the slaying ended a series of domestic quarrels over the weekend, the final one just before dawn.

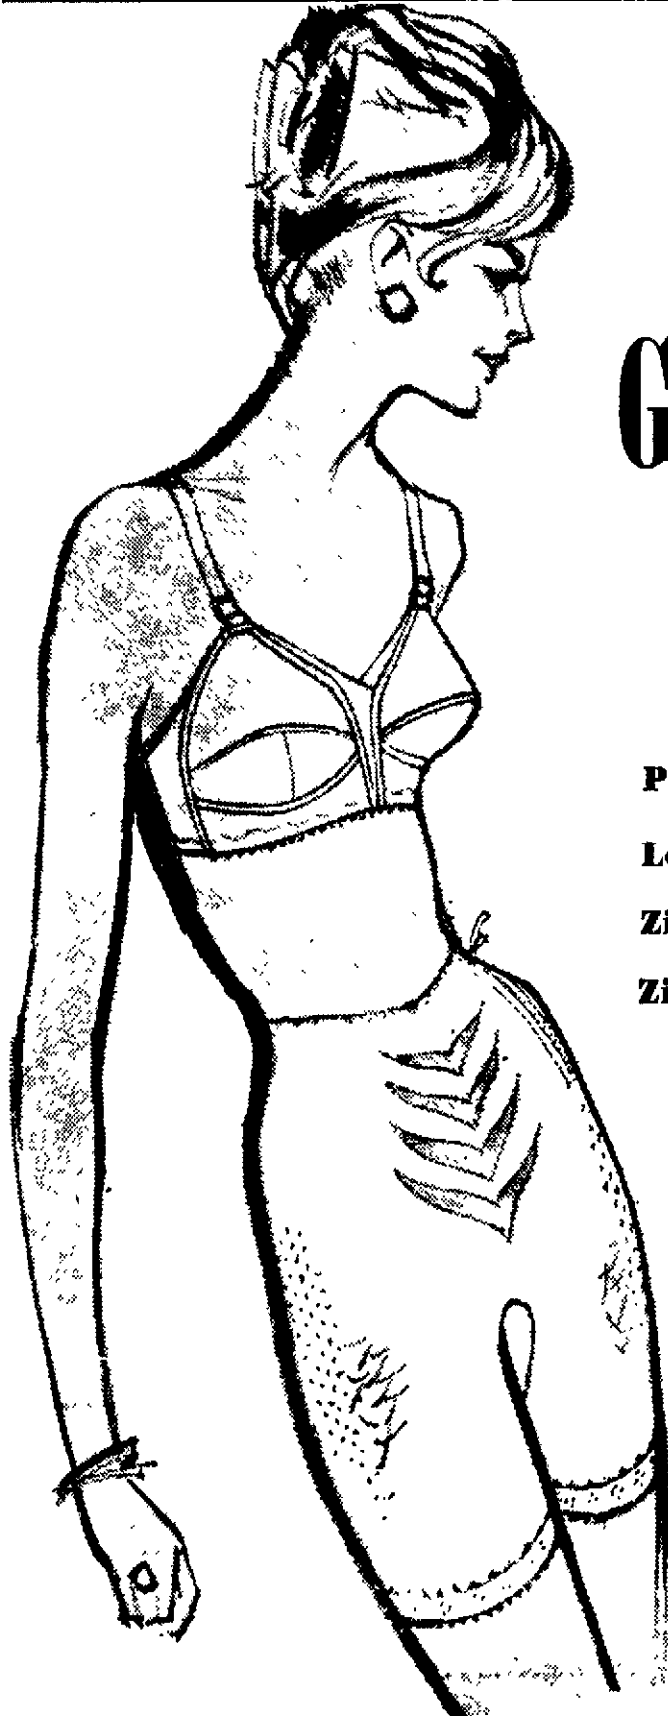

Zongolowicz said that after the slaying, Booker walked around the corner to his parents' home, where he borrowed a dime to telephone police.

Trick or Treat for UNICEF Aids Children of World

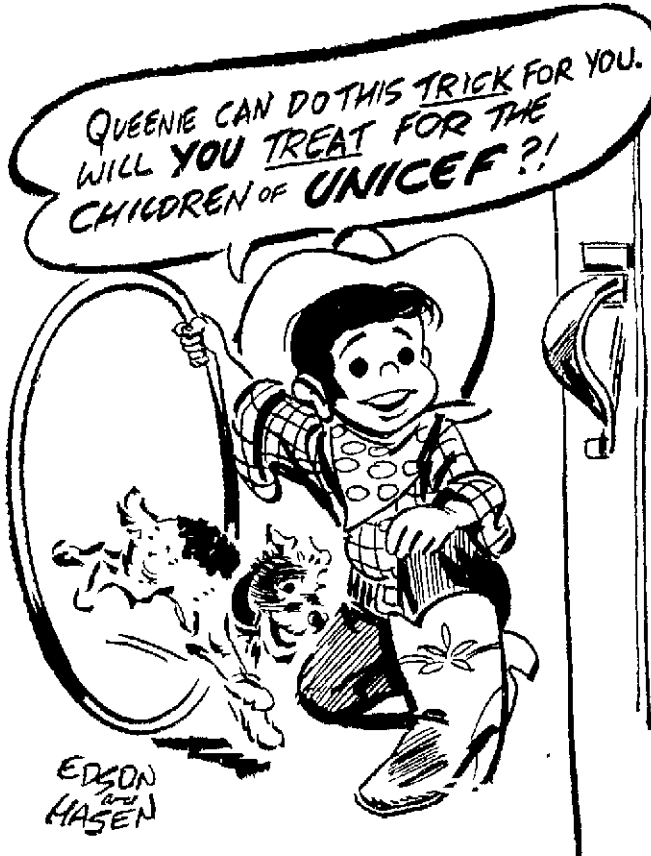

Halloween celebration plans have been announced by Mrs. Harold Lovdahl, chairman of the trick or treat for UNICEF program in Appleton. Church Women United is again sponsoring the Halloween event.

Coins collected through the UNICEF program will aid the suffering, hungry and dying children of the world. The program is assisting with approximately 500 projects in 117 countries and territories. UNICEF's aim is to assist governments to attack the most critical problems of their children in such a manner that the program will continue when UNICEF aid ends.

The coins the children collect will buy penicillin to cure yaws, a bone crippling disease; antibiotics to treat trachoma; vaccine to protect against tuberculosis; equipment for health centers, schools, and teacher training centers.

Administration

The fund is directed by a 30-nation board with representatives from all parts of the world. This board directs and approves the use of all funds. This aid is given under strict rules of at Sunday schools throughout the area.

Anyone not participating in the program through a church may get UNICEF boxes from Mrs. Lovdahl.

Foresters Plan Pre-Christmas Dinner Event

KIMBERLY — Plans for pre-Christmas dinner party, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Nov. 16 at Holy Name Catholic School gymnasium, were discussed by members of the National Catholic Society of Foresters at a recent meeting. A country style chicken dinner will be served. Contributions will be made to the fund for Retired Dominican Nuns at Pewaukee. Reservations for the dinner may be made with Mrs. John F. Lamers until Nov. 12.

A memorial mass will be offered for deceased chaplains and members at 6:30 a.m. Nov. 14.

Mrs. Emil Van Dyke and Mrs. Harold Bobber had charge of refreshments.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Dieting for One

A sensitive moment for a reducer is when she eats alone at home. Rather than cook the proper foods for herself, more often than not she raids the refrigerator for dribs and drabs.

By so doing she almost always oversteps her calorie allowance. A pick-up meal — a little of this and that — is likely to contain more calories than a well-planned repast. It can never lay claim to a balance of nutrients that promote health and vitality. For example, the leftover potato, gravy, rolls and dessert come in completely unbalanced at 500 calories.

All sorts of excuses are given for not preparing a solitary meal. It's hard to buy for one; cooking takes time and ends in boredom. But none of those excuses is valid. There are a large number of heat-and-serve dishes packaged for dieters in single portions. Such delights as chicken a la king and barbecued beef are included in the group. Almost all canned foods come in individual sizes. Fresh foods, including meat and fowl, can be purchased in any quantity desired.

With a bit of organization, cooking time is negligible. Here's what you can do in 20 minutes for under 400 calories:

Onion soup, broiled liver, steamed baby carrots, fresh fruit.

Now there's a good, slimming, healthful dinner. As for the boredom of cooking — would you rather be bored or buxom?

Here's a painless way for teens and adults to reduce! Just send for my booklet, Leaner, Lighter and Lovelier. It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks; Calorie Counter and Nutrition Chart; Diet Shortcuts; Spot Reducers. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Altonso Nunez To be Honored

Mexican organist Alfonso Vega Nunez and his wife will be honored at a public reception given by the Lawrence University Spanish department following Nunez' recital on Friday at Memorial Chapel. The gathering will be held in the foyer of the Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Prof. John Alfieri has planned the reception with the assistance of students of the department.

St. Nunez, organist at the Cathedral of Morelia, is appearing here under sponsorship of the Northeastern Wisconsin chapter of the American Guild of Organists and Lawrence University.

During their visit, the Nunezes will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn F. Cooper, Jr., Menasha. Mrs. Cooper, the former Maria Alarcon, is from Morelia, in the state of Michoacan.

Adds Flourishes

For stuffed tomatoes, cut each tomato into sixths from the top to the bottom — without actually cutting through the bottom. The tomato will have a star shape and will hold a salad filling. For the filling you might like to use chicken, turkey, tuna or salmon along with celery and mayonnaise. Serve the stuffed tomatoes on salad greens.

'Towel' Style Show Planned For Monday

A provocative title for one of the most unique fashion presentations ever unveiled is "Lady, You're Putting Me On." To demonstrate this premise, a leading towel manufacturer joined forces with the fashion industry. The result is a collection of designs for every occasion, made from towels, sheets, blankets, bedspreads and shower curtains.

The original "linen closet" creations were styled by Pauline Triguere, Andrew Woods, John Moore, Anne Klein, Adele Simpson and other leading stylists.

The styles include evening and hostess gowns, at-home wear, daytime wear and active sportswear.

Symphony League Entertains Musicians, Audience After Opening Fall Concert

Concert-Goers Were Invited by members of the Symphony League to a reception at the First National Bank after the Sunday evening program. Above, they are welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams, right foreground, and, to their right, Mr. and Mrs. Karlos Moser. At right, Mrs. John Menn serves Mrs. E. R. Shannon, Mrs. Robert Lang, Mrs. James Grist, Mr. Lang and Mr. Grist.

The symphony season opened Sunday evening in Appleton, with the first concert presented by the Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra. It was a festive event, both for those who heard the program at Lawrence University's Memorial Chapel, and those who went on to the first after-concert reception, held at the First National Bank Community Room.

The performance rated rave comments from the knowledgeable music devotees of the area and the audience and musicians continued to discuss the program and the excitement of having an area symphony as they visited informally at the party.

Arriving reception guests were greeted at the bank by League board members Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lang and Mr. and Mrs. James Grist. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams, League president; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sigman, Mr. and Mrs. Karlos Moser, Mr. and Mrs.

Robert Below and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Heiberg. Mr. Sigman is president of the Fox Valley Symphony Association; Mr. Moser, symphony director; Mr. Below, guest artist, and Mrs. Heiberg, concert mistress.

Assisting at the refreshment table were Mrs. John V. Maring, Neenah, League treasurer; Mrs. Frank Pechman, Kaukauna community chairman; Mrs. John Russo, Kaukauna community co-chairman; Mrs. John Menn, Appleton community chairman; Mrs. Curtis Tarr, Symphony Association board member, and Mrs. William Fieweger, Menasha community chairman.

Members of the League who served on the reception committee were Mrs. E. R. Shannon and Mrs. F. H. Sprowl, co-chairmen; Mrs. Robert Fursenberg, Mrs. Cyrus Rachie, Mrs. Paul Truitschel, Mrs. Henry Bailey, Mrs. Francis Broderick, Mrs. Robert Rae and Mrs. Walter Rugland.

With Their Successful Concert behind them, members of the Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra relaxed and enjoyed the post-concert reception given by the Symphony League. Chatting above are Mrs. Frederick Smith and her daughter, Susanne, both in the orchestra, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Below and Mrs. F. J. Pechman. Mr. Below was soloist at the opening concert of the season. Below, concert mistress Lucy Baicher Heiberg talks with Miss Mary Schoeneck and Mrs. Elizabeth Bertrand. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Honored on 90th Birthday Anniversary

Fred Furchland celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary at a noon dinner party Monday at Peabody Manor.

Mr. Furchland, who was born in Frankfurt, Germany, came to the United States in 1904. He was employed as a chemist for General Aniline Corp., in New York and Chicago, Ill., for about 50 years.

The nonagenarian, who has lived in Appleton since 1946, resided with his daughter, Mrs. Jack Stewart, for 15 years.

Mr. Furchland has two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

He enjoys fishing, playing cards and collecting stamps.

Reader Suggests 'Weapons', Actions to Ward Off Attacker

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the advice you gave to the young woman who was afraid of self-service elevators. She said she had a terrible fear of being trapped with a man who might take advantage of her. Your advice was good, but it was incomplete.

Will you please tell your female readers there are several things they can do to protect themselves against an attacker. The following information might save a life:

An ordinary wooden lead pencil, rammed into an ear can be a lethal weapon. A woman who must walk alone at night from a bus should make it a habit to carry a pencil in her hand.

A sharp upward blow where the lip joins the nose can cause acute agony.

A hard kick in the groin can incapacitate any attacker.

A woman in high heels can cripple a man if she stomps on his instep.

A sharp blow on the Adam's apple can cause an assailant to two kids have been dating (or I should say talking on the telephone) for six months. Lack of money and transportation have been a problem (for them that is) — a blessing for us.

The girl calls our son as late as midnight and as early as 6 a.m. I would not stoop to listening in on his conversations but I can't help but hear some of the things he says since the upstairs phone is outside our bedroom. From his side of the conversation I can tell she is talking pretty sexy because he frequently says, "Pipe down about that, somebody might hear you."

Several weeks ago I ran across a letter this girl had written. I telephoned her mother and invited her over to discuss it. She promised to call me and make a date but she never did.

What can a boy's mother do when the mother of the girl doesn't give a hang? If it had been my daughter I'd have been there in 10 minutes. — Concerned

Dear Concerned: The mother's indifference to your phone call should give you a clue as to what kind of upbringing the girl has had. You can do nothing but hope your son's upbringing will be good enough for both of them. Encourage him to be honest and open. Without preaching, make sure he is aware of his responsibility to the girls he goes with. And put a curfew on the boy. Don't let him stay out as late as he wants to. This is where many parents of boys fail.

be breathless for at least five minutes.

Just remembering these few pointers could mean the difference between life and death. Please print this. — Indiana

Dear In: In behalf of several million women readers, I thank you. Now, girls, go put a lead pencil in the pocket of your winter coat. And clip this column and put it where you can re-read it from time to time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am not sending my name or address because your advice won't help unless it is published. I want our 17-year-old son to read it. I am worried about his involvement with a 16-year-old girl. These

Sheinwold Rubber Bridge Is Relaxing

When the annual rubber bridge tournament begins this weekend at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, a couple of hundred enthusiasts will thank their lucky stars that rubber bridge is a relaxed game. Not every mistake is costly.

East's mistake in last year's tournament would be made by nine out of 10 bridge players. The mistake wasn't fatal because the game was rubber bridge.

West opened the five of spades, and the king forced out South's ace. South drew a round of trumps with ace, led a trump to dummy's ten and then returned the four of clubs from dummy.

East played low, and South's jack drove out the ace of clubs. West returned a diamond to dummy's king, and declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy. East put up the king, and South ruffed. Now South got to dummy with a diamond to throw his last diamond on the ten of clubs.

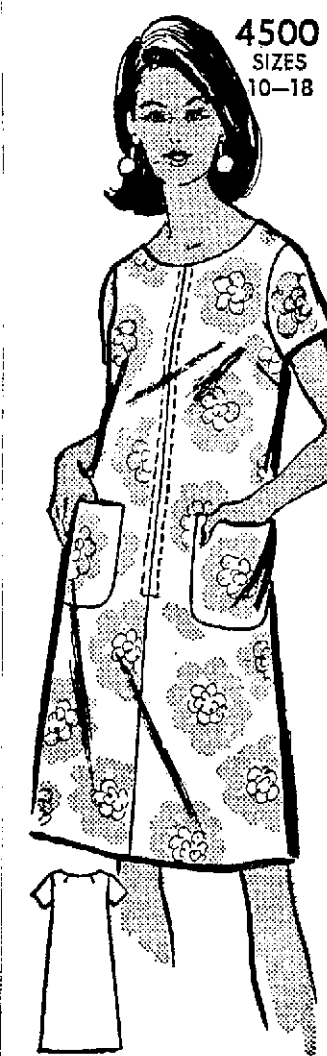

East's mistake gave South an overtrick, which didn't matter very much in rubber bridge. In a match-point tournament this kind of mistake might make the difference between winning and losing a national championship.

Right Play
East should play the king of clubs when declarer leads the first club from dummy. East can see that South is sure to win six trumps, one spade and two diamonds. There is no hope for the defense if South also has the ace of clubs, so its costs East nothing to put up his king.

The correct play prevents South from developing a club trick, and South must lose a spade, a diamond and a club. If West had the jack of spades instead of the nine, the correct play would defeat the contract instead of merely preventing South from making an overtrick.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K 8 7, H-9 5, D-J 10 7 4, C-K 9 5 3. What do you say?
Answer: Bid two spades. The only question is whether to bid 1-Y or two spades. Prefer to raise partner's major suit when you can.

Blue Ribbon Committee

Full-Time Alderman Study Planned

Appointment of a blue ribbon citizens' committee was recommended Monday night to study the possibility of changing the status of Appleton aldermen to full-time.

The city council is presently comprised of 20 part-time members, who receive $1,200 a year and are elected to two-year terms.

Eight aldermen were co-authors of a resolution calling for authority to be given the mayor to appoint a five-member panel.

Milwaukee is the only city in the state with full-time council members, serving at $9,665 a year.

Higher Salaries
Racine, Madison, Wauwatosa and Green Bay are among cities paying higher salaries which range from $1,980 to $2,400.

Because of the heavy load of committee meetings, there has been some talk of making the Appleton legislator a full-time employee but the matter has never been thoroughly explored.

The purpose of the resolution — signed by Aids. James Bethke (5th), Glenn Thompson (13th), Roy Pointer (14th), Arthur Hoolihan (11th), Mark Catlin (7th), Alvin E. Tews (5th), Walter Kalata (2nd) and Richard Huisman (1st) — was:

— The mayor appoint a committee consisting of five citizens members to study a change from part-time alderman to full-time alderman in Appleton.

Report Findings
— And the committee report its findings to the mayor and city council with the recommended details surrounding the change, if it is recommended.

There was no discussion on the resolution. As a matter of procedure it was referred to the board of public works where it will be debated.

Whatever action the board takes will be referred back to the council at a future meeting, and after that a study may be recommended.

Three resolution signers are members of standing committees and members of the board of public works.

Heavy Agenda
The council waded through a heavy log of business with Aid. John Ayers (12th), council president, presiding in the absence of the mayor who was out of the city.

After the regular meeting, the council conducted an executive session and discussed policies connected with developing and selling of old airport property to industries for expansion purposes.

The cost of installing utilities to service the 153 acres, recently purchased from the county board for $413,000, was outlined. The land acquisition committee was directed to begin negotiations with industries interested in building plants at the new industrial park at the city's northeast fringe.

In other action the council: — Confirmed the appointment of Robert Pfefferle as the new city engineer, filling a vacancy when Frank Keuler was appointed public works director. Pfefferle will receive $945 a month.

3 Lots Affected Council Denies Request To Rezone Newberry

The request of Land Associates, Inc. to have three lots on the north side of Newberry Street rezoned ran into a wall of opposition from several Appleton aldermen Monday night.

And by a 14-5 vote the city council concurred in the recommendation of the plan commission to reject a move to rezone the property — between Briarcliff and Concord Drives — from single family residential to commercial-light manufacturing.

However, in keeping with council procedure the city clerk will now set a date for a public hearing.

A move to have representatives of Land Associates plead their case in advance of the hearing was cut short after brief council debate.

Opposed Rezoning
Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th), in whose ward the property is located, said he strongly opposed the rezoning and did not feel the request had to be discussed in detail until the public hearing.

Thompson said it would be unfair to hear from the petitioners for the rezoning without residents of the area present to voice opposition.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen said he could not speak for the unanimous action of the commission in denying the rezoning, but said his personal position had consistently been against changing the north side of Newberry from residential to commercial.

Per Pupil Spending $30 Off Average

Appleton Schools Rate 46th in 58 Systems Surveyed by State

Per pupil expenditures in the Appleton Public School System plunged to $30 below the state average for the 1966-67 school year, according to an expenditure survey of Wisconsin, compiled by the Wisconsin Public Expenditures Survey, from records on file in the State Department of Audit.

The median for the 1966-67 school year is $491. Appleton came in 46th out of 58 systems listed in the survey which have an average daily attendance of more than 2,500 pupils.

Last year Appleton was $15 below the state average and came in ninth out of 18 communities. In 1964-65 Appleton was 18th out of 20 cities, with $39 below the state average and in 1963-64 the city was 14 out of 19 communities with $27 below the average.

Rating Down
"I thought that this year we would be much higher, but due to the $200,000 cut in the budget and an underestimation on our part of other cities' spendings, we fell far below the average," said Charles Buchanan, board president.

"It is unfortunate that both government and private agencies which give out aid to school systems often use per pupil costs to determine the quality of a school system," he added.

In the most recent survey, the highest per pupil cost was in Whitefish Bay with $712 and the lowest at Chippewa Falls with $355.

City Crashes Put 2 Women In Hospital

Jane Hartzheim Suffers Head Injury Monday

Two persons were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital following separate accidents on Appleton streets Monday.

Jane Hartzheim, 821 North St. Little Chute, suffered a head injury when the car she was in collided with another car at E. College and S. Lawe streets about 8 p.m.

Police said that a car driven by John L. Hartzheim, 20, same Little Chute address, was west-bound on College when it collided with a car driven by Patricia L. Ziebell, 17, 5901 N. Richmond St., Appleton, whom police said went through a red light while southbound on Lawe.

Cecily Bates, 429 W. Sixth St., suffered cuts to her head and legs when her car and another auto collided at Pacific and Union streets about 3:05 p.m. Driver of the other car was Ronald L. Williams, 35, 2101 N. Alvin St.

Although police said the woman could recall nothing about the accident, they were able to determine she was northbound on Union and Williams was traveling east on Pacific.

Jacqueline J. Schlaeger, 442 E. Columbian St., Neenah, suffered a minor injury about 10 a.m. Monday when her car collided with a truck driven by Andrew C. Dietzen, 18, route 4, Appleton. Police said the woman was traveling the wrong way (north) on Appleton Street and the truck was westbound on North Street.

Authorities Still Await Crime Lab Report on George Schmidt Death

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
It has now been 30 days since the first of many parts of a dismembered body were found near downtown Appleton.

Although the State Crime Laboratory was able to definitely establish that the victim was George Schmidt, 82, 319 N. Division St., there is still no word from the state agency as to how the elderly, retired contractor may have died, or in fact, just when he died.

The crime laboratory, in Madison, reported 18 days ago that they had established identification. Authorities then could do little more than wait for the lab report on their "advance examination" of the butchered body, most of which was found during an early morning search behind the Schmidt home.

Taken To Madison
The body parts, along with other evidence, were taken to Madison for examination. Each week after that, authorities were optimistic that the important report would be returned. It is needed, they say, before any charges can be even be contemplated in the unusual case.

Authorities can only speculate on whether or not Schmidt died a natural death (he was in failing health) and then was cut into small pieces, or was killed and then dissected, apparently in his home.

They can only speculate

Appleton Youth Given 150-Day Jail Term For Traffic Violations

Christopher A. Montanye, 18, 402 N. Main St., Appleton, was sentenced Monday afternoon to 150 days in the Brown County Jail by Judge James Byers of County Court Branch 2.

Montanye was found guilty of inattentive driving, operating a car after his license had been revoked and making a false application for a driving permit. He was sentenced to 60 days on the charge of operating a car after revocation and 90 days for the false application. The sentences are to run consecutively. The inattentive driving charge drew a $25 fine.

Aldermen Reach No Decisions Meter Maids Cost, Lady Bartenders Considered

Females moved to the forefront of local governmental deliberations Monday night.

The Appleton City Council gave strong indication it intends to change its mind about shifting meter maids from the police to the parking meter department and received another in a series of requests from the Tavernkeepers Association to drop its ban on issuing operator's licenses to women bartenders.

The future of the female meter checkers was recommended in a report of the parking commission which called upon the council to reconsider its August meeting move of transferring them to the parking department.

Function Best
"The Parking Commission believes the meter maids can best function from within the police department," the commission said.

City Atty. David Geenen ruled that nothing was official before the council to vote on, and suggested someone submit a resolution if he wants to put the checkers back in the police department.

Ald. R. P. Groh (8th) later brought in the resolution which was referred to committee and will be acted on at the next council meeting.

In the meantime, the parking commission recommendation was referred back at the request of Ald. Arthur Hoolihan (11th), author of the original resolution to shift the meter maids.

Chance to Appear
"I didn't have a chance to appear at the last commission meeting and will do so at the next," Hoolihan said.

The woman bartender issue has been voted down several times in recent years.

Under the present ordinance women can tend bar providing a licensed male operator is on the premises.

But those who want the ordinance changed are seeking to have women tend bar without the need for a male licensed bartender present.

The ordinance also allows women to serve drinks in restaurants and supper clubs.

Calumet Okays $164.5 Million Valuation

Supervisors Study County Tax Base Before Budget Talks

CHILTON — Calumet supervisors unanimously accepted the county's equalized valuation of $164,504,030 Monday in their first day of a three-day session.

This year's equalized evaluation is an increase of $8,933,730 over 1966.

Property in villages and cities here was valued at $83,392,820 up $6,517,220 over last year. Property in the nine towns totaled $81,112,110, an increase of $2,416,510.

Total real estate values were listed at $136,377,500 and personal property assessments at $28,127,430.

Total value of the five cities was $76,572,710, with Brillion showing the largest increase while moving to a valuation of $19,096,700. New Holstein's $23,309,950 valuation leads Calumet County cities.

Other valuation of cities are Chilton with $19,671,960; Appleton section of Calumet, $12,077,000, and Kiel, $2,417,100.

Village valuations show Hilbert at $4,474,680 and Stockbridge $2,345,430 for a combined total of $6,820,110.

Harrison led the towns in equalized evaluation with $24,044,700. Other towns included Brillion, $8,398,500; Brothertown, $7,956,210; Charlestown, $5,235,860; Chilton, $6,999,610; New Holstein, $6,832,150; Stockbridge, $8,140,130; Rantoul, $5,969,860; and Woodville, $7,534,910.

Need Seen for Political Training

STEVENS POINT — The need for political leaders has become so apparent that the nation's colleges and universities will encourage students to enter the often scorned profession, John W. Gardner, U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, predicted at a news conference Monday.

His remarks came following a keynote address at the "Education Day" workshop for 7th Congressional District high school students co-sponsored by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Marshfield, and the state university here.

"The world has become so complex that we need the very best minds we can get to assume the positions of leaders. Now very few are thinking along those lines," Gardner said.

"This need has become so apparent that colleges and universities, who previously encouraged professionalization, are beginning to change their thinking," the department chief said.

No Motivation

Gardner said lack of motivation was the main drawback in encouraging youngsters to enter the political field. Salary rewards are not great and it takes a good deal of dedication and the career is fraught with difficulties, he explained.

"The uncertainty of employment is another drawback," Gardner said — tongue in cheek.

Great progress has been made in education, but 20 years from now we will look back at the present system and ask ourselves how we ever tolerated such a thing, he predicted.

Gardner said education was on the brink of a great revolution, and some of the programs have been tested — others are still only theory, he added.

"Change is very slow. Future education will encourage and use the theme 'release of human potential.' We are interested in inactivating anything that damages or stunts the human being.

Predicts Change

"While it is impossible at present, self-motivation will be the means of education in 20 years by the use of many game-like learning processes to challenge the children," Gardner said.

He singled out talking typewriters and electronic equipment currently being tested. Gardner said teachers will be retained to teach what only a teacher can handle. He predicted a mass involvement in the audio-visual field.

Neenah Lacks New Hotel, Planners Feel

NEENAH — With the once-proud Valley Inn recently reduced to rubble, a new motor-hotel has come upon the scene — at least, in the conceptual stages.

Russell Straley, of Real Estate Research Corp., said Monday his firm had found a need for first-class accommodations and meeting rooms in the central business core.

He said the community could support a 60 to 75-room hotel complex by 1970, and in another 10 years, an additional 50 rooms would be needed.

While Straley found no demand for a large convention facility in Neenah, he did see the need for a central hotel which could host smaller groups.

WSU-O Sees 18 Per Cent Growth Rate

OSHKOSH — The enrollment at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh this fall is 9,444, up a resounding 18 per cent over last year's opening registration.

One-fifth of the students in the State University system are attending school at WSU-O this fall, and the total student enrollment at the nine universities is 50,996.

WSU-Whitewater had the largest single increase. Some 8,581 students entered Whitewater this fall, 1,577 more than in 1966. Oshkosh continues to be the largest of the universities. Whitewater is second in size. Stout State and Eau Claire gained nearly one-fifth over last year. The total system grew by 6 per cent last year.

Task Force Asks $166 Million for Doctor Training

MADISON (AP) — Broad expansion of physician training in Wisconsin has been endorsed by the governor's task force on medical education.

The group proposed Monday that $166.8 million be provided for new buildings to expand the program in the next 10 years. An estimated $36 million in state funds would be needed.

The force recommended: Expanding the University of Wisconsin medical school in Madison from 96 to 160 places in each class.

Expanding the Marquette School of Medicine Inc. from 104 places to 160 in each class.

Creation of a new medical school at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee with 100 in each physician training class.

The proposals would more than double the current training program.

Planners Optimistic Future Looks Bright for Neenah's Downtown

NEENAH — The money is here. The residents only have to be convinced to spend it in following through on the financial findings, added that the downtown had a "bright future" if the community "is willing to take the steps."

High Income

The market is there, Straley said, pointing to the high income of Neenah families. But, he felt, the central business district was not "capitalizing" on the spending money in the surrounding area.

Straley stated that if the downtown section were "substantially upgraded," the sales volume would almost double in the next 13 years.

"Sales volume potential will be greatly dependent upon the quality, variety, merchandising ability, amenities and service offered," the report noted.

Stilwell Backs U.S. Vietnam Action In Talks to 7th District Students

BY ROGER PITT

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STEVENS POINT — "If the U.S. decides it can't afford a war in Vietnam — she is really tantamount to putting her world leadership on the auction block."

Gen. Richard G. Stilwell, former Chief of Staff, U.S. Military Assistance Command in Vietnam, made the statement during a seminar on "The Individual and Foreign Military Policy" Monday at the second "Education Day" co-sponsored by Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point and 7th District Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Marshfield.

About 250 high school juniors and seniors representing the 63 high schools in Laird's district took part in the program.

In general Central Wisconsin high school students supported the United States roll in the southeastern Asian country's fight for democracy.

Although 82 persons taking part in the two seminars favored stepped up bombing in Vietnam, 15 felt the U.S. should pull out altogether. Only a few felt the U.S. was on the right course in conducting the military campaign.

Stilwell pointed out that the U.S. was involved in a war — the likes of which only had been fought in a few isolated incidents before in history.

"We have never fought a war like this before. Napoleon tried once. This is total warfare — military action is only part of the activity we are involved in.

Other forces are equally involved in political, social, economic and psychological reform," the general said.

Stilwell added, "The military action is actually a secondary battle and is not what will determine our success in the Asian country."

A student participant asked Stilwell what the U.S. saturation point was for becoming involved in Vietnam or other military situations in foreign countries.

The general said, "It seems to me that if the U.S. judges she can't afford the war in Vietnam, she is really putting her world leadership on the auction block."

"I believe the nation not only can, but must sustain its foreign policy," Stilwell said. "The military has much less decision-making power than the public realizes. Decisions for escalation or de-escalation of the war and what strategic sites are to be bombed are up to the political leadership of our country."

Stilwell firmly supported this control system. He said the leadership elected by the people should and must have the decision-making power.

Wants Total War
An elderly man said, "We should take up the communist's challenge and show them we have the patience to fight a sustained war and beat them at their own game."

Another man, who voted to pull out of Vietnam explained, "I voted to pull out because I ascribe to the Mac Arthur theory of total war. If we are going to fight, let's use all our resources."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Fun To Do

glisten in bright light as indicated in the illustration

The most satisfactory initials can be formed if you first print them lightly with pencil, the lines to serve as a guide when you glue the sequins

Make the initials large as the boy has done in the picture

Using some strong glue, place a tiny spot of it on the back of a sequin and, with the aid of a pair of tweezers, set it in place on the pencil line of an initial

Apply glue to another sequin and set it in line with the other, fitting them snugly together

Continue until all the initials have been formed with sequins. Let the glue dry

Beatles 1st Movie Boasts 11 Hit Songs
BY TV SCOUT

6:30-8:15 Channels 4-5 — Like it or not, The Beatles made some sort of motion picture history with the 1965 release of their hit "A Hard Day's Night." The big factor is the filming technique — "cinema verite" which has been extensively copied, including the basis for the series, The Monkees. The story is of what happened to the Beatles, George Harrison, Paul McCartney, John Lennon and Ringo Starr during 36 hours of a personal tour in England. Aside from the frenzy and frenetic, clanking and swooning fans, the Beatles manage to get in 11 songs.

8:30-10 Channels 11-6-7 — Since all gems have some flaws, do not be too quick to turn away from Kismet mainly because of the unfortunate singing style of its star Jose Ferrer. He more than makes up for it with his acting, and the overall television adaptation of the Broadway musical has many high spots you shouldn't miss. The color is stunning (sometimes blinding) and so is the naval action of Barbara Eden, who could have called the term belly-vision. George Chakiris will make the girls swoon and when the men can take their eyes off the Eden epidemic, they will be delighted with Anna Maria Alberghetti. Hans Conried as the villainous Wazir gives a new impishness to the role. Left intact, as they should, are the beautiful songs and the fine fantasy of the poet-beggar who becomes Emir and the love affair between the commoner and the Caliph. (C)

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7-12 — Dakarti is loaded with miseries tonight with almost everyone falling victim to one mishap or another. It starts with Judy becoming the victim of some poison berries. (C)

6:30-7:30 Channels 11-6-9 — Glenn Corbett gives an excellent portrayal on Garrison's Gorillas of an American agent captured by the Germans who breaks down under the pressure of their interrogation. (C)

7:30-8:30 Channels 11-6-9 —

Special Events
Shiocton Drama Club — (opens Wednesday) Open to the public, two one-acts, Patterns; The Belles of Horsefly Gulch, 8 p.m., Shiocton High Gymnasium.

Salad Luncheon — Bazaar (Wednesday) St. James Methodist churchwomen, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Church dining room, Capitoli Drive. (Express room for those with limited lunch hour).

Antique Show and Sale — (Wednesday, Thursday) 11th annual event of Green Bay-De Pere Antiquarian Society. At Northland Hotel, Green Bay, 10:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday; 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

Fox Center Film Series — (Wednesday) The Chicken, French pantomime comedy, and Nobody Waved Goodbye, Canadian film, 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall at University of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Center, Midway Road.

Some good scenic effects and a better premise highlight The Invaders tonight. The latter is can have fatal effects on aliens, a point that comes to David Vincent when a pair of ambulance attendants are found dead of cerebral hemorrhage and their charge, a chicken pox victim, disappears. (C)

7:30-8:30 Channels 2-7-12 — Lovely Michele Lee is a highlight of The Red Skelton Hour along with actors John Forsythe and Roland Winters. (C)

8:15-10 Channels 4-5 — Tuesday Night at the Movies is both nutty and nice with Jerry Lewis starring in "Cinderella," an updated and slightly twisted adaptation of the fairy tale. (C)

9:10 Channels 2-12 — Where We Stand In Vietnam is the first light in a two-part examination of conflict in South Vietnam, with this segment stressing the military activities there. (C)

8:30-9 Channels 2-12 — It's a question of flying or lying or a combination of both in a casual little story on Good Morning World. The boys have both been bitten by the flying bug and are all set to take lessons when Dave's wife puts the evil eye on the whole scheme. (C)

Great Biblical Movie Opens Friday at Brin

'Greatest Story Ever Told' Coming Instead Of 'Sound of Music'

The United Artists' movie production of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" with George Stevens directing will open Friday at the Brin Theater.

The return engagement of "The Sound of Music," scheduled for a Wednesday opening, had to be cancelled according to Brin Manager Walter C. Holt. The musical story of the famous Trapp singers was unavailable at this time, Holt explained. The current "Grand Prix" will continue through Thursday at 8 p.m.

The Biblical movie is based on the best selling book by author Fulton Oursler, the writings of Henry Denker and additional extensive research made by Director Stevens in the Holy Land. The late Carl Sandburg, poet and author, also assisted with creative production of the movie.

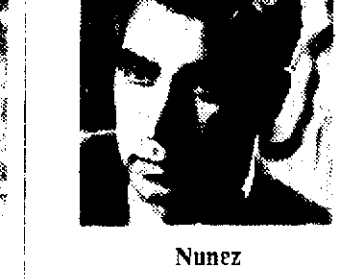

The large, star-studded cast is headed by Max von Sydow in the Christ role with such actors as Dorothy McGuire as Mary, Charlton Heston as John the Baptist and the late Claude Rains as Herod. John Wayne as the Centurion, David McCallum in the role of Judas and Van Heflin as Bar Armand.

The movie will be shown nightly at 8 p.m. with 1:30 p.m. matinees on Sunday. Arrangements also are being made for special matinees for schools and churches, Manager Holt said.

Cathedral Organist of Mexico to Give Recital

Alfonso Vega Nunez Also Fine Arts Director; at Lawrence Chapel Oct. 27

Alfonso Vega Nunez, organist of the Cathedral at Morelia, Mexico, and a prominent musical figure in his country, will present a public recital at 8 p.m.

Nunez

Friday, Oct. 27, at Lawrence University Memorial Chapel.

Nunez, a former vice president of Mexico's Union Nacional de Organistas, will appear under auspices of Lawrence and the Northeastern Wisconsin chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Studied at 11

A student of church music throughout much of his life, Nunez is Director of Morelia's Fine Arts Institute. He was a featured recitalist at an August meeting of the Union Nacional, and is a veteran of recitals and symphonic performances throughout South American and the Caribbean.

Born in 1924 in the village of

He is a student of Miguel Bernal Jimenez and Ignacio Mier Arriaga. He also studied in Europe and received his master's degree in organ, summa cum laude, in an assembly of musicians including Msgr. Higino Angles, President of I. Pontificio de M.S. de Roma; Joseph Gajard, director of the choir of the Abbey of Solesmes; Romano Picutti, former director of the Vienna Boys' Choir; Dr. Clifford Bennett and Eugene Lapiere, director and professor respectively, of the Gregorian Institute of America; and Prof. Alfredo Bernier, University of Montreal.

Appleton Program

Nunez' program here will consist of the Noel, "Joseph est bien marie," by Claudio Balbastre; Soeur Monique, by Couperin-Guilman; the chorales "O Mensch, bewein' dein Sunde gross," "In dir ist Freude," and "Jesus, cui ma joie demeure," by J. S. Bach;

Christmas Sonata, by Miguel Bernal Jimenez; Antiphon III, "I am black but comely," by Marcel Dupre; Scherzino, by Ramon Noble; and Studio da Concerto, Raffaele Manari.

Nunez is a recording artist for Cook Records.

Rescue Run, 10 Fires Keep Firemen Busy

Leaking Fuel Tank Creates Dangerous Street Condition

Ten fire calls and a rescue squad run kept Appleton firemen busy Monday.

At 4:42 p.m., the rescue squad was summoned to the Walter Rosenzweig home, 1916 N. Drew St., after Mrs. Rosenzweig could not awaken her husband. A doctor pronounced Rosenzweig, 64, dead at the scene, reportedly of a heart attack.

For more than an hour, starting at 4:30 p.m., firemen were busy washing down fuel oil that spilled from a large fuel tank being hauled by an Appleton construction firm. Firemen said the tank sprung a leak, causing fuel to run onto the roadway along W. Franklin Street, in the vicinity of Division and Richmond streets. Sand also was spread on the area to avert a dangerous traffic situation.

At 4:45 p.m., firemen were called to flush down gasoline that was leaking from a fuel storage tank at the Yellow Cab Co., 209 N. Oneida St. Firemen said the gasoline ran onto the ground while the storage tank was being cleaned.

900 Per Cent Profit Seemed Just Too Good

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The offer of making $90,000 on a $10,000 investment sounded almost too good.

Police said Samuel Erail, 74, was approached Monday by two men who said they had three bars of "Mexican gold."

Police said the pair told Erail the bars, actually brass, were worth $100,000 but that they'd sell to him for a tenth of the price.

Erail said they urged him to meet them in front his bank.

He did—with police officers whom he'd called for advice. The bars were stolen from a nearby machine shop, police said.

Mark S. Trujillo, 32, and Gaspar Martinez, 20, both of Los Angeles, were booked on grand theft.

for four runs Monday. Firemen went to the 1400 block of W. Winnebago Street; the 1800 block of N. Clark Street; the 3600 block of Lexington Drive; and in the area of Lexington Drive and Bay Ridge Road.

At 12:32 p.m., firemen were summoned to the Donald Fulcer home, 1813 E. Pauline St., to handle a defective dryer, and at 10 p.m., two units were sent to James Madison Junior High School when a chimney fire was reported. However, firemen found that sparks were coming from paper being burned in an incinerator by janitors.

A city sanitation department truck came to No. 3 fire station Monday morning after rubbish began burning in a rear compartment. Firemen used a booster line to extinguish the fire in the rubbish, which was dumped onto the ground.

At 3:05 p.m. Monday, firemen were called to the H. C. Pruesch home, 824 E. Glendale Ave., when burning paper set fire to the roofing paper stored in a garage. Firemen, who said the blaze was under control when they arrived, said there was damage to the garage framework.

Council Denies Request to Rezone Street

action of the plan commission and said he regretted the council did not take similar action when the rezoning request of James Vanden Bogaard was approved several months ago.

At that time Vanden Bogaard said rezoning was necessary for adding on to his dairy operation. But city officials said as soon as the property was rezoned the owner put it up for sale.

"I made a mistake and voted for the rezoning then," Thompson said, "I was wrong and time has proven the plan commission right."

At one point when it appeared discussion would continue on whether to permit Land Associates officials to speak prior to the public hearing, Ald. Walter Kalala (2nd) cut things short, declaring, "I don't believe we should take up the council's time for lobbying."

Attempts Persisted

Attempts to rezone properties on Newberry Street have persisted over the past five years, and in every instance the residents of the area turned out in large numbers at public hearings to oppose the petitions.

Much of the property now zoned single family came into the city from the Town of Buchanan. When there are annexations, the property under state law reverts to single family residential.

In a related action, the council agreed to reconsider its recent rezoning of a lot on Fairway Court from single to two-family, and then referred the matter back to the plan commission for further review.

Rasmussen also announced the new city zoning ordinance — the first since 1951 — was ready and should be reviewed by the city attorney before public hearings are scheduled.

It's Official. The City of Appleton now owns the old Outagamie County Airport property. Purchase of the 153-acre tract was finalized by city and county officials Monday. answers," Wachtendonk declared.

He recommended that committees of jurisdiction be empowered to recommend attendance of municipal employees to conventions "when the best interests of the city can be served."

"Our people should not only attend these programs, but they should be talking with people from other parts of the country that have been involved in similar governmental experiences and came up with solutions to their problems," said Wachtendonk.

"What better source is there than someone else who had a problem identical to yours and has the answer for it first-hand?" Wachtendonk said.

Participate More

Wachtendonk charged if Appleton did not participate more in national programs the people of the community would actually be short-changed.

"Let the committee of jurisdiction make the appraisal of the national event, with approval of the finance committee a requisite before it goes to the council," Wachtendonk declared.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) finance committee chairman clarified the report, informing aldermen the 200 mile limitation was not unanimous and the committee decided to put the matter to the council considering the fact the mayor cast some vetoes during the past year.

When it appeared the council was going to move to change and liberalize the convention policy, Ayers asked the action be withheld.

The matter was then referred to a committee of the whole meeting to be conducted in the near future.

Kitchen Burns in Oneida

Blaze Starts
In Deep Fryer
Monday Afternoon

ONEIDA — Fire that started from a deep fryer caused extensive damage about 5:30 p.m. Monday at a home co-owned by Theodore Van Schyndel and Peter Hermes.

The large, three-year-old ranch-style home is located on Seminary Road, at route 1, Oneida, two miles south of the Seminary. Seymour firemen, who responded to the alarm with three units, remained at the scene until nearly 8 p.m.

Hermes, who works in Appleton, said his wife was the only person home at the time. She was not injured, he said. Mrs. Hermes was using a deep fryer on an enclosed patio when the fire broke out, it was learned. Flames burned out the kitchen and patio and smoke caused extensive damage to the remainder of the home, Hermes said. The loss is covered by insurance.

Hermes, his wife, and Van Schyndel live in the home. Hermes said today they have moved downstairs into the family room and associated quarters, until repairs are made upstairs.

Lawrence Urges Open Housing For Milwaukee

Adoption of a citywide open housing ordinance by the Milwaukee Common Council has been urged by the student Senate of Lawrence University.

The Senate, on a 27 to 5 vote, approved sending a wire on the matter to the city council today. No specific open housing ordinance was suggested.

The action came at a regular Senate meeting at the Lawrence Memorial Union Monday night.

The motion read:

The Lawrence University Student Senate, as a representative body of the students of Lawrence University, urges the adoption of a citywide open housing law in the City of Milwaukee."

Outagamie GOP to Survey County Strength, Ask Support

Two Outagamie County Republican organizations designed to survey the strength and encourage support for partying were announced Monday by Clarence Mitchell, Outagamie County GOP chairman.

A survey of the voting population in the county to determine Republican and Independent vote strength in various areas will be conducted by one of the groups.

Mrs. Talbot Peterson, Appleton, long active in Outagamie County and state Republican circles, was named chairman of the "MORE" (Mobilization of the Republican Enterprise) campaign by Mitchell.

John MacDonald, Andrew Blackburn, Joseph H. Slanser and Jack Stenz were named to assist Mrs. Peterson.

Mitchell also announced that Richard Murphy will be chairman of the county "Neighbor-to-Neighbor" campaign, designed to encourage financial support for the party and active participation in political affairs. This will involve checking on voter registration and finding potential party leaders and workers. Arnold Grummer will serve as co-chairman.

Mitchell said both campaigns will begin organizing immediately. He said efforts will be concentrated in the Appleton area first, with operations extending in other areas of the county later.

Appleton Man Pleads Innocent to Battery

Carl J. Blehove, 24, 608 E. Wisconsin Ave., pleaded innocent Monday to a battery charge brought after police alleged he struck his mother with a shotgun at her home Sunday.

Police said that his mother was injured in the incident. Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller set trial for Feb. 26 and ordered bond of $150.

Robert Below in Ravel, Mozart

Appleton Pianist Adds Brilliance To Fox Valley Symphony Evening

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

In an impressive reversal of an ancient — and irritatingly unfair — academic axiom, piano soloist Robert Below Sunday night gave indisputable proof, if proof is needed, that “He who can — teaches.”

Below, associate professor of piano at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, appeared with the Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra in two concertos — Ravel’s Piano Concerto in G Major, and Mozart’s Piano Concerto No. 21 in C Major, K. 487. As might have been expected, from the high standard set by Below in previous performances in Wisconsin and as far away as Western Germany, it was sheer pianistic virtuosity all the way. Close to 1,000 concertgoers, gathered in the Lawrence University Chapel, responded with rapt attention and prolonged applause to the soloist’s lucid, and technically irreproachable interpretations of the Ravel and Mozart works, and the highly competent backing of the Fox Valley orchestra, under the direction of Karlos Moser.

Civic Pride

If the real proof of any community’s cultural and artistic growth lies in the number of talented creative persons who live and perform there rather than in the talent it imports, then the Fox Valley can enjoy a real feeling of civic pride today.

For their steadily improving orchestra and its Appleton-residing soloist, have done them proud.

The orchestra’s first performance of the 1967-68 season began with Johann Sebastian Bach’s Bradenberg Concerto No. 5. Concertmistress Lucy Baicher Heiberg, who will be featured soloist with the orchestra at its Feb. 4 appearance displayed her customary finesse in the long and difficult solo violin passages and Eva Linfield and Neil Widdler accomplished flutists joined her in the concertino group.

With Moser at the harpsichord the orchestra gained steadily in strength and vigor, with the result that the second and third movements built to a conclusion as “brilliant and forceful” as the program notes indicated.

Brings Electricity

But it was not until Below’s entrance that the evening gained an electricity that only a soloist of whom much is expected — and from whom much is received — can give it.

In a performance noted for its polish and consistency, Below was at his best with the shifting harmonies of the Mozart concerto’s second movement in which he and the orchestra reached a truly hypnotic rapport. He performed his own cadenza (Mozart’s is unwritten) in the finale, a rondo with all the brilliancy for which Mozart is noted.

The second half of the concert was begun by Ravel’s seldom heard and notably difficult Piano Concerto in G Major. From the opening whipcrack to the final four chords performed fortissimo by the entire orchestra, it was an impressive showpiece for the soloist, and an exciting challenge for the members of the symphony.

Below was consistently in top form despite infrequent (and perhaps inevitable) lapses by the orchestra. His work was noteworthy for its purity of tone and vigorism of expression in the opening passage, and the soloist was impressively in command during the second movement, Adagio Assai, during which the left hand played alone much of the time.

Orchestra and soloist achieved an impressive unity during the animated galopade of the presto finale.

Concluding the evening was Friedrich Smetana’s Ma Vlast No. 2 Moldau (Vltava) written in 1874 to depict programmatically the growth of the Moldau River Vltava from its beginning as a mountain stream to its majestic progress past the Castle Vysehrad.

Moser guided the orchestra through this fervently patriotic work with his accustomed skill, and the Fox Cities instrumentalists excelled at a number of points. The folk-like dance tune representing a wedding dance, taking place on the river bank, and the woodwinds’ flutes and harps evoking the impression of moonlight dancing on the stream.

It was, in sum, an exciting and rewarding evening, and one that would appear to confirm the belief that the Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra is here to stay.

Anti-Smoking Film Will be Premiered

Pickard, Reeve Co-Chairmen of Wednesday Showing

‘A Time for Decision,’ an 18 minute film dealing with the health hazards of cigarette smoking will be premiered at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday by the American Cancer Society Wisconsin Division at the First National Bank of Appleton.

Businessmen and civic leaders from the Fox Cities area have been invited to attend the screening.

This is one of 26 such showings this month throughout the state. A contribution of $52,000 has provided 1,300 copies for free distribution to the American Cancer Society units.

The film tells the story of cigar smoking in the United States from World War I to today. It traces the popularity of smoking to the point where the annual advertising budget of the tobacco industry is $200 million, and the death toll from cancer of the lung estimated at 52,000 annually.

Because the film deals with the concept of community action in addition to individual will power, it is strictly educational and in no way connected with fund raising.

Dr. J. Edgar Schaefer, Neenah, will be in charge of the hour-long meeting. John Reeve, president, Appleton Coated Paper Company, and Samuel N. Pickard, chairman of the National Manufacturers Bank of Neenah, are co-chairmen of the event.

Backup Quarterbacks Getting Chances to See Plenty of Action

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — The Denver all are getting a chance backup quarterback who sits on to play after riding the bench the bench with the headphones behind No. 1. and thinks how much better he Nix was a taxi squad man at could do is finally getting a Green Bay last season, seen chance this season. only during the week while the

Reay Irked by Black Hawks' Poor Showing

Injuries No Longer Considered Biggest Excuse for Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Injuries to key players have slowed the Chicago Black Hawks but it shouldn't be used as an excuse for a complete halt.

The Hawks, National Hockey League champions, lost to two expansion teams —Pittsburgh and Los Angeles — over the weekend and now have dropped six straight games. They are the only winless team in the circuit.

"Time has come," said a veteran observer Monday, "to stop blaming all the Hawks' problems on key injuries."

Doug Mohns, Chico Maki, Matt Ravlich and Stan Mikita have been nursing injuries and have not been available for full time duty since the start.

Also there was considerable contract dickering among several key players right up to the start of the season and some of them still are groping their way back from wasted time at training camp.

Look Ragged
Sloppy defensive work and aimless passing were apparent Sunday night as the Hawks were trimmed by the Los Angeles Kings, 5-3. The Kings scored four times in the second period.

"Just a three-minute letdown killed us," said Hawk Coach Billy Reay. "Until that second period, I thought we were moving along pretty well, considering everything."

The Kings' first goal early in the second period came when Pit Martin lost a face-off to Eddie Joyal to the left of the Hawks' net. Joyal shipped the puck behind him to Bill Flett who slammed a 20-footer past DeJordy.

"You just never let a guy get a clean face-off like that," stormed Reay. "I don't know what DeJordy was doing on the play because he must have seen it all the way. The whole thing was a disgrace."

When It Rains
"I don't think there were three goals scored against us all last season from faceoffs," Reay continued. "We've had three already this season. We've just got to get better play generally from everyone and a lot better goal keeping."

"It seems when things go wrong, they all go wrong. If the goal tending is good, something else is bad. We start a five-game road trip Wednesday in New York. If we don't improve, by the time we get back we might be threatening that record Toronto got last season."

Toronto's Stanley Cup winners went through 13 games last season with only two ties to their credit.

16 Teams Enter 'Y' Pin League Program
A total of 16 teams have entered the YMCA Sports Car Bowling League and an additional two squads will be added if more boys turn out for bowling at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at Sabre Lanes.

In last week's warm-up round, Mike McGuire had a 155 for high game.

Wednesday's action will consist of another clinic-type session to prepare youngsters for the regular competition. Boys interested in joining can contact the YMCA.

Vidal Flores Defeats Braggs In Milwaukee 8-Rounder

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Thirty-two-years-old, but seemingly tireless, Vidal Flores of Milwaukee finally got his first main event fight Monday night, and through the final round, left walked away with a unanimous Flores with a 16-1 professional eight-round decision and the unofficial Wisconsin middleweight boxing championship.

Flores, twice a Wisconsin Golden Gloves champion and triumph by knocking out Clano in the midst of a professional comeback after a three-month layoff, posted his 10th consecutive victory since he re-entered the ring by beating veteran Billy Braggs, also of Milwaukee, in a rematch of last Sept. 18th's fight.

Briggs accepted the September bout on only a few days notice and put up a good fight before losing a six-round decision.

Both fighters were ready for Monday night's battle.

Flores, a father of nine children, weighed in at 166 and Braggs, about an inch taller than Flores, was 161.

In Early Rounds
Both men scored well in the early rounds, with Flores carrying advantage through the first four rounds, then Miller saw Braggs' stand-up style countered by attacks from the crouching Flores, who drove at Houston and Steve Tensi at Denver all are getting a chance to play after riding the bench with the headphones behind No. 1.

Nix was a taxi squad man at Green Bay last season, seen only during the week while the Packers charged through the Hart at St. Louis, Gary Cuozzo National Football League and at New Orleans, Daryle Lamon then beat Kansas City in the ica at Oakland, Pete Beathard Super Bowl.

Traded to Pittsburgh, where he figured to be No. 2 to Bill Nelsen, Nix was promoted to first string when Nelsen's troublesome knee gave out again. The young man from Texas Christian set a Steeler record Sunday with 28 completions against Dallas.

Called Into Army
Hart was supposed to tag along behind Charley Johnson at St. Louis. When Johnson was called into the Army, the Cards had to fall back on this untried rookie from Southern Illinois whose only pro experience had been completing four of 11 passes in last year's finale with Cleveland. Hart passed for four touchdowns Sunday against Philadelphia.

When the New Orleans Saints traded their No. 1 draft pick to Baltimore in the deal that brought Cuozzo to the Saints, they figured Johnny Unitas' understudy would take over the job. Billy Kilmer had such a fine preseason record that Coach Tom Fears went with him for a time but seems to have shifted over to Cuozzo.

Lamonica played second fiddle to Jackie Kemp at Buffalo for years while the crowd roared. Now he is No. 1 at Oakland and throwing his weight around the American Football League.

He passed for four touchdowns Sunday in the rout of Boston.

Behind Dawson
Beathard chafed under the restraining rope at Kansas City where he was behind Lenny Dawson. So he was traded to Houston. Although he completed only three of 14 passes Sunday, one was for a touchdown in the 24-19 victory over Dawson and his former mates.

Tensi, injured after he was traded to Denver by San Diego, threw for 234 yards Sunday in a losing effort against the Chargers.

Craig Morton and Jerry Rhone are getting their chances to move the Dallas Cowboys while Don Meredith is out of action. Morton's third scoring pass Sunday beat Pittsburgh.

Joe Kapp, a Canadian League star, has moved in as No. 1 at Minnesota. He hit with 15 of 25 for 203 yards and a touchdown and got a 20-20 draw in a duel with Baltimore's Johnny Unitas Sunday.

The return of Bart Starr sent Zeke Bratkowski to his normal backup role at Green Bay after two games as a starter.

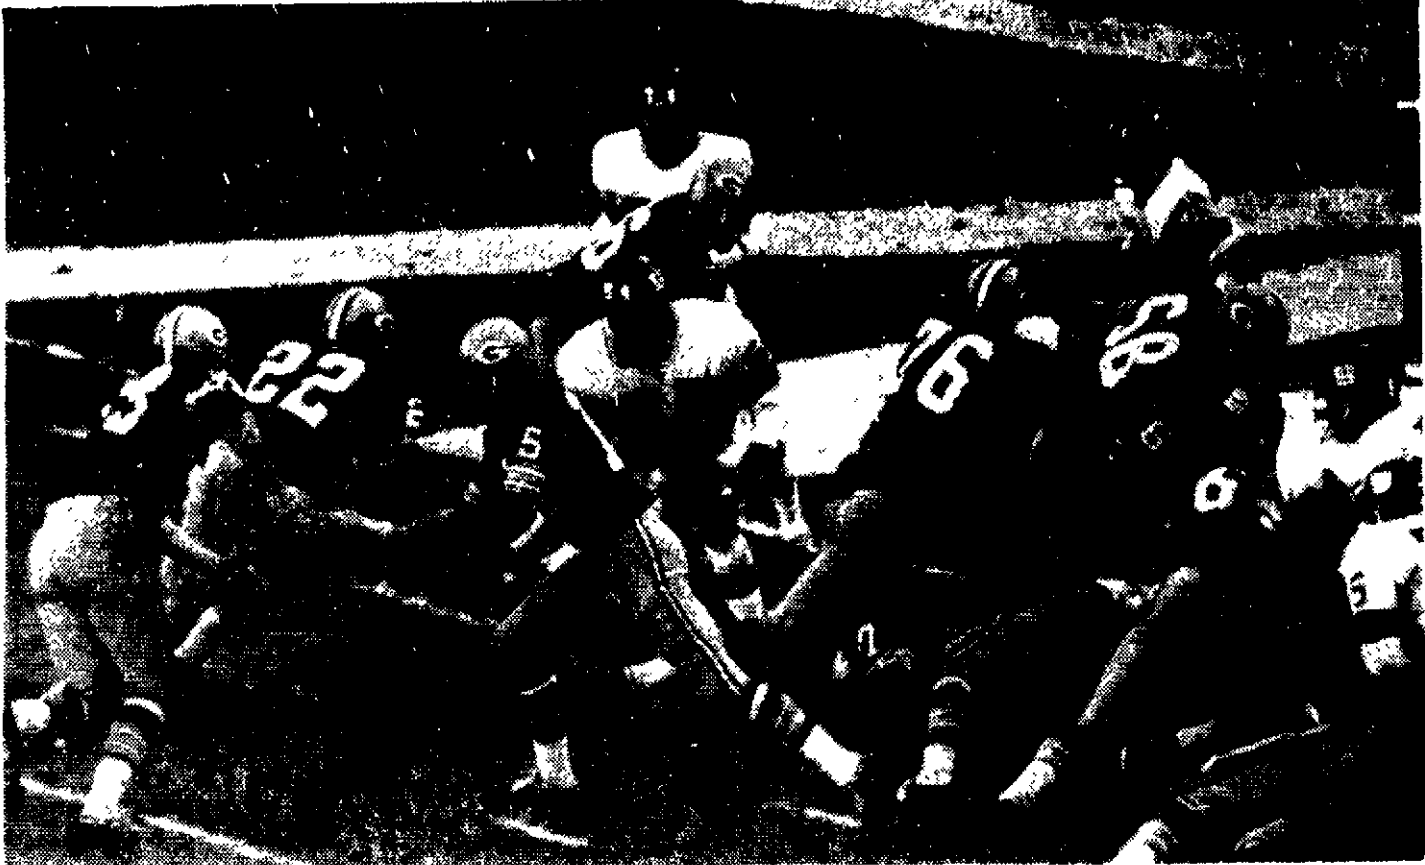

Atlanta went to Terry Norlinger, acquired for a draft choice from St. Louis, and stayed in the ball game with Detroit until the final period.

16 Teams Enter 'Y' Pin League Program

A total of 16 teams have entered the YMCA Sports Car Bowling League and an additional two squads will be added if more boys turn out for bowling at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at Sabre Lanes.

In last week's warm-up round, Mike McGuire had a 155 for high game.

Wednesday's action will consist of another clinic-type session to prepare youngsters for the regular competition. Boys interested in joining can contact the YMCA.

Wilt in Crowd As New Jersey Loses Opener

Rhubarbs Spice ABA Tilts; Hagen Pushes Referee, Is Ejected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Professional basketball came to New Jersey Monday with Wilt Chamberlain among the 3,009 spectators. The Americans' pride of Teaneck, could have used him out on the floor.

The Pittsburgh Pipers rallied from a 13-point third-period deficit to down the New Jersey Americans 110-107 in the opening American Basketball Association game for both clubs.

Connie Hawkins scored 34 points for Pittsburgh and Charlie Williams added 32.

Dan Anderson hit for 41 points for the Americans, but it wasn't enough. The game ended in confusion as Art Heyman of New Jersey argued too loud and too long on a foul call and a technical foul was awarded to the Pipers, helping nail down the victory.

In the only other league action, Dallas won its second game against one defeat, knocking off Houston 100-83. Houston now is 1-2.

Bob Verga scored 26 points for the Chaparrals while Art Becker was high for Houston with 20.

Cliff Hagan, player-coach of Houston, was ejected from the game early in the third period. Referee Ron Rakel had called a foul on Hagan, who protested vehemently. Hagan then drew two technical fouls for arguing and when he pushed the official, Rakel ordered his ejection.

Kicker in Slump
This season, he is five for six on extra points but has missed his last two field goal tries. The football Coach John Coatta 27-varder he missed two weeks ago against Pittsburgh, could have salvaged the game. The Badgers lost 13-11.

Coatta said Lynn Buss, who sustained a head cut when he lost his helmet in a play last Saturday, was a doubtful starter against Northwestern. Buss performed well in his first start at defensive end.

Running back Dick Schumitsch and linebacker Ken Critchfield will be co-captains Saturday, with Northwestern, said Schumitsch. Critter won the "Savage" award for his play against Iowa.

Coatta presented "Bucky" Schinke missed a 37-yard field goal effort that might have given quarterback John Ryan and en Wisconsin a victory over running back John Smith for Iowa last Saturday. The game they play against Iowa.

Don Bliss, who missed the Iowa game with a back injury, is expected to return to defend against Iowa Saturday.

Wisconsin worked out for an hour Monday after watching movies of the Wildcats. The drill concentrated on the kicking game.

Schinke was eight for 11 with his field goals last season. He was seven for seven with his

Not So Much Talent Gillman Credits Team Attitude for Success

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Many people have wondered what has made the San Diego Chargers the only undefeated team in the American Football League.

The factors are many—quarterback John Hadl, flanker Lance Alworth, two rookie runners, additions to the defensive unit. But Coach Sid Gillman gives most of the credit to attitude for San Diego's 5-0-1 record.

"I truly believe this is one of our best teams," Gillman said Monday. "It's not laden with so much talent but one thing we have is attitude. That's 90 percent of the battle."

"The players just know there's going to be some way to win the football game—punt, return, fumble recovery, blocked kick—they know something will happen."

The Chargers have won five Western Division titles and one league crown since the AFL was founded in 1960. But they fell off to a 7-6-1 mark to finish third in the West last year.

Gillman's troops appeared headed for their worst season since 1962 (4-10) during the pre-season exhibitions when they were routed by three National Football League foes.

Quarterback Hadl was throwing almost as many interceptions as completions and the defense looked as if it belonged on a playground.

Then the Chargers suddenly jelled, upending Boston, 28-14 in the season opener. They whipped Houston, 13-3; Buffalo, 37-17; Kansas City 45-31 and Denver, 38-21. They tied Boston 31-31.

"Hadl's arrived as a pro," Gillman said. "He's not just a quarterback with a play book. He's able to set himself and pick defenses apart with rhyme and reason."

Defensively, newcomers Scott Appleton and Tom Day on the line and linebackers Johnny Baker and rookie Jeff Stagg have played inspired football.

Sophomore Joe Beauchamp has developed into a "beautiful corner back," said Gillman. Veterans Speedy Duncan, Kenny Graham and Bud Whitehead are playing some of the best football of their lives in the secondary.

Isometrics Clinic Open To Public
NEENAH — All area high school coaches, as well as the general public, are being invited to attend the Neenah High School Quarterback Club meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Neenah gym to see a demonstration physical fitness insomantics.

Gene Harrington, a director of Midwest Physical Fitness, Inc., will put on the demonstration. Harrington, of Minneapolis, Minn., has presented a number of clinics on isometrics.

Harrington started the Green Bay Packers on the isometric program.

in history, Premontre students chanted, "The Torch is burning to a 7-6-1 mark to finish third in the West last year."

Last weekend, the previously-unbeaten Cadets were expected to extend Xavier's FVCC losing streak to three for the first time in history. But the Hawks continued their amazing mastery over the Cadets—seven out of seven—and ran their 7-season FVCC record to 44-4.

Clark quipped, "As my 'sister' (Petula) would say: And the Beat goes on."

St. Mary's Zephyrs are the Fox Cities' highest-scoring team —25.8 point average — while Neenah is second (23.9). On defense, the Rockets still are tops, with a 3.6-point allowance, while Kimberly is second, with a 7.7 average.

Appleton West plays its final 1967 home game Friday afternoon, with Fond du Lac the opponent at Witte Field.

Appleton East, returning to action after a bye, will make its final road appearance of the season, Saturday, at Sheboygan South.

Fox Valley Lutheran closes its campaign at home, Saturday, against the Northwestern Preps.

LA CROSSE (AP)—The Rev. Edmund Olley, principal of Milwaukee Pio Nono, has been elected chairman of the Wisconsin Catholic Interscholastic Athletic Association Board of Control.

Father Olley succeeds The Rev. Msgr. Vernon J. Kuehn. The Rev. Thomas Hunt, principal of Beloit Catholic, was elected vice chairman.

George Chryst, Madison Edge-wood athletic director was elected to the board. He succeeds Earl Wilke who retired.

"Running back kickoffs is fine experience for running back kickoffs," he said. "But running plays from scrimmage are different, and that's the experience I need. I've never returned kicks; at Michigan State there was always somebody else to do that. I'll view myself as a running

Fox Cities Players Help Trotters to Share of Net Title
Four Fox Cities freshmen helped the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center tennis team earn a first place tie with Racine in recent inter-center tournament play.

Ted Bouressa, Brent Gibson and Steve Kuhn, all of Appleton, and Pat Nadolny of Neenah formed the Trotters' squad.

Bouressa, playing in second-ranked singles competition, lost in the semi-final round to a Racine entrant. Gibson beat a Racine opponent 10-8 in the final for third-ranked players. Kuhn lost the fourth-rated final 10-0 to a Racine man.

Nadolny beat the first-ranked Sheboygan team member 10-4 to win first place in that rating. All contests were played under pro rules.

Green Bay Center took second place in the tournament. Sheboygan placed third, Kenosha fourth and Marathon County Center finished fifth. Tom Oyster, Center chemistry instructor, coaches the Fox Valley team.

Appleton West QB Club Meets Tonight
The Appleton West Quarterback club meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the Early American room of the school.

Doesn't Even Play Clint Jones 'Dream Of Top NFL Rookie Becoming Nightmare

BY LEW FERGUSON
MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — Clinton Jones' dream has turned into a rookie's nightmare, and his ambition into painful frustration.

For a young man with the driving desire which Jones possesses, the frustration is almost unbearable.

His dream is to be rookie of the year in the National Football League this season, perhaps another Gale Sayers. His ambition was to be a regular NFL halfback in his first year. It is now a virtual certainty he will achieve neither, because he doesn't even get to play.

Clinton Jones was on the Michigan State varsity for three years and an All-American candidate both his junior and senior seasons. Last March, he was the Minnesota Vikings' first draft choice among three first-round selections.

Traded to Rams
He was the heir apparent to Tommy Mason's halfback job when Mason was traded to the Los Angeles Rams. But it hasn't worked out that way.

For Jones, the picture began to blur when he got sick at the College All-Star training camp last summer and missed the scrimmage game with the Chicago Bears. That, some say, hampered him from being the All-Stars' top halfback against the NFL champion Green Bay Packers.

Then he reported three weeks late to the Vikings' training camp — a critical blow to all rookies. "I think I would have been able to compete equally if I had been in camp," he says.

When he got to camp, he found Dave Osborn, a fast, tough third-year back from North Dakota running on the first team. Osborn still is on the first team, and the Vikings' top rusher this year.

Needs Opportunity
Now Jones frets about when he may get his chance. He insists he has lost none of his confidence in his ability, and that he only needs the opportunity to prove himself.

But Vikings' Coach Bud Grant prefers to bring Clint along slowly, and also feels Osborn is among the NFL's best half-backs.

"It is really frustrating," Jones said Monday night. "I'd hoped that, if possible, I could play and perform well enough to be in contention for rookie of the year."

"You want to play, and there isn't any place to play. I don't think my performance would hurt the team. If it did, then I wouldn't have any business being in professional football."

So far, Clinton has carried the ball five times for nine yards from scrimmage and returned 10 crosin Catholic Interscholastic Athletic Association Board of longest return 32. Even that frustrates him.

"Running back kickoffs is fine experience for running back kickoffs," he said. "But running plays from scrimmage are different, and that's the experience I need. I've never returned kicks; at Michigan State there was always somebody else to do that. I'll view myself as a running

Polar Bear Harriers to Run in State Test Third Year in Row
The team will run in the Little Nine Conference meet Thursday at New London. The Little Nine, it has had cross country as a sport since 1963, with four conference meets. Hortonville won in 1963, tied with Reedsville for the title in 1964, won in 1965 and placed second to Reedsville in 1966.

The varsity runners are set to run in the state meet at Hartford. This is the fourth time and Frank Schroeder, juniors or nine seasons that Hortonville, Jim Cuff and Ralph Zerbe; and has qualified for the state run, sophomores Glen VanHandel, in 1960, the team placed second and Mike Breitrich.

The junior varsity team completed its regular season with a perfect (8-0) record.

How would you like to take a little football test? ... See if you can name the colors of these pro and college football teams. ... Dallas Cowboys, Kansas City Chiefs, New York Jets, University of Nebraska, Georgia Tech, Air Force Academy and Dartmouth. ... Here are the answers: Dallas Cowboys, blue & white ... Kansas City Chiefs, red & gold ... New York Jets, green & white ... Nebraska, scarlet & cream ... Georgia Tech, gold & white ... Air Force, silver & blue ... and Dartmouth, green ... How many did you get right? *

Do you know which pro football team holds the distinction of being the highest scoring team for one season in pro football history? ... It's the Los Angeles Rams of 1950. ... That team averaged over 38 points per game, and no professional team has ever topped that. *

Everybody's heard of quarterbacks, halfbacks, and fullbacks in football, but who ever heard of a three-quarter back? ... Oddly enough, did you know there was a position by that name in the early days of football? ... When they first gave names to positions on football teams in the 1870's, there was a quarterback, halfback, fullback—and a three-quarter back. *

Badgers Crack The Ratings — of Worst Teams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Wisconsin football team, winless in five 1967 starts, has cracked the ratings.

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner runs a weekly list of the nation's 20 worst football teams. The Badgers stood 13th on the list this week.

The newspaper, which bases its rating on how the teams did in relation to the strength or weakness of opponents, placed Wisconsin a notch ahead of Pittsburgh—a team that beat the Badgers two games ago.

Brown was ranked the nation's worst with Wake Forest second, and New Mexico third.

Name Refused to Ease Tulsa Woman's Mind

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: A letter in your column concerned a very depressed woman who, among other things, contemplated suicide. The letter was signed A B. Now since these are my initials and the letter did not indicate the city from which the

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it natural to have a "blackout" after lying down and then getting up? I am a girl, 16, and sometimes when I get out of bed everything turns black and I just can't see. If I stand still a moment, my sight comes back. This also happens sometimes when I bend over. — B T

This results from postural hypotension — that is, a sudden drop in blood pressure because of changing to an upright position with my husband. You might benefit from a physical examination to determine your blood pressure and find out whether you have anemia, low thyroid activity or some other condition that should be corrected. Meantime change position slowly. Sit on the edge of the bed for a minute or so before you stand up, to let your blood pressure adjust more gradually.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 16 and lift weights and ride a bike five miles a day. Some people say bike riding doesn't do a thing to improve your body because you just ride along. But I pump the pedals all the time. So is that true? — J A L

Weight lifting can build big muscles — the muscles of shoulders, arms, trunk, legs — because of the heavy strain. But that doesn't mean that riding a bike isn't good healthy exercise too. It is. Riding five miles is easier than running five miles but it is still good for you and your body.

Note to Mrs. S: No pinworms do not destroy the nutritional value of your food to any noticeable degree but yes they may be cause sleeplessness because of irritation. Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

One thing I'd like to add. It is potentially dangerous for even semi-retired nurses to go around handing out phenobarbital or other drugs. Phenobarbital is a prescription drug — for good reason. And if a true case of depression is involved, phenobarbital is not the right drug to give, anyway.

There are probably several troubled women with the initials A B in any city in the country, so it is quite useless to try to guess what person wrote any letter that appears in this column — besides which, if there seems any possible cause for being more secretive in a particular case, I often change the initials entirely, either because a writer asks me to or because I think it will save possible embarrassment.

Maybe it works the other way, too. Possibly someone says, "Look, this is my letter in the health column" and people don't believe it because the initials have been changed.

I am often asked whether all the letters in this column are real. Yes, all are. But I would estimate that at least a third of the time, the initials are changed.

County Fairs Continue to be Big Business

100 Million Jam Nation's Exposition Grounds Each Year

NEW YORK (AP) — With the Seattle and New York world's fairs bright memories, Mont-real's Expo 67 still attracting crowds, and HemisFair '68 being set for San Antonio, the county fair seems to have taken second billing.

This is appearance only, for few things in American culture, showmanship or marketing have been more durable than the autumn display of farms, factories, studios and kitchens known as the state, county or country fair.

As many as 3,000 of these will have taken place by the end of October, generally the final month of the three-month season, with attendance estimated by a trade association as high as 100 million.

Started in 1811
In 1811, when what is considered the first real county fair was held at Pittsfield, Mass., the exhibits were mostly those of a farm world: plowing contests and the healthiest farm produce.

With the industrial revolution, fairs increasingly reflected the products of mechanical innovation, the products, tools, gadgets and labor-saving devices of the factories.

Today's county fair often is a combination of industry and agriculture, of the biggest pumpkin and the latest machinery, brightened by a carnival midway and glamorized with music and theaters.

Perry Como, the Tijuana Brass and other name entertainers sometimes perform. Chevrolet, Sears, Roebuck and other big corporate names tour the fair circuit with industrial shows.

Political Showcase
Frequently the fairs also become the showcase for the talents of political orators, who seem willing to compete for attention with sideshow barkers, especially in election years. Attendance at individual shows, while insignificant compared with Mont-real's 40 million plus, sometimes hits 500,000 for a one-week performance.

Expenses sometimes run far over $1 million for such things as wages, advertising, taxes, power, prizes and maintenance of multi-acre fair grounds that might be used only a couple of times a year.

Fairs, in other words, are big business, even though they are often run by nonprofit groups. Businessmen report that the relaxed atmosphere sometimes makes customers more receptive to sales talk.

Displays Profitable
Manufacturers of products with plentiful and successful retail outlets still seem to find fair

Your Money's Worth Should U.S. Welfare System be Dumped?

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Not since the depression 1930s when our federal-state system of welfare payments to the poor was born, has there been such an angry outcry against the system as there is right now. Today's approach, say the critics, promotes rather than prevents riots. It wastes both money and people. It is no longer "disaster relief," but rather a way of life. And, instead of freeing the poor from poverty, it actually is locking millions into poverty — sometimes for two or three generations.

In blunt summary, as New York City's reform-oriented, liberal-thinking anti-poverty chief Mitchell Ginsberg told a congressional committee recently, our welfare system is "bankrupt" as a social institution and should be "thrown out."

Here are the basic facts behind the outcry:
—The nation's welfare rolls have swelled from 5.3 million people in 1957 to 7.7 million today. In a period of record employment, rapidly expanding Social Security benefits and anti-poverty efforts, this welfare category is growing by more than 200,000 a year.

Welfare Costs Skyrocket
—Just during this past decade, federal-state costs of welfare have skyrocketed from $2 billion to $7 billion. And if you add private welfare spending, total U.S. spending for welfare is now at more than $15 billion a year.

—Even in wealthy suburbs, welfare rolls and costs are soaring. In New York's affluent Westchester county, the numbers on welfare are expected to rise 37 per cent this year alone. —Virtually all state welfare departments agree that a family displays profitable. Automobile dealers, for example, have been known to use them to build up prospect lists.

Small manufacturers without retail outlets sometimes obtain a large share of their sales on the fair circuit. And small companies with new products to introduce also ride the circuit successfully.

Most of the fair's expenses are met through admission fees, rentals of exhibit space and concessions and rental of parts of their sprawling acreage when not being used for exhibitions.

Inevitably, any fair caters to a certain amount of charitable booths, for fairgoers seem not only to be in a spending mood but in a giving mood as well.

of four needs at least $150-$250 a month to maintain a minimum standard of living. Yet the average monthly payment per person is $37; in Mississippi it's $9.

What's wrong? To distill the comments and criticisms of a dozen top experts in the field, here's what's wrong:

We don't have answers to such basic questions as: whether those on relief "like" to be there and, if so, why; just how much chiseling goes on by welfare recipients; whether Negroes from Southern farms migrate to Northern cities just to get on relief; how many of those on welfare actually would be willing and able to work if proper incentives were provided.

Research Spending
Total federal spending for research into such crucial questions as these is a mere $3 million a year — and the research is not coming up with the answers.

We have not accepted the concept of public assistance to the needy as a legal right, not a privilege. Many welfare workers continue to distribute welfare cash and services in a defeating and degrading manner.

We have mired our welfare system in a paper jungle of forms and files. Trained welfare workers are thereby condemned to clerical work and have little time to practice their trade.

We are clinging to pious attitudes on family planning advice. Welfare workers are rarely permitted even to bring up the subject without being specifically asked.

Dead-End Jobs

We are restricting job training to the lowest paying, dead-end jobs, and as a result the programs have been notorious flops in actually securing jobs for trainees. Of the 169,000 who have been enrolled in the Federal Work Experience and Training program since 1964, only 36 per cent have found jobs and only 5,300 others have gone on to more sophisticated training.

What is needed, the experts say, is not "more of the same," but entirely new, imaginative approaches to the whole problem of welfare. Simply "getting tough" won't work.

Tomorrow: Welfare Experiments.

It Just Ghost to Show You Can't End Tradition

CINCINNATI (AP)—Youngsters in suburban Madiera will march tonight to protest a loss of their rights—Halloween. Local officials set Sunday, October 29, from 2 to 5 p.m. as the official trick or treat hours, in the interests of safety.

Richard Mosbacher, 10, leader of the protesting group, said he wants Halloween to remain at night on October 31. He thinks he has a "ghost of a chance" of winning his cause.

Korea Censors Newsweek Cover

SEOUL (AP) — The latest edition of Newsweek magazine, featuring a story on the 50th anniversary of the Russian revolution, went on sale five days late in Seoul today with its cover picture covered with black ink.

A Public Information Ministry official said the government covered the picture showing Lenin and the Red flag because it was considered in violation of a law prohibiting acts praising or sympathetic to an antistate Communist cause or group.

City Builds Library, Then Finds $65,000 Bond Issue Is Illegal

FESTUS, Mo. (AP) — If voters decide in Tuesday's special election they don't want to approve a $65,000 bond issue for a new library after all, the situation is going to get sticky.

The library already is under construction.

Voters approved the bond issue April 4, but the City Council learned the election notice was not properly handled and a new election had to be called.

Israeli Settlement Looks Permanent

Etzion Example of Determination
Not to Return to Jordan Control

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
JERUSALEM — No matter what they say publicly, the Israelis are performing exactly as though they plan not a temporary but a permanent occupation of the historic lands west of the Jordan River they captured in the six-day war last June.

Consider, for example, the small but growing settlement down the road from Bethlehem, 25 miles south of here, called the ings would be patched up, the others torn down.

Run Afoul

In the distance, three Arabs laboriously climbed a steep hill. Would the plan of the new settlers at Etzion run afoul of the Arabs who have lived on this land continuously since 1948?

"We will not let them interfere," she said, then added a revealing afterthought: "Besides, they have so much of it."

The occupation of Etzion, it is true, is explained by government officials as a unique case, not to be taken as a harbinger. But our talks with scores of Israelis, from the edge of the southern Negev to the Syrian heights of Golan up north, sharply contradict these bland assertions about the future of the Israeli-controlled West Bank territory.

In Nablus, for example, a young, curly-headed military officer on occupation duty spoke with the authority of conviction. "Naturally, we do not love them," he told us. "But they will live under our democratic government within five years. They do not want to live in peace today, and neither do I hate too much. But in five years, it will come to pass. We will keep what we have won and they will be taken in as full members."

Several days later, a young Israeli sergeant on duty at the Syrian town of Onatara (now an Israeli-occupied ghost town that smells of death) was asked when the Syrians would come back to the Golan heights, whose seemingly impregnable fortifications were demolished by the Jews.

Answered Never

He answered swiftly with a single word: "Never." To this must be added what the Israeli government is doing in the occupied territories of the West Bank. Everywhere Arab road crews, supported by heavy Israeli equipment, are widening and resurfacing the narrow roads of old Jordan. Everywhere, telephone crews are laying down modern lines of communication through the West Bank, and connecting them into a single central system with headquarters at Tel Aviv.

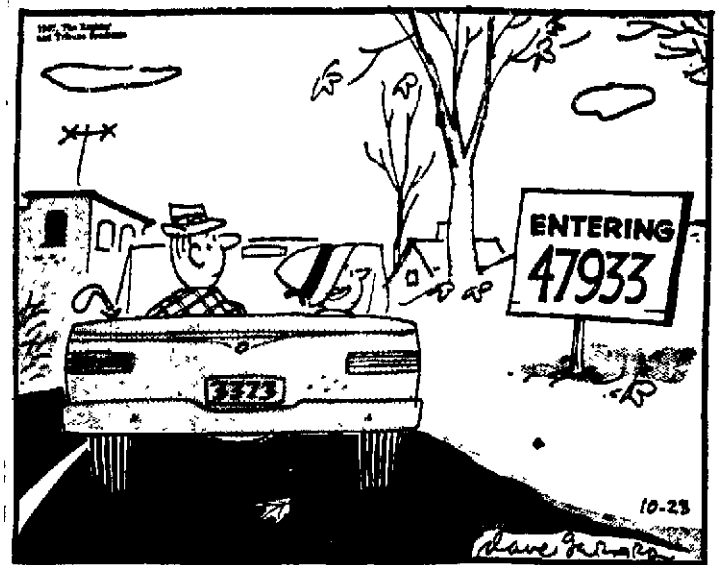

The cost of all this, together with strategically-located Israeli "training camps," is estimated at around $30 million between now and next March — a large expenditure for a small country. Said an army colonel with large family responsibilities in the occupied territories: "We would do this only if we plan to stay a long time."

But how to stay? Under a Her eyes swept the bleak hills political arrangement? Debate and valleys that surround Etzion, and she told what the psyche of this inhabitants would do to that brave people, is marked by land: fruit trees would be confusion and indecision, a malplanted here, vegetables there, in the ancient road would be further column.

There'll be Bargaining

We'll Soon Learn Value Of Bases in Spain

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

MADRID, Spain (AP) — How much is an air base in Spain worth? What's the current price on a used navy base in a good condition?

These questions are up for answer in 1968, with Spain and the United States each having a different idea. To make the setting of price more complicated, two factions within each country may have separate concepts, each tugging against the other. On the final answer depends the future of the U.S. Air Force bases at Torrejon, a few miles northeast of Madrid, and Moron, near Sevilla. Also at stake is the future of the U.S. naval base at Rota at the Bay of Cadiz.

Civilians Opposed

Military factions of both countries seem likely to campaign to keep the bases going.

Civilian officials of both countries may take a more hard-nosed attitude in the kind of horse-trading that has one or the other declaring, "this is the final offer," several times before agreement is reached.

Many people argue the bases aren't necessary to proper defense of U.S. interests and that the Torrejon and Moron bases aren't strategic these days.

"This is nonsense," says a high-ranking Air Force officer. "Of course the bases remain strategic. They're just as strategic now as they were."

Another ranking officer said, "You've got to remember there still is such a thing as a limited (nonnuclear) war and we have to fight them."

While neither officer is likely to dictate the ultimate U.S. attitude, their words do point to a fight by the Air Force to keep the bases intact.

"The Spaniards know just how important these bases are," said one Air Force officer. "You can bet Munoz Grandes knows the score." Capt. Gen. Agustin Munoz Grandes is a National Council member and former vice president.

These words indicate the Spanish military will pressure their side of the bargaining. But the civilians are likely to be different.

"It's up to Spain," said one informed source. "It's up to Spain to decide if it wants the bases. If it doesn't, the U.S. will get out."

He said the bases could be evacuated quickly, as those in France were.

"There will be adjustments, of course," this source said, "and we're prepared to make them."

It was his view that the bases had lost urgency, even the naval installation at Rota, a service base for Polaris submarines. The subs would lose two days if they switched service to Holy Loch base in Scotland.

In the agreement that originally set up the bases and their renewal in 1963, the price was economic—massive U.S. aid economically and militarily.

The price this time, unofficial reports indicate, will be principally political, open U.S. support in a number of touchy areas.

Want to Join NATO

Among reported desires, none confirmed by the Spaniards, is sponsorship of Spain's entry into the European Common Market and into NATO. The North Atlantic alliance, plus backing against Britain on the Gibraltar question.

It's doubtful if the Spaniards would seek the first. The United States has not done Britain much good in this respect and with President Charles de Gaulle of France feeling the way he does, U.S. sponsorship could be the kiss of death for Spain's common market hopes. Gibraltar is just about as impossible for Uncle Sam who would put himself in the middle of a fight which has been going on for 254 years.

About the only reported price the United States can pay aside from dollars is membership in NATO. In view of the feelings about authoritarian governments, this might not be easy but it ranks as possible.

It all gets back to the question of how much an air base in Spain is worth—but the odds are that the bases will not be dismantled.

Federal Aid To Wisconsin Increases

Up 17 Per Cent; Hopes Not Met Always, Gov. Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Monetary subsidies flowing from the United States treasury to the state government are increasing each year and now amount to nearly 17 per cent of the Wisconsin's record high disbursements for all purposes, a report from the state executive office has revealed.

Last year receipts from the federal government, embracing a long list of programs and purposes, amounted to about $256 million, an increase of nearly $62 million over the previous year.

But the state wants more, said Gov. Warren P. Knowles in a formal review of the federal aid programs, and especially in those instances where the national government has pledged additional support for special services and then has failed to deliver it.

Expectations Aroused
"Vast federally supported programs are often announced and expectations are aroused which are later left unmet because of inadequate federal appropriations," Knowles complained.

Knowles has been especially critical about the default of Washington in the delivery of preferred funds to assist the state and its municipalities in improving sewage treatment plants and other projects to combat worsening water pollution conditions.

Because the national government failed to provide the funds that it told states and localities they could expect, the applications on file from Wisconsin for water pollution assistance thus far are more than eight times the aggregate of funds actually available from Washington, he complained.

Repeats Support
Knowles repeated his support of bloc grants from the federal government for the achievement of an effective governmental partnership in the resolution of pressing problems in a number of fields.

He did not refer to the fact that some other representatives of the Wisconsin Republicans, now serving in the Congress, do not share his views. Several Wisconsin Republican congressmen recently made public their disappointment about the fact that while they were trying to hold down federal appropriation requests, the Republican governor in Madison was pressing the administration to increase them.

Priest Will Discuss Religious Instructions At 3 Catholic Schools

SHERWOOD — The Rev. Timothy Reilly, O. Pream, will discuss the importance of religious instructions for students attending public high schools at 8 p. m. Wednesday at Sacred Heart Catholic School.

Parents and students from St. John the Baptist, St. John and Sacred Heart congregations are invited to hear Father Reilly.

Religious instructions for Sacred Heart teen-agers will be given every other Wednesday evening. The pastor, the Rev. Michael Drexler, will instruct seniors, and the parish nuns will be in charge of the other classes.

Wisconsin Legislators Back Capitol Security Measure

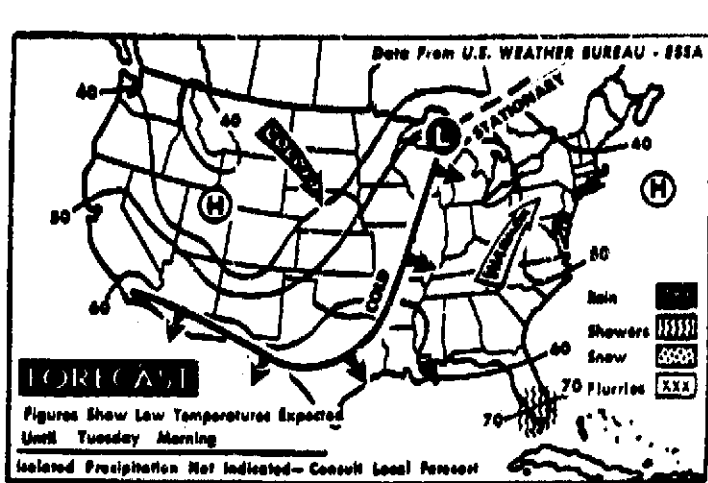

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
WASHINGTON — As the nation's capitol girded itself last week against an expected onslaught of some 40,000 "peace-niks" and civil rights demonstrators, members of the Wisconsin House delegation, with one exception, voted for a measure aimed at giving better security to buildings and grounds on the Capitol. The measure was approved 336-20 Thursday.

The 20 members who voted against the measure including Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier (D-Watertown) felt the bill might lead to embarrassment of innocent persons visiting on Capitol Hill or rob others of their constitutional rights of freedom of speech and protest.

Heavy Fines
The measure would impose heavy fines or imprisonment, or both, on any person or groups who "willfully" disrupt the orderly business of the Congress or its committees.

Its bill stemmed from the "rats-and-riots" demonstration of a group of 75 persons from Harlem who invaded the gallery of the House several weeks ago when a guard was knocked down, a capitol policeman hospitalized and several policemen injured.

Six persons were arrested and released on $10 bond, the price of a double-parking ticket in the District of Columbia.

The Only Precipitation Expected in the country tonight is in a small area of southern Florida. Warmer weather is forecast for the eastern third of the nation, with cooler weather slated for the rest of the country. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Kaukauna Youth Narrowly Misses Plunge in River

KIMBERLY — Robert Mankovecky, 17, route 3, Kaukauna narrowly escaped a dunking in the Fox River about 12:30 a. m. Saturday when he failed to negotiate a curve in Sunset Point Park.

According to police, Mankovecky was driving north on Sunset Road when his car went over a steep embankment and slid sideways down the sloop and came to rest against a tree about 8-foot down the sheer drop to the river. Had the youth missed the tree, he and the every other Wednesday evening. The pastor, the Rev. Michael Drexler, will instruct seniors, and the parish nuns will be in charge of the other classes.

Mankovecky was issued a citation for driving at speeds not reasonable or prudent.

Bart Starr Book To Raise Funds For Rawhide

NEW LONDON — Bart Starr's book, "Professional Armchair Quarterback," is being offered to the public by Rawhide, Inc. Starr, chairman of the general fund drive, has autographed 5,000 books he has donated to Rawhide as a money raising project. The book, which sells for 95-cents on the newsstands, will be mailed to anyone donating $1 or more to Rawhide, route 1.

John Gillespie, Rawhide director, said the offer would end Nov. 30. The donations will provide Rawhide with necessary funds to meet the annual fall property payment on its 714-acre site between New London and Fremont on the Wolf River.

Rawhide operates a camp for boys who cannot afford to attend camp during the summer. Gillespie leases the main lodge as his home and group home for eight underprivileged youngsters.

Musician Sees To Football Squad

MANDERSON, Wyo. (AP) — There aren't any 220-pound picture players in the Manderson high school band. The band director, Phillip Juillard, sees to that. He's also the high school football coach. Juillard directs the band in the pre-game ceremonies—then takes over the coaching chores. But what about the halftime entertainment? Juillard explained: "Oh, I have a girl who directs the band at halftime."

Correction

Eugene B. Brownell, chairman of the board and treasurer of Kurz & Root Co., Appleton, said today the employment of Clyde M. Belling as president of the firm was terminated as of last Oct. 7.

An article in The Post-Crescent Saturday said Belling had left the Kurz firm to become president and chief executive officer of U. S. Motors Corp., Oshkosh. He will take over his new position Nov. 1. Brownell had been president of the Kurz firm before he moved to chairman of the board. He now will re-assume the presidency in addition to his other responsibilities, he stated.
